Stiffer Farm Controls Bill Voted By Senate

Demos Vote Nearly Solid For Passage

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate passed Friday a complex and controversial farm bill carrying many of the stiff production controls and penalties asked by President Kennedy.

Passage came after a week of sharp debate. A nearly solid line-up of Democrats rebuffed all major efforts to revise the bill in the direction of less stringent controls.

GOES TO HOUSE

The measure now goes to the House where a similar bill is already awaiting floor action.

Most important features of the Senate bill are proposed new controls for Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman over planting and marketing of wheat and of corn and other livestock feed grains.

Government price support programs for these grains have piled up some $5 billion worth of surpluses among the more than $7½ billion of farm commodities now in government hands.

Sen. Allen J. Ellender, D-La., who was Senate floor manager for the bill, estimated that the annual bill of about $2 billion for storing and handling these grains could be cut sharply if farmers accept the new programs.

The new controls would come into effect only if farmers give a two-thirds vote of approval in later referanda.

Senate opponents of the wheat and corn controls insisted farmers will reject them. If they do, the price supports will drop sharp-

'ENTIRELY NORMAL'

Medical Report Says Carpenter In Top Condition

GRAND TURK ISLAND, Bahamas (UPI)—Project Mercury medical experts pronounced astronaut Scott Carpenter in "perfect" condition Friday and said he came through his three-orbit trip around the earth less tired than fellow astronaut John Glenn-and hungrier.

"No signs of changes, no injuries . . . his physical condition is entirely normal," reported a team of top space medical men after giving Carpenter a four-hour examination in the little hospital of this Bahamian tracking station island.

As they did for Glenn last February, the doctors compared Carpenter's reactions to a series of tests given him before and after his four - hour, 56 - minute space flight from Cape Canaveral Thursday, and the lack of any significant differences indicated nothing was wrong.

DOCTORS REPORT

Doctors here and back on the mainland said there was no indication that Carpenter was abnormally sluggish or tired during the final orbit. The 37-year-old Navy lieutenant commander was described as being "an appropriately tired man who had (technical) difficulties at an inappropriate time."

Carpenter had control system troubles with his Aurora-7 Mercury space capsule just before he began the dangerous re-entry into the atmosphere, and this may have been the reason he overshot the planned landing area by some 250 miles.

When Carpenter arrived here late Thursday night, he seemed relaxed and happy. Dr. George Ruff, psychiatrist for the manned space flight program, said after the examination Friday that Carpenter was "if anything less tired than Glenn."

Dr. Howard Minners, flight surgeon for the program, noted that Carpenter not only seemed less fatigued but had "a larger post-flight appetite" than Glenn.

One unusual thing the doctors said they noted was that Carpenter's blood pressure during the flight apparently rose considerably while his heartbeat rose only slightly. In the hot environment of the space capsule, the doctors said, it would be normal for the Texas Death Report Adds To Mystery

Monoxide Found In Body Fuels Probe By Jury

FRANKLIN, Tex. (UPI)—The discovery of a heavy concentration of carbon monoxide in the body of the late Henry H. Marshall, the first federal official to suspect Billie Sol Estes, opened a whole new dimension Friday in the investigation of Marshall's mysterious death.

Dist. Judge John M. Barron, who ordered the case reopened and investigated by a grand jury, said the discovery of carbon monoxide in the exhumed body of Marshall increased the jury's job. Marshall was shot five times with a 22-caliber rifle but there had been no previous hint of carbon monoxide.

FOUND ON RANCH

The body of Marshall, found on his ranch last June 1 was dug up Monday and on Tuesday a team of experts performed an eight-hour autopsy. Dr. Joseph Jachimczyk, the pathologist in charge, reported formally Thursday that it probably was murder but there remained a possibility of suicide.

A justice of the peace ruled shortly after the death of Marshall 51, that he committed suicide. That verdict will stand unless the grand jury that began investigating the case Monday decides to change it. The jury is in recess until Monday.

Marshall, an official of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service, was investigating Estes' cotton allotment deals. He apparently was the first agriculture official to suspect anything was wrong.

Dr. Jachimczyk reported that Marshall's blood carried 30 per cent carbon monoxide and that 35 or 40 per cent of carbon monoxide in the blood is fatal. Dr. Jachimczyk said Friday that the only way to get carbon monoxide into the bloodstream is to breathe it from an outside source.

The most common source of carbon monoxide is the exhaust of automobiles.

Rusk Urges World Space Supervision

Outlines Goals Of International Law For Nations

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP)—Secretary of State Dean Rusk urged Friday that space activities be brought under international regulation at once — lest space is turned into a military arena.

Rusk took a "somber look at what could happen" in a speech prepared for a Seattle World's Fair audience the day after U.S. astronaut Malcolm Scott Carpenter's successful orbiting of the earth.

GIVES VIEWS

Without international space supervision and peaceful cooperation, which the United States has proposed, and which has yet to win Communist acceptance, Rusk said:

"The frontiers of space might be pierced by huge nuclear-propelled dreadnaughts, armed with thermonuclear weapons.

"The moon might be turned into a military base.

"Ways might be found to cascade radioactive waves upon an enemy.

"Weather control might become a military weapon."

Rusk said man can put outer space to uses which might imperil civilization and even life on earth—or he can use it to benefit the human race.

"The right time to subject activities in space to international law and supervision is now, before possibly untoward developments occur," he stated.

Rusk recalled that when the United States first developed the atomic weapon, late in World War II, it followed up with a plan for international control. The Soviets rejected this as "atomic blackmail," thus bringing on the post-war nuclear arms race, he said.

"Now we are in the earlier stages of another scientific, technical, and human adventure, as staggering to the imagination as the unleashing of the atom—and as challenging to man's ability to organize his affairs with at least a modicum of good sense," Rusk continued.

He outlined these U.S. goals to make space a peaceful area in-

Court Tells Georgia To Reapportion

Federal Judges Set January As Deadline To Act

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Reapportionment of at least one house of the Georgia Legislature on a population basis before January 1963, was ordered Friday by a three-judge federal court.

The order declared that the historic apportionment which gives dominance to small counties in both the House and Senate violates the equal protection guarantee of the 14th Amendment to the U.S. Constitution.

RULED INVALVID

Also specifically ruled invalid was the system of rotating State Senate memberships among the counties of the senatorial districts.

But the court said: "So long as the Legislature of the State of Georgia does not have at least one house elected by the people of the state apportioned to population, it fails to meet the constitutional requirements."

Then it declared it was not necessary at this time to decide finally whether if one house is elected according to population, the other may remain completely unrelated to population ratios.

The order suggested that a special session of the Georgia Legislature after the Sept. 12 Democratic primary could submit necessary changes to the Nov. 6 general election.

No definite deadline was set except in the court's statement that it would not issue an injunction at this time and would postpone further action "until the state has had a reasonable opportunity to reconstitute the Legislature so as to meet the constitutional standards here laid down prior to the January 1963 session."

Questions asked by the judges and wording of the order indicated that revision of the state senatorial districts on a population basis might meet the required standards.

The order was signed by Elbert P. Tuttle, chief judge, and Griffin B. Bell, judge of the U.S. 5th Circuit Court of Appeals, and Lewis R. Morgan, U.S. Dist. Court judge for the Northern Dist. of Georgia.

French Riot Police Seal Off Airport

ALGIERS (AP) — French riot troops sealed off the Algiers Airport Friday to control a rush of thousands of Europeans fleeing current terrorism and the chaos they fear will come with independence.

Officials said no more refugees will be admitted to the airport until Sunday to facilitate an organized departure of some 4,500 persons already camped there.

Nineteen planes left during the day with 1,650 Europeans. Twenty-two aircraft were to leave Saturday.

USE ARMOR

Police backed by armor manned positions on the highway leading to the airport. Giant traffic bottlenecks were formed.

Agony hung over Algiers, where terrorist attacks of the European Secret Army Organization killed 24 Moslems and wounded 7.

Among the dead were three veiled Moslem women who had entered a European quarter to search garbage cans for food.

Fourteen Moslems were slain elsewhere in Algeria.

In the heart of the capital on Rue Michelet secret army commandos attacked a gendarmerie patrol with grenades. Two French soldiers, one gendarme, and two civilian passers-by were wounded in the shooting that followed.

Ambulances sped through streets patrolled by long lines of riot police and armored vehicles.

The bars were full of grim Europeans who were saying that the end was coming to their city.

In the Moslem areas runners of the Front of National Liberation repeated orders for calm and discipline.

But nationalist officials told newsmen their patience is running out. They said they feared that soon they may not be able to prevent a Moslem march of retaliation against Europeans, which the secret army is trying to stir up to force France to renege on the Evian agreement that ended a seven-year nationalist rebellion.

AFTER ORBIT FLIGHT

General Protests Delay In Rescue

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — A retired Air Force general said Friday astronaut Malcolm Scott Carpenter floated in his life raft for more than an hour longer than necessary because the Navy ordered an Air Rescue Service seaplane not to land.

Brig. Gen. Thomas J. Dubose of Winter Park, Fla., commander of the Air Rescue Service for six years prior to his retirement, said he had sent telegrams to Sens. George A. Smathers and Spessard L. Holland of Florida asking for an explanation of the Navy order.

Col. T. P. Tatum, vice commander of the Air Rescue Service with headquarters in Orlando, confirmed that the SA16 amphibian had been directed not to land. He said a significant period of time had elapsed before helicopters from the carrier Intrepid arrived to pick up the astronaut.

SPOTTED FLOATING

Gen. Dubose said an hour and 20 minutes had elapsed.

About 20 minutes after Carpenter was spotted floating in a life-raft near his Aurora 7 spacecraft Thursday at the thrilling end of his world orbital mission an Air Rescue Service plane arrived at the scene.

Two paramedics, Staff Sgt. Ray E. McClure of Mt. Sterling, Ky., and Airman 1.C. John F. Heitsch of Madison, Wis., parachuted into the water to aid the astronaut.

A few minutes later the Air Rescue SA16 amphibian arrived but did not land, even though the water was calm.

Rail Clerk Given New Job Start

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Pennsylvania Railroad announced Friday it would take back David P. Johnson, the clerk who repudiated communism after a visit to the Soviet Union.

Johnson said he'd report for work Monday.

The railroad interviewed Johnson Thursday after the clerk had appeared before a congressional committee earlier in the week.

Robert A. Wright, regional comptroller for the railroad, for whom Johnson had worked in the accounting department since 1952, said: "In the light of all the facts, we believe that David Johnson deserves another chance, and we are returning him to his job on Monday. There is no doubt in our minds that he has learned his lesson and in view of his otherwise clean record with the railroad, he will get a fresh start so far as we're concerned."

Johnson 32, took a vacation and a brief leave of absence last May 14. When he didn't return on schedule the railroad suspended him pending a review of the circumstances that led Johnson to take his pregnant wife and twin sons, 4, to the Soviet Union.

Four Die In Crash; 15 In Car

ELSIE, Mich. (UPI)—A car carrying 14 schoolchildren and a teacher crashed head-on into another auto on a country road near here Friday, killing the teacher and three of the children.

Four other children were injured, two of them seriously. The driver of the other car was listed as in serious condition.

Clinton County sheriff's officials said Mrs. Pauline Roof, 47, a teacher at the Mead school near here was driving behind another car on a dusty road. They said the dust apparently blanketed the road and prevented her and an oncoming car, driven by Frank Ortez, 31, from seeing each other.

Mrs. Roof, Marilyn La Rue, 9, Julia Marie Fabus, 11, and Dianna Mead, 6, were killed.

Ortez was taken to a hospital in Lansing, Mich., where doctors said his condition was serious.

The children and the teacher were returning from a softball game at another nearby school and were only three-quarters of a mile from their school when the cars collided.

Sheriff's deputies said Mrs. Roof was driving a four-door sedan.

The injured children were taken to the Clinton Memorial Hospital and the Owosso Memorial Hospital.

Listed in serious condition at the Clinton Memorial Hospital were Kathleen Thornton, 11, and Rosemary Fabus, 11, the twin of one of the dead.

At the Owosso Memorial Hospital in good condition were Susan Hess, 10, and Linda Sheldon, 8.

All of the dead and injured were from Elsie.

Torturing Is Denied By Sheriff

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sheriff Tip Hunter of Brownsville, Tenn., Friday night denied a charge that police in his jail tortured a slightly built white teacher for helping evicted Negro sharecroppers earn a living.

The teacher, Eric Weinberger, 30 Norwich, Conn., told a celebrity-studded panel Friday that he was tortured in Brownsville twice this spring with an electric shock probe and wrist clamps. He said Hunter was present once and operated one of the clamps.

In Tennessee, Hunter promptly denied that Weinberger had been tortured. He said wrist clamps were used to stabilize the teacher's hand so fingerprints could be taken.

The sheriff said Weinberger refused to let officers take his fingerprints. Hunter said a clear set of prints never was obtained, even though the prisoners was stretched out on the floor of his cell with his legs and one arm tied to the bars.

"He was so uncooperative, in fact, that we had to drag him by the feet out of the courthouse and back to the squad car," Hunter said.

Weinberger made his charge to a privately sponsored panel which included Mrs Eleanor Roosevelt and Norman Thomas. Weinberger's was one of a series of statements by integration leaders on the roles of some southern police, courts and jails in civil rights activities.

GOP Says Edict Rule JFK Goal

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP)—Republican National Chairman William E. Miller accused the Kennedy administration Friday of waging a drive "to make White House edicts the supreme law of the land."

"I charge the Kennedys and their stable of social theorists with a deliberate attempt to regiment our people as wards of an all-powerful central government to which they must turn for all their needs," the New York congressman said.

In the keynote address to the Wisconsin Republican State Convention, Miller said, "If the power-hungry drive goes unchecked, the time is not far distant when the United States can no longer call itself a republic."

Miller was especially critical of President John F. Kennedy's medicare plan and its administration through the Social Security system.

He called it a "cruelly deceptive" proposal, "a downright fruad," and added: "What this compulsory plan really assures is a huge expansion of the federal payroll through bureaucratic regulation of hospital administration and medical practice and eventually bankruptcy for the Social Security system itself."

Robbery Victim Is Kept Bound, Gagged 7 Hours

CLINTON, Ill. (UPI) — A robbery suspect who abducted an Odell, Ill., service station attendant and kept him bound and gagged in a car trunk and motel room for seven hours was flushed out of a tree and captured Friday.

The suspect was captured by state police who spread a dragnet after the suspect's victim escaped from a motel room near Lincoln, Ill., where he had been trussed up.

Herbert Bockman, 25, Pontiac, managed to work his bonds free while his captor was sleeping. Bockman raced to the motel office to call authorities. The suspect awakened and raced away in a car.

Three shotgun-wielding state policemen captured Afred J. Tetloff, 20, Saginaw, Mich.

Dewitt County Sheriff William Barrett said the man admitted the robbery and abduction.

Bockman was not injured. He went to Clinton to identify Tetloff.

'CONTRARY TO LAW'

Judge Blasts U.S. 'Strong-Arm' Try

CHICAGO (UPI)—A federal district judge Friday accused the Justice Department of "strong-arm tactics" in seeking to shut off telephone and telegraph service to two agencies which specialize in racing news.

Judge Hubert L. Will spoke of letters by the Justice Department instructing the Illinois Bell Telephone Co. and the Western Union Telegraph Co. to stop service to Illinois Sports News and Telephone News systems, both of Chicago.

Will said the "mere letter" from the Justice Department amounted to "crazy criminal jurisprudence" and was intended to put persons out of business "without the burden of proof."

"This is contrary to my conception of the law," Will said. "It is administration strong-arm tactics. I don't like the way the executive is trying to take over the duties of the judicial. I hope it's not continued."

Will made the statement at the start of hearings on three suits filed against Illinois Bell and Western Union. The suits were filed by officers of Illinois Sports News, Thomas F. Kelly, his son, Thomas Jr., and his brother, George L.

The Kellys sought a permanent injunction against Illinois Bell and Western Union barring them from shutting off service to Illinois Sports News and Telephone News systems.

The suits challenged the constitutionality of a new federal law, which had been requested by Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy, which bans interstate dissemination of gambling information. The officers of Illinois Sports News are under indictment in Kentucky charged with violating the law.

Memorial Day Toll Estimated

CHICAGO (UPI)—The National Safety Council estimated Friday that traffic accidents would kill between 80 and 120 persons Memorial Day.

The range marked a new concept in safety council holiday toll estimates. Heretofore, the council has estimated a definite figure.

"The new approach was decided upon after long study," a council spokesman said. "We hope it's effect will be a reminder to drivers that the responsibility is theirs.

"If the drivers obey the rules and take proper precaution," he said, "the toll will be 80, but if they disregard safety warnings the toll will go to '20.'"

The council estimated that 15 to 25 lives would be saved Memorial Day if every motorist wore a safety belt.

OUT OF LIMELIGHT

Reunion Awaited By Mrs. Carpenter

CAPE CANAVERAL (UPI) — Mrs. Rene Carpenter dropped out of the limelight again Friday to await a happy reunion with her astronaut hero husband here on Sunday.

She retreated to the quiet life of the sand and sun with her four children again after making a brief, dramatic appearance Thursday night following her husband's harrowing but successful rocket ride.

Secluded at the private home of "dear friends" at Cocoa Beach, she spent a good deal of the time Friday receiving congratulations on the telephone from close friends and the wives of other astronauts.

Telegrams and messages also were pouring in for the Carpenters, space agency officials said. Those to the astronaut praised him on his mission and on his courage.

Officials said that Mrs. Carpenter has been in close contact with Mrs. John Glenn. "They have a lot in common," it was explained. "Both have been through the same thing."

Mrs. Glenn is offering Mrs. Carpenter "some guidance" now that the invitations for personal appearances are flowing in.

Mrs. Carpenter plans to be at Patrick Air Force Base Sunday with the children—Scott, 12; Jay, 10; Kristen, 6; and Candace, 5—when Carpenter returns to Cape Canaveral to receive the space agency Distinguished Service Medal from National Aeronautics and Space Administration administrator James E. Webb.

On Monday, the Carpenter family will go to Boulder, Colo., for a big ceremonial welcome for the hometown boy who made good.

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — A retired Air Force general said Friday astronaut Malcolm Scott Carpenter floated in his life raft for more than an hour longer than necessary because the Navy ordered an Air Rescue Service seaplane not to land.

Brig. Gen. Thomas J. Dubose of Winter Park, Fla., commander of the Air Rescue Service for six years prior to his retirement, said he had sent telegrams to Sens. George A. Smathers and Spessard L. Holland of Florida asking for an explanation of the Navy order.

Col. T. P. Tatum, vice commander of the Air Rescue Service with headquarters in Orlando, confirmed that the SA16 amphibian had been directed not to land. He said a significant period of time had elapsed before helicopters from the carrier Intrepid arrived to pick up the astronaut.

SPOTTED FLOATING

Gen. Dubose said an hour and 20 minutes had elapsed.

About 20 minutes after Carpenter was spotted floating in a life-raft near his Aurora 7 spacecraft Thursday at the thrilling end of his world orbital mission an Air Rescue Service plane arrived at the scene.

Two paramedics, Staff Sgt. Ray E. McClure of Mt. Sterling, Ky., and Airman 1.C. John F. Heitsch of Madison, Wis., parachuted into the water to aid the astronaut.

A few minutes later the Air Rescue SA16 amphibian arrived but did not land, even though the water was calm.

Rail Clerk Given New Job Start

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Pennsylvania Railroad announced Friday it would take back David P. Johnson, the clerk who repudiated communism after a visit to the Soviet Union.

Johnson said he'd report for work Monday.

The railroad interviewed Johnson Thursday after the clerk had appeared before a congressional committee earlier in the week.

Robert A. Wright, regional comptroller for the railroad, for whom Johnson had worked in the accounting department since 1952, said: "In the light of all the facts, we believe that David Johnson deserves another chance, and we are returning him to his job on Monday. There is no doubt in our minds that he has learned his lesson and in view of his otherwise clean record with the railroad, he will get a fresh start so far as we're concerned."

Johnson 32, took a vacation and a brief leave of absence last May 14. When he didn't return on schedule the railroad suspended him pending a review of the circumstances that led Johnson to take his pregnant wife and twin sons, 4, to the Soviet Union.

Four Die In Crash; 15 In Car

ELSIE, Mich. (UPI)—A car carrying 14 schoolchildren and a teacher crashed head-on into another auto on a country road near here Friday, killing the teacher and three of the children.

Four other children were injured, two of them seriously. The driver of the other car was listed as in serious condition.

Clinton County sheriff's officials said Mrs. Pauline Roof, 47, a teacher at the Mead school near here was driving behind another car on a dusty road. They said the dust apparently blanketed the road and prevented her and an oncoming car, driven by Frank Ortez, 31, from seeing each other.

Mrs. Roof, Marilyn La Rue, 9, Julia Marie Fabus, 11, and Dianna Mead, 6, were killed.

Ortez was taken to a hospital in Lansing, Mich., where doctors said his condition was serious.

The children and the teacher were returning from a softball game at another nearby school and were only three-quarters of a mile from their school when the cars collided.

Sheriff's deputies said Mrs. Roof was driving a four-door sedan.

The injured children were taken to the Clinton Memorial Hospital and the Owosso Memorial Hospital.

Listed in serious condition at the Clinton Memorial Hospital were Kathleen Thornton, 11, and Rosemary Fabus, 11, the twin of one of the dead.

At the Owosso Memorial Hospital in good condition were Susan Hess, 10, and Linda Sheldon, 8.

All of the dead and injured were from Elsie.

Torturing Is Denied By Sheriff

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sheriff Tip Hunter of Brownsville, Tenn., Friday night denied a charge that police in his jail tortured a slightly built white teacher for helping evicted Negro sharecroppers earn a living.

The teacher, Eric Weinberger, 30 Norwich, Conn., told a celebrity-studded panel Friday that he was tortured in Brownsville twice this spring with an electric shock probe and wrist clamps. He said Hunter was present once and operated one of the clamps.

In Tennessee, Hunter promptly denied that Weinberger had been tortured. He said wrist clamps were used to stabilize the teacher's hand so fingerprints could be taken.

The sheriff said Weinberger refused to let officers take his fingerprints. Hunter said a clear set of prints never was obtained, even though the prisoners was stretched out on the floor of his cell with his legs and one arm tied to the bars.

"He was so uncooperative, in fact, that we had to drag him by the feet out of the courthouse and back to the squad car," Hunter said.

Weinberger made his charge to a privately sponsored panel which included Mrs Eleanor Roosevelt and Norman Thomas. Weinberger's was one of a series of statements by integration leaders on the roles of some southern police, courts and jails in civil rights activities.

Local Weather Scene Same

Again the forecast is for high temperature and little likelihood of precipitation. The weatherman sees 90 degrees in the Twin Cities today, and 68 tonight.

The forecaster teases dry Monroe again with a prediction of isolated afternoon thundershowers.

So, while the umbrella salesmen go broke in northeast Louisiana, consolation today will be breezes out of the south at 5-15 mph.

Tree Blooms

Lovers of mimosa trees will be especially enchanted with the tree on North Sixth Street in Monroe, just across from Neville High School.

Friday it was in full bloom and hangs like a canopy over the street. In all his rambles, it is just about the prettiest mimosa Jes' Ramblin' has seen. We sure enjoyed it.

GOP Says Edict Rule JFK Goal

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP)—Republican National Chairman William E. Miller accused the Kennedy administration Friday of waging a drive "to make White House edicts the supreme law of the land."

"I charge the Kennedys and their stable of social theorists with a deliberate attempt to regiment our people as wards of an all-powerful central government to which they must turn for all their needs," the New York congressman said.

In the keynote address to the Wisconsin Republican State Convention, Miller said, "If the power-hungry drive goes unchecked, the time is not far distant when the United States can no longer call itself a republic."

Miller was especially critical of President John F. Kennedy's medicare plan and its administration through the Social Security system.

He called it a "cruelly deceptive" proposal, "a downright fruad," and added: "What this compulsory plan really assures is a huge expansion of the federal payroll through bureaucratic regulation of hospital administration and medical practice and eventually bankruptcy for the Social Security system itself."

'CONTRARY TO LAW'

Judge Blasts U.S. 'Strong-Arm' Try

CHICAGO (UPI)—A federal district judge Friday accused the Justice Department of "strong-arm tactics" in seeking to shut off telephone and telegraph service to two agencies which specialize in racing news.

Judge Hubert L. Will spoke of letters by the Justice Department instructing the Illinois Bell Telephone Co. and the Western Union Telegraph Co. to stop service to Illinois Sports News and Telephone News systems, both of Chicago.

Will said the "mere letter" from the Justice Department amounted to "crazy criminal jurisprudence" and was intended to put persons out of business "without the burden of proof."

"This is contrary to my conception of the law," Will said. "It is administration strong-arm tactics. I don't like the way the executive is trying to take over the duties of the judicial. I hope it's not continued."

Will made the statement at the start of hearings on three suits filed against Illinois Bell and Western Union. The suits were filed by officers of Illinois Sports News, Thomas F. Kelly, his son, Thomas Jr., and his brother, George L.

The Kellys sought a permanent injunction against Illinois Bell and Western Union barring them from shutting off service to Illinois Sports News and Telephone News systems.

The suits challenged the constitutionality of a new federal law, which had been requested by Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy, which bans interstate dissemination of gambling information. The officers of Illinois Sports News are under indictment in Kentucky charged with violating the law.

Robbery Victim Is Kept Bound, Gagged 7 Hours

CLINTON, Ill. (UPI) — A robbery suspect who abducted an Odell, Ill., service station attendant and kept him bound and gagged in a car trunk and motel room for seven hours was flushed out of a tree and captured Friday.

The suspect was captured by state police who spread a dragnet after the suspect's victim escaped from a motel room near Lincoln, Ill., where he had been trussed up.

Herbert Bockman, 25, Pontiac, managed to work his bonds free while his captor was sleeping. Bockman raced to the motel office to call authorities. The suspect awakened and raced away in a car.

Three shotgun - wielding state policemen captured Afred J. Tetloff, 20, Saginaw, Mich.

Dewitt County Sheriff William Barrett said the man admitted the robbery and abduction.

Bockman was not injured. He went to Clinton to identify Tetloff.

Memorial Day Toll Estimated

CHICAGO (UPI)—The National Safety Council estimated Friday that traffic accidents would kill between 80 and 120 persons Memorial Day.

The range marked a new concept in safety council holiday toll estimates. Heretofore, the council has estimated a definite figure.

"The new approach was decided upon after long study," a council spokesman said. "We hope it's effect will be a reminder to drivers that the responsibility is theirs.

"If the drivers obey the rules and take proper precaution," he said, "the toll will be 80, but if they disregard safety warnings the toll will go to 120."

The council estimated that 15 to 25 lives would be saved Memorial Day if every motorist wore a safety belt.

OUT OF LIMELIGHT

Reunion Awaited By Mrs. Carpenter

CAPE CANAVERAL (UPI) — Mrs. Rene Carpenter dropped out of the limelight again Friday to await a happy reunion with her astronaut hero husband here on Sunday.

She retreated to the quiet life of the sand and sun with her four children again after making a brief, dramatic appearance Thursday night following her husband's harrowing but successful rocket ride.

Secluded at the private home of "dear friends" at Cocoa Beach, she spent a good deal of the time Friday receiving congratulations on the telephone from close friends and the wives of other astronauts.

Telegrams and messages also were pouring in for the Carpenters, space agency officials said. Those to the astronaut praised him on his mission and on his courage.

Officials said that Mrs. Carpenter has been in close contact with Mrs. John Glenn. "They have a lot in common," it was explained. "Both have been through the same thing."

Mrs. Glenn is offering Mrs. Carpenter "some guidance" now that the invitations for personal appearances are flowing in.

Mrs. Carpenter plans to be at Patrick Air Force Base Sunday with the children—Scott, 12; Jay, 10; Kristen, 6; and Candace, 5—when Carpenter returns to Cape Canaveral to receive the space agency Distinguished Service Medal from National Aeronautics and Space Administration administrator James E. Webb.

On Monday, the Carpenter family will go to Boulder, Colo., for a big ceremonial welcome for the hometown boy who made good.

Perez-Long Row Erupts At Democratic Meeting

By SAM HANNA
World Legislative Writer

Baton Rouge — U.S. Sen. Russell B. Long and five Louisiana congressman qualified for re-election Friday after Leander H. Perez failed to get Louisiana Democrats on record against President Kennedy's farm bill.

The Democratic State Central Committee, joined by district committees, set the first primary for July 28th with the run-off elections on Sept. 1st, and the general election Nov. 6th.

This includes fifth district campaigns for Congress, the State Board of Education and the Second Circuit Court of Appeals. Judge Edward L. Gladney, the incumbent, of Bastrop was the only candidate to qualify.

But what began as a mere formaility suddenly became the background for a political fued between Long and Perez, the former Plaquemines Parish district attorney.

The committee rejected two Perez resolutions, both opposing the Kennedy farm bill, after the rules were suspended to hear Long speak on the bill.

Long, his face flushed red, almost punched Perez in the face with his waving arms as he shouted out, "People are getting tired of being called Communists because they don't agree with you."

The committee applauded.

Phil St. Amant, a Baton Rouge tax consultant who qualified after the meeting for the Senate race against Long, requested equal time following Long's speech.

But in a roll call vote in which two-thirds majority was needed to suspend the rules, the committee voted 56-32, rejecting St. Amant's request.

St. Amant, in an interview, blamed Long, declaring, "It is interesting to see that the Senator who fought against cloture on the Senate floor is afraid to allow free discussion on the issue of confiscation of land before the committee."

The committee meeting was coming to a quick end before Perez introduced a resolution to require candidates to state in qualifying that they oppose the Kennedy farm bill.

LAND GRANT

Perez objected to a provision that has been eliminated in the bill, but one that would have permitted the federal government to take over unused lands for recreational purposes.

"This is agrarian land reform similar to the agrarian policies of China and Cuba," Perez said. "There is a serious danger yet that this provision will be written nto the bil."

But two commtteemen from Baton Rouge, William J. Dodd and J. D. DeBlieux, objected to the amendment.

"I am interested in our setting a precedent he... by putting into the requirements that a candidate must vote the way the committee commands," Dodd said.

"Im not familiar with the bill and I don't think the other members of the committee are either," DeBlieux explained. "I don't think we should go along with trying to embarass the national administration when we have a mess right here on the state scene."

But Perez said the proposed provision was in conflict with the right of land ownership. By voice vote, the committee turned the resolution down.

Later, he came back with a second resolution, this one merely putting the state committee on record against the provision that he contends will be included in the bill.

It was at this point that H. B. Garland of Evangeline Parish suggested that Long, as a member of Congress, be asked to speak on the bill.

The committ e suspended the rules by a two-thirds majority, inviting Long to speak.

The committee suspended the rules by a two-thirds majority, inviting Long to speak.

"I would suggest to you that you not pass on bills before you've seen them," Long began. "This particular bill is a bill that Sen. Ellender worked for three months on. It simply tells the corn farmers, grain farmers and wheat farmers that they must control the production of their commodity. It puts them on the same basis with the cotton farmer."

He added, "Sen. Ellender thinks this is the only way to solve the farm problem. We have over $7 billion in grain piled up. The rest of this stuff is just a lot of falderal. The part that Judge Perez is talking about has been taken out of the bill."

Long's voice then grew louder, his face redder while Perez sat just a few fe t away, his eyes flashing in a cloud of cigar smoke.

"Complicated"

"You shouldn't come and tell us how to vote when you don't know as much about the bill as we do," Long shouted. "And I'll tell you that I don't know everything there is to know about the bill. It's a very complicated matter."

Suddenly he turned to the 1960 Presidential race when Perez led an unsuccessful move to keep Kennedy's name off the Louisiana ballot.

"Why, some folks down here don't want to let the nominee of the Democratic Party on the ballot to let somebody vote for him," Long said, looking directly at Perez.

"Anytime you won't let people vote for whom they want to you are practicing Communism in the name of anti-Communism," he added.

A loud round of applause erupted when Long started off the floor, but Perez got out of his seat and asked for permission to ask the Senator a question.

"The only question put before the House here is that they oppose the land reform provision," Perez said to Long. "Was it in the bill?"

"Every government has the right to take property provided that the property is needed for the people and compensation is made for the property," Long answered.

He added, "The State of Louisiana, the city government, the parish government and in Plaquemines Parish where Judge Perez is in complete charge, authorities have rights to confiscate land for property."

"But was it in the bill?" Perez asked again.

Long looked at him squarely, proclaiming, "People are getting tired being called Communists because they don't agree with you.

"It's going to be respectable to be called a Communist after awhile, when they call President Eisenhower, President Kennedy, Archbishop Rummel and Pope John Communists."

Perez recently was excommunicated by Rummel in New Orleans because of his opposition to the desegreagation orders applying to parochial schools.

But Long ended the squabble, declaring, "Judge Perez, there's no use in us arguing. You're not going to vote for me and I'm not going to support you.

As Long walked off, Perez told the committee, "Sen. Long has admitted that the provision was in the bill."

The bill, opposed now by the Legislature, is being fought in the state by the Louisiana Farm Bureau, but a bureau spokesman said Perez's resolutions did not come from the organization.

After the committee declined St. Amant's request to speak on the bill, Dodd said, "We are not trying to keep Mr. St. Amant from carrying on a political campaign, but this is not the place for it."

While Congressman Otto E. Passman was not present to qualify, Congressmen putting up the required $210 for the race included cluded Edward Hebert, New Orleans; Edwin Willis, St. Martinville; Harold B. McSaeen, Alexandria; T. A. Thompson, Ville Platte, and James Morrison, Hammond.

Other congressional candidates included:

Seventh district — Publisher Hugh Shearman of the Lake Charles American Press qualified against Thompson.

Eighth district — McSween had one opponent to quality — Attorney Gillis Long of Alexandria.

Fifth district committeemen explained that school board eleccions now will be set by the parish Democratic committees. Committeemen present included Lawrence Gibbs and Fred Fudickar Jr.; Monroe, Captain Jack Wyly, Lake Providence; Henry C. Seiver Sr., Tallulah; John Wagnon, Farmerville; Jesse L. Beasley, Harrisonburg; Ansley Colvin, Jonesboro, and Lane Fuller, Ruston.

OTHER OFFICES

Candidates qualifying for other offices included:

Third Supreme Court District—Chief Justice John B. Fournet, Jennings, and James N. Lee of Bunkie.

Fourth Circuit Court of Appeals — Judge Paul E. Chase of New Orleans for the unexpired term of Judge George Janvier, retired; and Judge Richard T. McBride, New Orleans, Appeals Court to succeed himself.

Second Public Service Commission district — Incumbent Ernest Clements, Dudley J. LeBlanc, Abbeville and Andrew J. Falcon, Gonzales.

Second Public Service Commission district for the state Board of Eudcation — School Supt. Robert Browne of Lafayette and Sen. Jack Fruge of Ville Platte.

First circuit, Third Court of Appeals district — A. J. Jones of Bogalusa.

St. Amant issued the following statement after qualifying for the Senate race:

"I will run as a conservative Democrat on the platform of a return to constitutionality — retraction of federal enroachment on local affairs — thrift in government — a strong military and foreign policy — and return of dignity to a self-supporting people allied to self-supporting nations.

"I do not believe in the Santa Clause theory of government. "I represent no organization but the American people and their aspirations, and I sincerely believe that the people of Louisiana want and deserve more integrity in government than has been seen in our generation.

"With God's help and the voters behind me, I will win the election."

Sterlington's Sewer System Now Completed

Six years of planning by Sterlington property owners has been climaxed by the completion of the city's own $161,609 sanitary sewerage system.

It is designed to serve a total of 310 connections, including 205 present residential and commercial connections. Contractors Pohlman & Wilbanks wound up work on the collection and treatment facility this month.

Chairman of the sewerage system's board of commissioners is Hoke S. Usrey, with Lee Stall and J. O. Cooper as board members. They expressed the feeling the system will go far in clearing up health hazards in the area resulting from septic tank failures and a high water table.

Work was begun on the project last October and was hampered by heavy winter rains, officials said.

The system will be operated by a five mill tax, plus monthly charges for electricity and maintenance.

Construction assessments on property owners amounted to $4.59 per front foot, which can be piad in cash or through 20 year financing.

IN MOREHOUSE, FRANKLIN

Agents Photograph Area Vote Records

BASTROP (Special) — Federal Bureau of Investigation agents, rummaging around the records of vote registrars at the direction of U. S. Attorney General Robert F. Kennedy, were in Bastrop Friday.

The agents were busy photographing records of the Morehouse Parish registrar of voters, Mrs. Margaret M. Larche.

They moved into Bastrop after leaving Winnsboro Thursday, where they had been photographing records of Mrs. W. A. Hatton, registrar.

Agent Joe Flemming of the New Orleans office said, "we're photographing records of the office at the request of the attorney general of the United States."

The Justice Department is attempting to find instances of discrimination against Negroes in Morehouse and Franklin as a basis for civil rights lawsuits.

Several suits have been filed in other north Louisiana parishes.

Earlier maneuvering had been pushed in both Morehouse and Franklin before the arrival of the agents.

Sale To Minor Nets Sentence In West Monroe

A case involving the sale of beer to a minor resulted Friday in West Monroe city court in the placing of a West Monroe man on two years active probation, in lieu of a 90-day sentence.

Fined $100 or 90 days on the charge was Dean Brister, on whom court records listed no age or address other than West Monroe. Judge John McCormick later suspended the 90 - day sentence in favor of probation.

Drawing the same fine, but for aggravated battery, were Jordan Worley, route three, box 183, West Monroe, and 24 - year-old Willis B. Kirkland, 514 Jonesboro Road. A simple battery conviction further cost Kirkland $25 or 30 days.

Also for simple battery, Leo Ashley, 24, 115 Drago St., drew a similar $25 or 30 - day fine.

Burglary charges were withdrawn against Roscoe Ballance, 48, 512 Breard St., Monroe, and Robert H. hompson, 38, 703 Wood St. West Monroe and they were transferred to parish jail.

Minor traffic violations resulted in forfeiture of three bonds of $3 and two of $5.50.

U.S. Officials Admit Waste On Contracts

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The Defense Department acknowledged Friday it had wasted millions of dollars under cost-plus - fixed-fee contracts for development and purchase of military hardware.

Assistant Defense Secretary Thomas D. Morris told Senate investigators that studies of cost-plus contracts showed actual production costs exceeding target costs by up to 20 per cent, "with many programs running much higher."

"Much of this is sheer waste," Morris said in testimony to the Senate permanent investigations subcommittee. In 1961, he said, the department spent $8.9 billion under cost-plus contracts.

Subcommittee Chairman John L. McClellan, D-Ark., winding up an investigation of Pentagon missile procurement, commended the Defense Department for instituting changes in contracting policies that promised to curb waste.

Morris testified after the Boeing Company of Seattle, Wash., presented statistics and testimony designed to convince McClellan that it had not wasted taxpayers' money or pocketed excessive profits for working on the Air Force Bomarc missile.

Negro Charged

Monroe police Friday apprehended a 49 - year - old local Negro and charged him with buying wine for a minor. Identified as Tom Gilbert, 307 S. 11th St., the man's case will be heard in city court.

West Monroe Election Out On Closings

West Monroe City Attorney Charles A. Traylor II Friday said that the city charter has no provision for referendum elections aimed at tightening up Sunday business.

Thursday night a group of about 40 ministers and businessmen in the Twin Cities area had taken the name "Citizens for Sunday Closing" and voted unanimously to seek such a referendum.

The same sort of referendum elections are possible in Monroe, as Monroe has a commission form of government. Senate Bill No. 77, now pending in the legislature, would permit all city governments to hold elections on Sunday closing.

As concerns Ouachita Parish, Police Jury President M. W. Montgomery said Friday the only way the police jury could call a referendum on Sunday closings would be by action on petitions of 25 per cent of parish registered voters.

Laws passed by referendum votes in a city or a parish can be repealed only through another referendum.

Ordinances prohibiting sales of alcoholic beverages on Sunday are on the books in Monroe and West Monroe. West Monroe also regulates Sunday pool hall hours.

Aside from these items, there are no Twin Cities ordinances determining which businesses must close down or alter their Sunday businesses.

Any law passed by referendum could go no further than state law requiring that businesses selling necessary groceries, drug items, tobacco, petroleum products, and eating establishments and places of amusement must be allowed to remain open.

Traylor, who was present at the Thursday meeting, said he has written Atty. General Jack P. F. Gremillion for an opinion on West Monroe's status under its charter.

Baton Rouge — U.S. Sen. Russell B. Long and five Louisiana congressman qualified for reelection Friday after Leander H. Perez failed to get Louisiana Democrats on record against President Kennedy's farm bill.

The Democratic State Central Committee, joined by district committees, set the first primary for July 28th with the runoff elections on Sept. 1st, and the general election Nov. 6th.

This includes fifth district campaigns for Congress, the State Board of Education and the Second Circuit Court of Appeals. Judge Edward L. Gladney, the incumbent, of Bastrop was the only candidate to qualify.

But what began as a mere formaility suddenly became the background for a political fued between Long and Perez, the former Plaquemines Parish district attorney.

The committee rejected two Perez resolutions, both opposing the Kennedy farm bill, after the rules were suspended to hear Long speak on the bill.

Long, his face flushed red, almost punched Perez in the face with his waving arms as he shouted out, "People are getting tired of being called Communists because they don't agree with you."

The committee applauded.

Phil St. Amant, a Baton Rouge tax consultant who qualified after the meeting for the Senate race against Long, requested equal time following Long's speech.

But in a roll call vote in which two-thirds majority was needed to suspend the rules, the committee voted 56-32, rejecting St. Amant's request.

St. Amant, in an interview, blamed Long, declaring, "It is interesting to see that the Senator who fought against cloture on the Senate floor is afraid to allow free discussion on the issue of confiscation of land before the committee."

The committee meeting was coming to a quick end before Perez introduced a resolution to require candidates to state in qualifying that they oppose the Kennedy farm bill.

LAND GRANT

Perez objected to a provision that has been eliminated in the bill, but one that would have permitted the federal government to take over unused lands for recreational purposes.

"This is agrarian land reform similar to the agrarian policies of China and Cuba," Perez said. "There is a serious danger yet that this provision will be written nto the bll."

But two commtteemen from Baton Rouge, William J. Dodd and J. D. DeBlieux, objected to the amendment.

"I am interested in our setting a precedent here by putting into the requirements that a candidate must vote the way the committee commands," Dodd said.

"Im not familiar with the bill and I don't think the other members of the committee are either," DeBlieux explained. "I don't think we should go along with trying to embarass the national administration when we have a mess right here on the state scene."

But Perez said the proposed provision was in conflict with the right of land ownership. By voice vote, the committee turned the resolution down.

Later, he came back with a second resolution, this one merely putting the state committee on record against the provision that he contends will be included in the bill.

It was at this point that H. B. Garland of Evangeline Parish suggested that Long, as a member of Congress, be asked to speak on the bill.

The committee suspended the rules by a two-thirds majority, inviting Long to speak.

The committee suspended the rules by a two-thirds majority, inviting Long to speak.

"I would suggest to you that you not pass on bills before you've seen them," Long began. "This particular bill is a bill that Sen. Ellender worked for three months on. It simply tells the corn farmers, grain farmers and wheat farmers that they must control the production of their commodity. It puts them on the same basis with the cotton farmer."

He added, "Sen. Ellender thinks this is the only way to solve the farm problem. We have over $7 billion in grain piled up. The rest of this stuff is just a lot of falderal. The part that Judge Perez is talking about has been taken out of the bill."

Long's voice then grew louder, his face redder while Perez sat just a few feet away, his eyes flashing in a cloud of cigar smoke.

"Complicated"

"You shouldn't come and tell us how to vote when you don't know as much about the bill as we do," Long shouted. "And I'll tell you that I don't know everything there is to know about the bill. It's a very complicated matter."

Suddenly he turned to the 1960 Presidential race when Perez led an unsuccessful move to keep Kennedy's name off the Louisiana ballot.

"Why, some folks down here don't want to let the nominee of the Democratic Party on the ballot to let somebody vote for him," Long said, looking directly at Perez.

"Anytime you won't let people vote for whom they want to you are practicing Communism in the name of anti-Communism," he added.

A loud round of applause erupted when Long started off the floor, but Perez got out of his seat and asked for permission to ask the Senator a question.

"The only question put before the House here is that they oppose the land reform provision," Perez said to Long. "Was it in the bill?"

"Every government has the right to take property provided that the property is needed for the people and compensation is made for the property," Long answered.

He added, "The State of Louisiana, the city government, the parish government and in Plaquemines Parish where Judge Perez is in complete charge, authorities have rights to confiscate land for property."

"But was it in the bill?" Perez asked again.

Long looked at him squarely, proclaiming, "People are getting tired being called Communists because they don't agree with you.

"It's going to be respectable to be called a Communist after awhile, when they call President Eisenhower, President Kennedy, Archbishop Rummel and Pope John Communists."

Perez recently was excommunicated by Rummel in New Orleans because of his opposition to the desegreagation orders applying to parochial schools.

But Long ended the squabble, declaring, "Judge Perez, there's no use in us arguing. You're not going to vote for me and I'm not going to support you.

As Long walked off, Perez told the committee, "Sen. Long has admitted that the provision was in the bill."

The bill, opposed now by the Legislature, is being fought in the state by the Louisiana Farm Bureau, but a bureau spokesman said Perez's resolutions did not come from the organization.

After the committee declined St. Amant's request to speak on the bill, Dodd said, "We are not trying to keep Mr. St. Amant from carrying on a political campaign, but this is not the place for it."

While Congressman Otto E. Passman was not present to qualify, Congressmen putting up the required $210 for the race includcluded Edward Hebert, New Orleans; Edwin Willis, St. Martinville; Harold B. McSaeen, Alexandria; T. A. Thompson, Ville Platte, and James Morrison, Hammond.

Other congressional candidates included:

Seventh district — Publisher Hugh Shearman of the Lake Charles American Press qualified against Thompson.

Eighth district — McSween had one opponent to quality — Attorney Gillis Long of Alexandria.

Fifth district committeemen explained that school board elecces tions now will be set by the parish Democratic committees. Committeemen present included Lawrence Gibbs and Fred Fudickar Jr.; Monroe, Captain Jack Wyly, Lake Providence; Henry C. Seiver Sr., Tallulah; John Wagnon, Farmerville; Jesse L. Beasley, Harrisonburg; Ansley Colvin, Jonesboro, and Lane Fuller, Ruston.

OTHER OFFICES

Candidates qualifying for other offices included:

Third Supreme Court District—Chief Justice John B. Fournet, Jennings, and James N. Lee of Bunkie.

Fourth Circuit Court of Appeals — Judge Paul E. Chase of New Orleans for the unexpired term of Judge George Janvier, retired; and Judge Richard T. McBride, New Orleans, Appeals Court to succeed himself.

Second Public Service Commission district — Incumbent Ernest Clements, Dudley J. LeBlanc, Abbeville and Andrew J. Falcon, Gonzales.

Second Public Service Commission district for the state Board of Eudcation — School Supt. Robert Browne of Lafayette and Sen. Jack Fruge of Ville Platte.

First circuit, Third Court of Appeals district — A. J. Jones of Bogalusa.

St. Amant issued the following statement after qualifying for the Senate race:

"I will run as a conservative Democrat on the platform of a return to constitutionality — retraction of federal enroachment on local affairs — thrift in government — a strong military and foreign policy — and return of dignity to a self-supporting people allied to self-supporting nations.

"I do not believe in the Santa Clause theory of government. "I represent no organization but the American people and their aspirations, and I sincerely believe that the people of Louisiana want and deserve more integrity in government than has been seen in our generation.

"With God's help and the voters behind me, I will win the election."

Sterlington's Sewer System Now Completed

Six years of planning by Sterlington property owners has been climaxed by the completion of the city's own $161,609 sanitary sewerage system.

It is designed to serve a total of 310 connections, including 205 present residential and commercial connections. Contractors Pohlman & Wilbanks wound up work on the collection and treatment facility this month.

Chairman of the sewerage system's board of commissioners is Hoke S. Usrey, with Lee Stall and J. O. Cooper as board members. They expressed the feeling the system will go far in clearing up health hazards in the area resulting from septic tank failures and a high water table.

Work was begun on the project last October and was hampered by heavy winter rains, officials said.

The system will be operated by a five mill tax, plus monthly charges for electricity and maintenance.

Construction assessments on property owners amounted to $4.59 per front foot, which can be piad in cash or through 20 year financing.

U.S. Officials Admit Waste On Contracts

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The Defense Department acknowledged Friday it had wasted millions of dollars under cost-plus - fixed-fee contracts for development and purchase of military hardware.

Assistant Defense Secretary Thomas D. Morris told Senate investigators that studies of cost-plus contracts showed actual production costs exceeding target costs by up to 20 per cent, "with many programs running much higher."

"Much of this is sheer waste," Morris said in testimony to the Senate permanent investigations subcommittee. In 1961, he said, the department spent $8.9 billion under cost-plus contracts.

Subcommittee Chairman John L. McClellan, D-Ark., winding up an investigation of Pentagon missile procurement, commended the Defense Department for instituting changes in contracting policies that promised to curb waste.

Morris testified after the Boeing Company of Seattle, Wash., presented statistics and testimony designed to convince McClellan that it had not wasted taxpayers' money or pocketed excessive profits for working on the Air Force Bomarc missile.

IN MOREHOUSE, FRANKLIN

Agents Photograph Area Vote Records

BASTROP (Special) — Federal Bureau of Investigation agents, rummaging around the records of vote registrars at the direction of U. S. Attorney General Robert F. Kennedy, were in Bastrop Friday.

The agents were busy photographing records of the Morehouse Parish registrar of voters, Mrs. Margaret M. Larche.

They moved into Bastrop after leaving Winnsboro Thursday, where they had been photographing records of Mrs. W. A. Hatton, registrar.

Agent Joe Flemming of the New Orleans office said, "we're photographing records of the office at the request of the attorney general of the United States."

The Justice Department is attempting to find instances of discrimination against Negroes in Morehouse and Franklin as a basis for civil rights lawsuits.

Several suits have been filed in other north Louisiana parishes.

Earlier maneuvering had been pushed in both Morehouse and Franklin before the arrival of the agents.

Sale To Minor Nets Sentence In West Monroe

Fined $100 or 90 days on the charge was Dean Brister, on whom court records listed no age or address other than West Monroe. Judge John McCormick later suspended the 90 - day sentence in favor of probation.

Drawing the same fine, but for aggravated battery, were Jordan Worley, route three, box 183, West Monroe, and 24 - year-old Willis B. Kirkland, 514 Jonesboro Road. A simple battery conviction further cost Kirkland $25 or 30 days.

Also for simple battery, Leo Ashley, 24, 115 Drago St., drew a similar $25 or 30 - day fine.

Burglary charges were withdrawn against Roscoe Ballance, 48, 512 Breard St., Monroe, and Robert H. hompson, 38, 703 Wood St. West Monroe and they were transferred to parish jail.

For disturbing the peace, 69-year - old Negro Willie Young, Benson Street West Monroe, drew a fine of $30 or 30 days, and Sam Mondello, 32, 1303 N. 4th St., and Ruby Worley, route three, box 183, both of West Monroe, fines of $25 or 30 days.

A fine of $25 for disturbing the peace against 36 - year - old Mary Mayo, 1307 Ridge Ave., West Monroe, was suspended on payment of $5 court costs.

Minor traffic violations resulted in forfeiture of three bonds of $3 and two of $5.50.

West Monroe Election Out On Closings

West Monroe City Attorney Charles A. Traylor II Friday said that the city charter has no provision for referendum elections aimed at tightening up Sunday business.

Thursday night a group of about 40 ministers and businessmen in the Twin Cities area had taken the name "Citizens for Sunday Closing" and voted unanimously to seek such a referendum.

The same sort of referendum elections are possible in Monroe, as Monroe has a commission form of government. Senate Bill No. 77, now pending in the legislature, would permit all city governments to hold elections on Sunday closing.

As concerns Ouachita Parish, Police Jury President M. W. Montgomery said Friday the only way the police jury could call a referendum on Sunday closings would be by action on petitions of 25 per cent of parish registered voters.

Laws passed by referendum votes in a city or a parish can be repealed only through another referendum.

Ordinances prohibiting sales of alcoholic beverages on Sunday are on the books in Monroe and West Monroe. West Monroe also regulates Sunday pool hall hours.

Aside from these items, there are no Twin Cities ordinances determining which businesses must close down or alter their Sunday businesses.

Any law passed by referendum could go no further than state law requiring that businesses selling necessary groceries, drug items, tobacco, petroleum products, and eating establishments and places of amusement must be allowed to remain open.

Traylor, who was present at the Thursday meeting, said he has written Atty. General Jack P. F. Gremillion for an opinion on West Monroe's status under its charter.

British, New Zealand Units Join Thai Buildup

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP)—The military buildup launched by the United States in Thailand turned into an Allied effort Friday with arrival of armed forces units from Britain and New Zealand.

A British Royal Air Force jet fighter squadron and a detachment of 30 New Zealand airborne troops flew into to join U.S. infantrymen and Marines in a show of strength to discourage any Communist thrusts from rebel-held areas of neighboring Laos.

The token forces augment a growing American force that now totals 1,800 combat infantrymen aim is to build the U.S. command to 5,000.

It was announced in Auckland that some parachute troops of the New Zealand special air service group will head for Thailand Saturday.

An Australian air force contingent also is expected. This will round out representation in the field of four of Thailand's allies in the eight-nation Southeast Asia Treaty Organization.

The Philippines government said it too is ready to send ground or air forces, should a call come.

France and Pakistan, the two other SEATO members, stayed on the sidelines.

The French have taken a distant view of Southeast Asian affairs since their defeat in the eight-year Indochina war.

Blunder Or Not?

Newspaper opinion on the proposal to pay some $73 million in additional war claims to residents in the Philippines has been varied but there have been some rather heated arguments in favor of the payments, which were rejected by the United States house of representatives.

Concerning the house vote, the Memphis Commercial Appeal had this to say:

"By a 201-171 vote . . .the United States house of representatives committed an international blunder.

"That vote killed a measure authorizing payment of the remaining $73 million in Philippines war damage claims.

"We wonder how much thought the 201 nay - sayers gave to the courage, sacrifice and friendship of the Filipinos. Because we have already paid the Philippines $1.6 billion in economic and military aid and because that $73 million was earmarked for individuals and corporations, there were arguments that we need not pay this debt. . . .

"One cannot blame Philippines President Macapagal for cancelling his trip to America. Any pleasure would have been mixed with gall."

On the other side of the picture, however, is this comment by Insider's Newsletter:

"Newspapers have been way off base with their sweeping complaints against congressional attempts to prevent payment on the Filipino war claims, officials who have actually studied the cases report. These officials explain that all the claims have been carefully studied by the army, and a very large proportion of them are demonstrably fradulent. Such claims as, 'The Americans took my jewelry,' and 'I was a spy for the U.S. military forces and I want military pay' are involved. Insiders take for granted that some congressional objectors knew the facts but couldn't make a public indictment of a friendly country. Manila has political interest, since it is to receive the money and do the distributing."

No country in the history of the world ever paid out such vast numbers of billions of dollars as has the United States for the right to rescue other nations from annihilation. In World Wars I and II we paid many billions of dollars to England and France and Germany. This money was paid out for use of buildings, rentals on land and reparation for various kinds of damage done in those countries by United States troops in their defense of those nations.

Although it is not generally regarded in that light, this looks about like it would to charge firemen for damage to windows, walls and floors inside a home or business building when they squirt in water to put out a fire that would otherwise destroy the whole thing.

Representative Frank J. Becker, R., N.Y., said in arguing in favor of the payments to the Filipinos, "It seems strange to deny the Philippines a just debt when we hand out aid to communist - controlled countries like Yugoslavia."

It may be true that giving money to Yugoslavia while withholding it from the Philippines does seem strange but the fault appears to be more in giving it to Yugoslavia than in withholding it from the Filipinos under the circumstances. Because the United States was paying big reparations, apparently many Filipinos saw an opportunity to cash in on United States generosity. Anyone could claim he had lost jewels or had been a spy. Paying claims of that kind might be endless.

We should be less inclined to criticize the house of representatives for exercising some caution and restraint and more inclined to blame it for giving away billions to our enemies or to those countries which merely gobble it up and then claim to be "neutral."

Roosevelt Income Tax

Nobody likes high income taxes when he is paying them, not even the son of the man who set the pattern for President Kennedy's huge expenditure program. Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr., son of the late president, has been notified of a $38,736 deficiency in his 1958 income tax return.

The late President Franklin D. Roosevelt, father of American integration and the originator of many socialistic reforms which brought increases in taxes and in the nation's indebtedness, has long been the idol of President Kennedy. As Kennedy saw it, the late president could do no wrong.

Now the government claims Franklin, Jr., tried to escape payment of $38,736 which it says he owes.

In addition to showing the government's claim, records also showed that Roosevelt is contesting $12,647 of that amount saying money received in connection with a play based on the life of his father, "Sunrise at Campobello," is not taxable.

Internal revenue service officials said another item involved in the case is $45,409 partnership income omitted in Roosevelt's return.

Officials said Roosevelt reported a taxable income of $29,026 instead of $93,051. The difference between $29,026 and $93,051 is quite a sum to forget.

Roosevelt contends $18,615 received from Dore Schary, who wrote the play, was not taxable.

An agreement signed by Schary and by Roosevelt on behalf of other members of the Roosevelt family provided that the children of the late president would receive $50 an hour for consultation fees in providing anecdotes and other information to Schary in writing the play. It provided $100 an hour for Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, widow of the president, for any similar consultations. Court papers did not show how much actually was paid by Schary as consultation fees.

Not many people will blame Roosevelt for not liking to pay so much in taxes. Most of them might go along with the idea that neither he nor anyone else should be required to pay out more than 25 per cent of his income in taxes, and certainly not more than 50 per cent. But that is not the way the law reads. In the highest income bracket, the government can collect more than 90 per cent.

Now come two potent questions. How can Roosevelt justify himself in trying to avoid payment according to a system which his father helped to establish? How does he figure the amount paid him by Schary was non-taxable, regardless of whether it was paid to him as a share of earnings from rights to the play or whether it was paid for consultation? Most of us have to pay income taxes on money that we earn chiefly by the sweat of our brows, but if we pick up a little on the side, such as by gambling or investments, we have to pay on that too, so we wonder how he thinks he is immune on earned money.

Government action in bringing the claims, especially at a time when the Billie Sol Estes farm payments case is causing the administration embarrassment, is a little baffling. Is the government really going after the income tax avoiders impartially or has it decided Franklin, Jr., needs a little political chopping down?

Chinese Food Shenanigans

Mqin Purpose Of Unprecedented Exodus To Hong Kong May • Be To Obtain Surplus From United States

U. S. authorities believe they have pieced together the answer to why Peiping is permitting the mass outpouring of Chinese refugees to Hong Kong.

Their evidence indicates that the main purpose of this unprecedented exodus is a spectacular attempt by the Chinese Communist regime to create a "face - saving" world atmosphere so that they can obtain U.S. surplus food.

This amazing explanation, which is now being circulated at the highest level of the Kennedy Administration, is based on a number of Intelligence estimates gathered from a variety of reliable sources.

It is drawn from reports on interviews with hundreds of the Chinese refugees, secret details of how the Chinese Communists are handling the refugees turned back by the British, and feelers put out in Warsaw by Chinese Communist Ambassador Wan Ping - nam.

When carefully fitted together, all the pieces of this Chinese refugee puzzle clearly point to the heavy hand of Peiping directing this massive exodus.

Hundreds of these Chinese refugees are arriving at the Hong Kong border with "exit" permits granted by Chinese Communist authorities. When these passes are shown, the Communist guards quickly pass the refugees into the no - man area along the China border of the British crown colony.

These refugee "leaders," who gather hundreds of other Chinese peasants during their unmolested trek to the border, are being permitted to leave Chinese cities and communes located several hundred miles inland.

Unlike the overworked and underfed peasants they attract, these Communist Fred Pipers show no outward signs of malnutrition. While "lean" and "hungry" from their long trip, spot examinations by the British show that these refugees are not suffering from a sustained - famine diet like the other disease-ridden peasants.

BUILDING AN IMAGE — According to information the British have furnished U. S. Intelligence officials in Hong Kong, the thousands of Chinese refugees they are being compelled to turn back are not going very far and are not being mistreaetd by Communist officials.

Instead, the refugee "leaders" usually take charge of groups of the refugees and escort them to encampment areas the Communists are setting up for these refugees. The "refugee" camps are located within a few miles of the Hong Kong border. Already, an estimated 60,000 Chinese are in these camps.

U. S. and British authorities believe that these camps are being set up near the Hong Kong border as part of an overall Chinese Communist plan to focus world attention on their need for food.

By attracting this spotlight, the Chinese Communists hope to use world opinion to force the U. S. to offer its surplus food without Peiping having to lose face by officially requesting help.

President Kennedy has said that the U. S. will consider an official request from Communist China for food. So far, however, Peiping has made only unofficial feelers for the grain.

The most recent of these "feelers" came from Chinese Communist Ambassador Wang Ping - nan during his May 18 meeting in Warsaw with U. S. Ambassador John Cabot.

Cabot reported to the State Department that Ambassador Wang inquired if the U. S. would offer surplus grain to China if famine conditions there continued to spread.

After Cabot quoted President Kennedy's position, the Chinese Communist diplomat said that any offer of grain from the U. S. could definitely lead to an improvement of relations between the two countries.

LOOKING FORWARD — Significantly, Cabot's report is now being circulated inside the Kennedy Administration by State Department officials who are advocating sweeping changes in U. S. relations with the Communist and Nationalist Chinese governments.

This group, headed by Dr. Walt W. Rostow, counselor and chairman of the Department's Policy Planning Council, is using the Cabot report in support of their proposals that U. S. grain should be sold to the Chinese Communists in a major move to "normalize" relations.

This position is supported by Averell Harriman, Assistant Secretary of State for the Far East, who is advocating that the U. S. adopt a "two - China" policy under which the Chinese Communist government would be admitted to the UN.

Only last week, Harriman told a private meeting of the House Foreign Affairs Committee that he personally favors selling U. S. surplus food to the Chinese Communists provided they make an official request.

Under questioning by Representative Thomas Morgan D., - Pa., chairman, Harriman admitted that the U. S. is now the only country in the world with sufficient grain reserves to fill the Chinese Communists' needs. These needs are estimated to run to more than 10 million tons of surplus wheat before the coming winter.

This growing Chinese Communist food crisis is expected to force major policy decisions in both Washington and Peiping during the coming weeks.

Fall-Out Fears

Many Are Afraid Of Effects On Children And Grandchildren

If there has been a distinct rise in the sale of sedatives and tranquilizers, I know at least one reason why so many Americans are nervous and living their daily lives in fear and apprehension. Consider this letter just received from Mrs. M. of Maryland:

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: In view of the recent Soviet atomic bomb tests, I am deeply concerned about the effect of nuclear fall-out on my children and unborn grandchildren. I realize that there is very little I can do about the immediate radioactive fall-out in the air without resorting to a gas mask or similar device.

However, I am more concerned about the long-range danger, particularly to the much - publicized debris which will be showered down upon us with the spring rains. It has been suggested by the experts that the higher content of radioactivity that will fall from the atmosphere in the spring will affect our milk, our crops, our drinking water. In view of this can you make any suggestions?

Comment: Only that we all pray that man's heart at last catches up to his mind; that sanity prevails; and that men with children and grandchildren — those men who have the power to "push the button" — will take a good, long look into the future and visualize what harm they can bring to the children of future generations. If they have any fatherly instinct at all, they'll call it quits.

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: I have recently read an article by a doctor in which he said: "No one over a year old should drink milk because it is high in cholesterol, which is the saturated fat that piles up in the coronary arteries and causes heart attacks."

Dr. Steincrohn, what are we to believe when we come across a statement like this? Isn't milk necessary for infants and growing adolescents? — Mrs. R.

Comment: I am sure the cows won't rise up in indignation at this suggestion. They are, in many ways, much wiser than we are. They chew their cud contentedly, and go about their business — and relaxation.

Some of us, doctors included, sometimes go off on a tangent. We wander far off course. This is my way of saying that I disagree with the good doctor (whoever he is).

This cholesterol problem — still far from being solved — is bringing forth many views with which I disagree. One of these is keeping milk from the growing child. Will this prevent atherosclerosis and coronary attacks later on in life? What real proof do we have?

You know what I think of anybody who'd take candy away from a child. Milk? I'd feel even worse about that.

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: I am one who was a spare water drinker until I was advised by my doctor to drink plenty, which I do, and my elimination is better and I don't feel so dried-up. But ours is a family divided on water drinking. I like a glass of water with my meals and my wife says it is all wrong because it hinders digestion. Will you render an opinion? — Mr. B.

Answer: I'm on your side.

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: I have an inflamed and sore lower eyelid. It seems to be coming to a head and is bigger than the usual stye. Would you see an eye specialist? What can it be? — Mrs. L.

Answer: My guess, and only that, is that you have a chalazion. It is nothing serious. However, if the inflammation persists, better have medical advice.

Dr. Steincrohn's leaflet, "How to Overcome Tension and Fatigue," will be mailed to you on receipt of a stamped, self - addressed envelope and 10 cents in coin for handling. Address your request to Dr. Steincrohn, c-o this newspaper.

Algerian Facts

Unprovoked Aggression By Secret Army Organization Claimed

If the French press — and those American correspondents who derive their news from it — can be believed, the Secret Army Organization in Algeria has been perpetrating unprovoked aggression against the Moslem population while the FLN (National Liberation Front) has rigidly restrained everything but some spasmodic retaliation.

Civil wars are bloody affairs in which both sides resort to acts which would not be condoned in normal battle. But the idea that the Algerian "liberation movement" is a collection of knights in shining armor, coping patiently with what one American TV commentator has described as the "murderous thugs" of the SAO, happens tragically enough not to be true.

I have been allowed to read a carefully documented report on the activities of the Algerian rebels, now given the status of a provisional government by President de Gaulle. The picture it presents is far different from what we have been led to believe. For one thing, the FLN — whose ideology combines Communism and nationalism — has been carrying on a systematic campaign against the Jewish population of Algeria. These Jews have lived for centuries in this area. They have contributed greatly to the economy of Algeria. They have built schools and hospitals for the Moslem population. And they have attempted to stay out of the war between the French settlers and the FLN.

Their reward, however, has been an anti-Jewish campaign (it is silly to call this anti-Semitism since most of the Moslems are Semites). Jewish women and children have been slaughtered by the FLN in Algiers, Oran, and the hinterlands. Today, no Jew feels safe in Algeria, although the Secret Army has done its best to give its protection.

Moslem police units moreover, have been acting with a savagery which some officials have likened to that of the Soviet Mongolian troops in Budapest. Under the guise of rooting out SAO cammandos, these police units ran wild in the Bab-el-Oued section of Algiers. According to the report, "they assaulted the area with their tanks, and laid waste to the apartments they searched, ripping up furniture, smashing radios and television sets, and deliberately destroying food."

One of the Moslem officers said: "We are not interested in humanity." The male European population in this raid "from 18 to 70 was rounded up and sent to a detention camp" — later to be released.

In the interior, the FLN has taken over completely in many towns, using kangaroo courts to mete out summary execution to Moslems suspected of sympathizing with the French. In violation of the agreement between President de Gaulle and the FLN, Moslem groups have set up check points, exacted tribute from fellow Moslems, and taxed the population.

Even those French troops operating against the Secret Army are not immune. At one army post, French soldiers had their throats cut in their sleep by the Moslems in their unit. Then the Moslem soldiers deserted in a body, taking with them all stores of arms and munitions.

The result has been a strengthening of the Secret Army, with workers, clerks, and intellectuals joining up in large numbers. The French government has been able to round up some of the leaders of this resistance — men like Generals Jouhaud and Salan. But the Secret Army has not withered away because of these arrests. And the Algerian story, which has been reported scatteringly in the French press, has had much more of an impact on the liberals of the country than we have been led to believe.

For example, few daily papers reported that Madame Albert Camus, widow of the great French liberal writer and philosopher, had testified for the defense in the trial of General Jouhaud. "To see General Jouhaud here seems one of the tragic consequences of our misfortune," she told the court.

Then, in a moving speech, she added: "I have received desperate letters from many women (in Algeria). They are in a constant state of anxiety and terror . . . I was born French in Algeria and I believed that I would die French in Algeria. I can say that my deepest desire has always been for all the communities of Algeria to enjoy as I did what seemed to me to be a privilege, since I have never possessed anything material in Algeria, but a spiritual privilege.

Where justice lies may be a choice for a King Solomon. But certainly the black and white picture — Secret Army, black; the FLN, white — as painted in the press has little relation to the facts and hardly helps the public arrive at an unbiased opinion.

Backdoor Money

Kennedy May Obtain $40 Billion In 'Unobligated Balances'

Kennedy advisers on government finance, working with the Bureau of the Budget, have devised ways to get money for administration projects through the backdoor of the Treasury which might give the President access to an estimated $40 billion in "unobligated balances".

To finance his $2 billion stand-by public works bill, a project which the White House would administer through the executive branch of the government as the old PWA and WPA programs were during the leaf raking days of the depression, the planners hit upon the idea of using the borrowing authority of three independent agencies, but they are encountering reluctance of the heads of those agencies, and from the State Department itself, although the bill giving the requested authority has already been reported to the Senate.

This story of frenzied administration finance involves the International Bank for Reconstruction and Development — the so called World Bank — the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation, which insures bank deposits up to $10,000, and the Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corporation and the Federal Housing and Home Finance Agency, which stands behind the billions in insured mortgages on new homes built since World War II.

The jumble of agency titles is confusing, and so is the explanation of earmarked funds and unobligated balances which the financial advisors figured out the White House could use to finance the public works program.

The purpose of course is to get around direct appropriations by Congress, which would add to the already large deficit in prospect for the second fiscal year of the Kennedy administration.

"Back door" financing has the advantage of being a bookkeeping arrangement by which funds are transferred from one agency to another and can thus be carried on the Treasury books as loans, to be repaid when and if demand is made.

All of the government agencies affected were queried by Senator John Sherman Cooper (Rep.-Ky.) about their views on the proposed transfers of funds and the following angles developed:

Cooper pointed out that more than $1 billion of the bonds of the World Bank were owned by United States investors. The United States government is obligated to pay an additional $5 billion as a subscription to the bank. The question was raised by the State Department whether use of this "unobligated balance" as a plan to the public works fund might not be viewed by the bond holders as "breaking faith" and make it difficult to raise additional funds for the bank by selling additional bonds.

The Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation which has no problem when few banks fail, and has a fund of more than 2 billion dollars to protect bank depositors up to $10,000 has an authorized borrowing power of an additional $3 billion. It is this authority to borrow from the Treasury which comes under the designation of "unobligated funds" so far as the Budget Bureau is concerned, and which unless the language of the public works bill is changed, would give the White House authority to divert $2 billion to the public works fund.

Earl Cocke, Chairman of FDIC pointed out that his organization has no authority to borrow from anyone else other than the Treasury and that in the event of a serious economic downturn, accompanied by a large number of bank failures "neither the public confidence engendered by the existence of federal deposit insurance nor the improvements in banking or bank supervision would be sufficient to prevent these failures which would be a consequence of economic dislocations of a fundamental character."

The Federal Home Loan Bank Board which is the administrative head of the Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corporation informed Cooper that it has a borrowing authority not to exceed $750 million which would be transferrable under the President's plan.

Blunder Or Not?

Newspaper opinion on the proposal to pay some $73 million in additional war claims to residents in the Philippines has been varied but there have been some rather heated arguments in favor of the payments, which were rejected by the United States house of representatives.

Concerning the house vote, the Memphis Commercial Appeal had this to say:

"By a 201-171 vote . . .the United States house of representatives committed an international blunder.

"That vote killed a measure authorizing payment of the remaining $73 million in Philippines war damage claims.

"We wonder how much thought the 201 nay - sayers gave to the courage, sacrifice and friendship of the Filipinos. Because we have already paid the Philippines $1.6 billion in economic and military aid and because that $73 million was earmarked for individuals and corporations, there were arguments that we need not pay this debt. . . .

"One cannot blame Philippines President Macapagal for cancelling his trip to America. Any pleasure would have been mixed with gall."

On the other side of the picture, however, is this comment by Insider's Newsletter:

"Newspapers have been way off base with their sweeping complaints against congressional attempts to prevent payment on the Filipino war claims, officials who have actually studied the cases report. These officials explain that all the claims have been carefully studied by the army, and a very large proportion of them are demonstrably fradulent. It has been suggested by the experts that the higher content of radioactivity that will fall from the atmosphere in the spring will affect our milk, our crops, our drinking water. In view of this can you make any suggestions?

Comment: Only that we all pray that man's heart at last catches up to his mind; that sanity prevails; and that men with children and grandchildren — those men who have the power to "push the button" — will take a good, long look into the future and visualize what harm they can bring to the children of future generations. If they have any fatherly instinct at all, they'll call it quits.

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: I have recently read an article by a doctor in which he said: "No one over a year old should drink milk because it is high in cholesterol, which is the saturated fat that piles up in the coronary arteries and causes heart attacks."

Dr. Steincrohn, what are we to believe when we come across a statement like this? Isn't milk necessary for infants and growing adolescents? — Mrs. R.

Comment: I am sure the cows won't rise up in indignation at this suggestion. They are, in many ways, much wiser than we are. They chew their cud contentedly, and go about their business — and relaxation.

Some of us, doctors included, sometimes go off on a tangent. We wander far off course. This is my way of saying that I disagree with the good doctor (whoever he is).

This cholesterol problem — still far from being solved — is bringing forth many views with which I disagree. One of these is keeping milk from the growing child. Will this prevent atherosclerosis and coronary attacks later on in life? What real proof do we have?

You know what I think of anybody who'd take candy away from a child. Milk? I'd feel even worse about that.

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: I am one who was a spare water drinker until I was advised by my doctor to drink plenty, which I do, and my elimination is better and I don't feel so dried-up. But ours is a family divided on water drinking. I like a glass of water with my meals and my wife says it is all wrong because it hinders digestion. Will you render an opinion? — Mr. B.

Answer: I'm on your side.

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: I have an inflamed and sore lower eyelid. It seems to be coming to a head and is bigger than the usual stye. Would you see an eye specialist? What can it be? — Mrs. L.

Answer: My guess, and only that, is that you have a chalazion. It is nothing serious. However, if the inflammation persists, better have medical advice.

Dr. Steincrohn's leaflet, "How to Overcome Tension and Fatigue," will be mailed to you on receipt of a stamped, self - addressed envelope and 10 cents in coin for handling. Address your request to Dr. Steincrohn, c-o this newspaper.

Today is Saturday, May 26, the 146th day of the year with 219 to follow in 1962.

The moon is in its last quarter.

The morning stars are Mars, Jupiter and Saturn.

The evening star is Venus.

On this day in history:

In 1868, President Johnson was acquitted of impeachment proceedings in the Senate on charges of "high crimes and misdemeanors."

In 1937, members of the Ford factory police attacked and brutally beat Walter Reuther and Richard Frankensteen, officials of the United Automobile Workers Union.

In 1942, Radio Tokyo announced to the Japanese home front that "America and Britain . . . have now been exterminated."

In 1958, Samuel Cardinal Stritch archbishop of the Chicago Roman Catholic Archdiocese, died in Rome.

A thought for the day: Russian novelist Dostoyevsky said: "Men reject their prophets and slay them, but they love their martyrs and honor those whom they have slain."

Algerian Facts

Unprovoked Aggression By Secret Army Organization Claimed

If the French press — and those American correspondents who derive their news from it — can be believed, the Secret Army Organization in Algeria has been perpetrating unprovoked aggression against the Moslem population while the FLN (National Liberation Front) has rigidly restrained everything but some spasmodic retaliation.

Civil wars are bloody affairs in which both sides resort to acts which would not be condoned in normal battle. But the idea that the Algerian "liberation movement" is a collection of knights in shining armor, coping patiently with what one American TV commentator has described as the "murderous thugs" of the SAO, happens tragically enough not to be true.

I have been allowed to read a carefully documented report on the activities of the Algerian rebels, now given the status of a provisional government by President de Gaulle. The picture it presents is far different from what we have been led to believe. For one thing, the FLN — whose ideology combines Communism and nationalism — has been carrying on a systematic campaign against the Jewish population of Algeria. These Jews have lived for centuries in this area. They have contributed greatly to the economy of Algeria. They have built schools and hospitals for the Moslem population. And they have attempted to stay out of the war between the French settlers and the FLN.

Their reward, however, has been an anti-Jewish campaign (it is silly to call this anti-Semitism since most of the Moslems are Semites). Jewish women and children have been slaughtered by the FLN in Algiers, Oran, and the hinterlands. Today, no Jew feels safe in Algeria, although the Secret Army has done its best to give its protection.

Moslem police units moreover, have been acting with a savagery which some officials have likened to that of the Soviet Mongolian troops in Budapest. Under the guise of rooting out SAO cammandos, these police units ran wild in the Bab-el-Oued section of Algiers. According to the report, "they assaulted the area with their tanks, and laid waste to the apartments they searched, ripping up furniture, smashing radios and television sets, and deliberately destroying food."

One of the Moslem officers said: "We are not interested in humanity." The male European population in this raid "from 18 to 70 was rounded up and sent to a detention camp" — later to be released.

In the interior, the FLN has taken over completely in many towns, using kangaroo courts to mete out summary execution to Moslems suspected of sympathizing with the French. In violation of the agreement between President de Gaulle and the FLN, Moslem groups have set up check points, exacted tribute from fellow Moslems, and taxed the population.

Even those French troops operating against the Secret Army are not immune. At one army post, French soldiers had their throats cut in their sleep by the Moslems in their unit. Then the Moslem soldiers deserted in a body, taking with them all stores of arms and munitions.

The result has been a strengthening of the Secret Army, with workers, clerks, and intellectuals joining up in large numbers. The French government has been able to round up some of the leaders of this resistance — men like Generals Jouhaud and Salan. But the Secret Army has not withered away because of these arrests. And the Algerian story, which has been reported scatteringly in the French press, has had much more of an impact on the liberals of the country than we have been led to believe.

For example, few daily papers reported that Madame Albert Camus, widow of the great French liberal writer and philosopher, had testified for the defense in the trial of General Jouhaud. "To see General Jouhaud here seems one of the tragic consequences of our misfortune," she told the court.

Then, in a moving speech, she added: "I have received desperate letters from many women (in Algeria). They are in a constant state of anxiety and terror . . . I was born French in Algeria and I believed that I would die French in Algeria. I can say that my deepest desire has always been for all the communities of Algeria to enjoy as I did what seemed to me to be a privilege, since I have never possessed anything material in Algeria, but a spiritual privilege.

Where justice lies may be a choice for a King Solomon. But certainly the black and white picture — Secret Army, black; the FLN, white — as painted in the press has little relation to the facts and hardly helps the public arrive at an unbiased opinion.

Backdoor Money

Kennedy May Obtain $40 Billion In 'Unobligated Balances'

Kennedy advisers on government finance, working with the Bureau of the Budget, have devised ways to get money for administration projects through the backdoor of the Treasury which might give the President access to an estimated $40 billion in "unobligated balances".

To finance his $2 billion standby public works bill, a project which the White House would administer through the executive branch of the government as the old PWA and WPA programs were during the leaf raking days of the depression, the planners hit upon the idea of using the borrowing authority of three independent agencies, but they are encountering reluctance of the heads of those agencies, and from the State Department itself, although the bill giving the requested authority has already been reported to the Senate.

This story of frenzied administration finance involves the International Bank for Reconstruction and Development — the so called World Bank — the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation, which insures bank deposits up to $10,000, and the Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corporation and the Federal Housing and Home Finance Agency, which stands behind the billions in insured mortgages on new homes built since World War II.

The jumble of agency titles is confusing, and so is the explanation of earmarked funds and unobligated balances which the financial advisors figured out the White House could use to finance the public works program.

The purpose of course is to get around direct appropriations by Congress, which would add to the already large deficit in prospect for the second fiscal year of the Kennedy administration.

"Back door" financing has the advantage of being a bookkeeping arrangement by which funds are transferred from one agency to another and can thus be carried on the Treasury books as loans, to be repaid when and if demand is made.

All of the government agencies affected were queried by Senator John Sherman Cooper (Rep.-Ky.) about their views on the proposed transfers of funds and the following angles developed:

Cooper pointed out that more than $1 billion of the bonds of the World Bank were owned by United States investors. The United States government is obligated to pay an additional $5 billion as a subscription to the bank. The question was raised by the State Department whether use of this "unobligated balance" as a plan to the public works fund might not be viewed by the bond holders as "breaking faith" and make it difficult to raise additional funds for the bank by selling additional bonds.

The Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation which has no problem when few banks fail, and has a fund of more than 2 billion dollars to protect bank depositors up to $10,000 has an authorized borrowing power of an additional $3 billion. It is this authority to borrow from the Treasury which comes under the designation of "unobligated funds" so far as the Budget Bureau is concerned, and which unless the language of the public works bill is changed, would give the White House authority to divert $2 billion to the public works fund.

Earl Cocke, Chairman of FDIC pointed out that his organization has no authority to borrow from anyone else other than the Treasury and that in the event of a serious economic downturn, accompanied by a large number of bank failures "neither the public confidence engendered by the existence of federal deposit insurance nor the improvements in banking or bank supervision would be sufficient to prevent these failures which would be a consequence of economic dislocations of a fundamental character."

The Federal Home Loan Bank Board which is the administrative head of the Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corporation informed Cooper that it has a borrowing authority not to exceed $750 million which would be transferrable under the President's plan.

heartbeat to go up with the blood pressure.

Dr. Ashton Grabiel, a Navy heart specialist, said this "anomaly" warranted further study.

While Carpenter underwent the first of two days of de-briefing on the island, his Aurora-7 capsule was flown back to Cape Canaveral—burned somewhat from the 3,000 degree temperatures of re-entry, but with the American flag painted on its side still showing.

Scientists went over it meticulously, hunting in its control system for a sign of what went wrong. Despite his troubles, Carpenter insisted he considered the flight "a snap," and said that at the end, when no one knew where he was, "I didn't either."

Something went wrong with the Aurora-7 between Hawaii and California on the final orbit when Carpenter was getting ready to fire the retro-rockets to brake the 17,532-mile-per-hour speed of his space craft and start it back toward earth. He had to take over manual control of the capsule at this most vital point in its flight.

The capsule was supposed to be on automatic control at this point, but Carpenter's own instruments and his experience as a Navy test pilot convinced him this was a case where a human being and not a machine should be in charge.

By cross - checking his instruments and making visual observations through the space capsule window which has lines to denote proper relationship with the horizon, Carpenter determined that his visual observations were correct. He promptly went on "fly-by-wire" control — a sort of power steering mechanism — even though his hydrogen peroxide fuel was dangerously low.

What's more, Carpenter said, he is convinced that he had the capsule in the proper position for re-entry.

Lt. Col. John A. (Shorty) Powers said the retro - rocket firing was "less than perfect" but if Carpenter is right about having the capsule in the proper attitude, then "we've got some surprises" for Project Mercury officials who ascribed the overshoot to a too-shallow re-entry path.

"People who tell us not to send a man (into space) should take a page from this book," Powers said.

Scientists and doctors sat down with the astronaut Friday afternoon for an exhaustive round of engineering and flight questions and medical checkups.

He did not get to bed until 3:30 a.m. EDT Friday morning, slept seven hours, and then appeared relaxed and fully rested.

He insisted the flight "really was a snap. It went off very well."

But Carpenter apologized for the dramatic, cliff-hanging ending that "kept a lot of people, including my family and the people in the control center worried."

Carpenter and Marine Lt. Col. John H. Glenn Jr., the first American to orbit the earth, huddled for a long time Thursday night after Carpenter was flown here from the aircraft carrier Intrepid. They engaged in a lot of "friendly jousting" about the luminous objects both saw as their space ships came through the "dawn" over the California coast line.

Carpenter insisted they were like snowflakes, and Glenn said they looked more like fireflies. Carpenter snapped some pictures of the objects with a pistol-grip 35-mm camera he carried with him.

He telephoned his attractive, blonde wife, Rene, Thursday night. She and the four Carpenter children had watched the rocket shot that put Carpenter into orbit from Cape Canaveral.

Carpenter left his space capsule through the top after it splashed down in the ocean between Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands. He said he could have left it through a side hatch but feared that if he did so it would fill with water and sink as astronaut Virgil I. Grissom's Liberty Bell-7 capsule did after a sub-orbital flight last July.

Carpenter's capsule was flown to Cape Canaveral from Puerto Rico Friday afternoon for scientific inspection.

ly and the secretary may sell off large stocks of the government held surpluses.

Missing from the Senate bill is an administration request for a new milk and dairy control and support proposal. Both the Senate Agriculture Committee and Senate turned down efforts to include this.

A last-minute effort to get in a new dairy program was defeated 70 to 13.

But the Senate bill includes revisions of several laws and programs intended to induce farmers to convert grain and crop lands into wildlife refuges, to water conservation or to recreational purposes.

One of these is a pilot program, limited to $10 million a year, for assistance to individuals and state or local agencies in establishing recreation areas.

The bill also would:

Expand existing export sale and disposal efforts for U.S. farm surpluses.

Use repayments on past loans by the Rural Electrification Administration to create a pool for future loans.

Set up a new agency in the Agriculture Department to push industrial uses of farm commodities, including research on both products and markets.

On the final vote, 41 Democrats and a lone Republican—Sen. Milton R. Young of North Dakota—voted for passage. Against the bill were 8 Democrats and 30 Republicans.

Republicans predicted dire results from the new controls just before passage.

Sen. George D. Aiken, R-Vt., predicted that food costs would rise and farm income drop unless there are substantial government subsidies in both fields.

Several Western Republicans argued that the feed grain controls are a first step toward control of all livestock, poultry, dairy and meat production.

The new wheat program has been called a domestic allotment or two-price plan and had won senate passage in previous years only to die in the house.

It would abolish the present 5-million-acre minimum national wheat allotment and substitute a a minimum of 1 billion bushels. to get price supports, growers must stay within individual allotments.

The feed grain controls would apply to corn, grain sorghums, and most barley with a minimum national allotment of all such grains of 110 million tons. The administration had asked that oats and rye be included in the controls but the Senate exempted them.

MATTHEW F. MCCLOSKY, of Philadelphia, until recently treasurer of the Democratic National Committee, who has been mentioned as in line for post of ambassador to Ireland. He would succeed Grant Stockdale, of Miami, Fla., whose resignation was accepted by President Kennedy, it was announced in Washington Friday. (AP Wirephoto)

Rusk Urges World Space Supervision

stead of a battleground:

1. Keeping outer space free for use by all nations as long as this use follows the principles of the U.N. charter.

2. Extension of international law to outer space.

3. Clear identification of rights and adjudication of disputes between nations in outer space activities.

In that connection, Rusk said there must be means of helping to rescue astronauts who land unexpectedly in foreign territory and for determining liability for damage caused by objects returning from space.

4. Useful applications of space technology, such as communications and weather satellites, should be available to all nations, in line with their needs.

5. Opportunities to take part in space activities should be open to all nations according to the extent to which they "cooperate constructively" in the space ventures.

6. As the United States has proposed at the Geneva disarmament conference, the orbiting of mass-destruction weapons should be outlawed.

"We hope that these principles will continue to be embodied in reliable and enduring agreements which in the future will concern all nations," Rusk said.

However, he declared, Communist leaders "seek to subject the whole world to their system."

He said the United States, nonetheless, has not given up hope of getting Red agreement on disarmament and a nuclear test ban. And, in effect, he challenged them to join, too, in channeling space development to peaceful uses.

Atkinson Wins By 449 Votes

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla. (AP)—Election board tabulations Friday gave W. P. Atkinson, millionaire builder, a 449-vote victory over former Gov. Raymond Gary for the Democratic nomination for governor.

A recount of ballots probably will start Monday.

The board tabulation, completed when returns from the last two counties arrived, gave Atkinson 231,994 votes in Tuesday's runoff, and Gary 231,454.

Eelction board officials said in their memory no statewide race has ever been reversed by a recount of ballots. However, this one is the closest gubernatorial contest in Oklahoma history.

Weapon Charge Nets Sentence In Monroe Court

Fining of a 37-year-old Monroe Negro $350 and costs or seven months in jail for carrying a concealed weapon led Friday's activity in Monroe municipal court before Judge W. M. Harper.

Identified in court records as Fred Hartwell, 2708 Prospect St., he also drew a fine of $25 or 25 days for public drunkenness.

A 21-year-old Negro, Eugene Smith, whose address was shown as city jail, was handed a combined sentence of $140 or 115 days on conviction of three charges, drawing $75 or 60 days for damage to property, $40 or 30 days for disturbing the peace and $25 or 25 days for public drunkenness.

Also for public drunkenness, Willie Knox, 42, 403 Thomas St., received a 90 - day compulsory sentence, as did 28-year-old Thomas J. James, 523 Georgia St., for theft. Theft charges against Lee Blank were nolle prossed on payment of $10 court costs; age and address on Blank were not available as charges were dropped before he could be booked.

Also nolle prossed on payment of $10 court costs were simple battery counts against 31-year-old Nell Elliott, 1611 S. 7th St., and Negro Bennie Lewis, 32, Theresa Hotel.

Traffic court saw six bonds of from $5 to $15 forfeited, as well as three $5 bonds for running stop signs and four of $5 for running red lights. A $25 fine was suspended in one stop sign violation. Following too closely cost one person $10 or 10 days; reckless driving cost two others the same amount, while two $25 bonds were forfeited and a fifth case was nolle prossed.

Department Store Sales Show Gain

CHICAGO (UPI) — Department store sales soared 17 per cent above a year ago in its district during the week ended May 19, the Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago reported Friday.

The Bank said an unseasonable heat wave boosted demand for summer clothing and other hot weather items. Total sales were the largest on record for any week other than during the Christmas season.

Nationally, department stores reported a 7 per cent increase from the same week of 1961.

Indianapolis led the seventh district with a 27 per cent gain. Chicago rose 14 per cent with State Street up 8 per cent and other outlets 18 per cent. Detroit jumped 22 per cent, downtown Indianapolis 15 per cent, Milwaukee 7 per cent and Grand Rapids, Mich., 1 per cent.

District sales for the first 20 weeks of 1962 averaged 7 per cent ahead of the comprable 1961 period, and stores across the nation were 6 per cent higher.

Bond Is Posted By Suspect On Murder Charge

FRANKLIN, La. (AP) — With her only comment a contention she is innocent, Mrs. Ressie Folse Toups Friday left the St. Mary Parish jail where she had been held on charges of murdering one husband and the attempted murder of another.

She was released on $10,000 bond and her case referred to the September term of the parish grand jury. The present grand jury spent three days investigating the case but reached no decision.

Attorney G. Wray Gill represented Mrs. Toups and filed a motion for a preliminary hearing.

The dark-haired former school bus driver was charged with the murder of Octave J. Folse Jr., her second husband, and the attempted murder of Laurie Ira Toups, a Berwick druggist whom she married in 1960.

Mrs. Toups was arrested last March after doctors at a New Orleans hospital found that Toups, then making his sixth visit to the hospital for undisclosed ailment, was found suffering from arsenic poisoning.

Authorities ordered the body of Folse exhumed and the Orleans Parish coroner's office said the St. Mary Parish school teacher's body contained arsenic.

Judge Rene H. Himel set the amount of bond—$5,000 on each charge.

Police Use Tear Gas On Legislature

LAGOS, Nigeria (AP)—Federal police hurled tear-gas bombs Friday to break up two stormy fist-fighting sessions of the Western Regional Legislature at Ibadan. One government member was carried from the gas filled chamber covered with blood.

The violence prompted Nigerian Prime Minister Sir Abubakar Tafawa Balewa to summon the National Parliament into extraordinary session. In a radio speech to the nation, Balewa said the explosive situation in western Nigeria, touched off by a request for a confidence vote in the new regional government, could not be permitted to continue.

The federal police chief said the injured government member, Trade and Industry Minister S. Y. Kess-Nmomoh, had been stabbed with a knife. Observers in the chamber said, however, that he was hit by a thrown object. He was discharged from a hospital after treatment.

The regional capital of Ibadan had been simmering on the brink of violence for over a week following the dismissal of the premier, Chief S. S. Akintola, after a split in the governing party.

The Friday meeting was the first following the government turnover and it erupted into pandemonium within seconds after the traditional opening prayers.

Set up a new agency in the Agriculture Department to push industrial uses of farm commodities, including research on both products and markets.

On the final vote, 41 Democrats and a lone Republican—Sen. Milton R. Young of North Dakota —voted for passage. Against the bill were 8 Democrats and 30 Republicans.

Republicans predicted dire results from the new controls just before passage.

Sen. George D. Aiken, R-Vt., predicted that food costs would rise and farm income drop unless there are substantial government subsidies in both fields.

Several Western Republicans argued that the feed grain controls are a first step toward control of all livestock, poultry, dairy and meat production.

The new wheat program has been called a domestic allotment or two-price plan and had won senate passage in previous years only to die in the house.

It would abolish the present 5-million-acre minimum national wheat allotment and substitute a a minimum of 1 billion bushels. to get price supports, growers must stay within individual allotments.

The feed grain controls would apply to corn, grain sorghums, and most barley with a minimum national allotment of all such grains of 110 million tons. The administration had asked that oats and rye be included in the controls but the Senate exempted them.

Rusk Urges World Space Supervision

stead of a battleground:

1. Keeping outer space free for use by all nations as long as this use follows the principles of the U.N. charter.

2. Extension of international law to outer space.

3. Clear identification of rights and adjudication of disputes between nations in outer space activities.

In that connection, Rusk said there must be means of helping to rescue astronauts who land unexpectedly in foreign territory and for determining liability for damage caused by objects returning from space.

4. Useful applications of space technology, such as communications and weather satellites, should be available to all nations, in line with their needs.

5. Opportunities to take part in space activities should be open to all nations according to the extent to which they "cooperate constructively" in the space ventures.

6. As the United States has proposed at the Geneva disarmament conference, the orbiting of mass-destruction weapons should be outlawed.

"We hope that these principles will continue to be embodied in reliable and enduring agreements which in the future will concern all nations," Rusk said.

However, he declared, Communist leaders "seek to subject the whole world to their system."

He said the United States, nonetheless, has not given up hope of getting Red agreement on disarmament and a nuclear test ban. And, in effect, he challenged them to join, too, in channeling space development to peaceful uses.

Atkinson Wins By 449 Votes

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla. (AP) —Election board tabulations Friday gave W. P. Atkinson, millionaire builder, a 449-vote victory over former Gov. Raymond Gary for the Democratic nomination for governor.

A recount of ballots probably will start Monday.

The board tabulation, completed when returns from the last two counties arrived, gave Atkinson 231,994 votes in Tuesday's runoff, and Gary 231,454.

Eelction board officials said in their memory no statewide race has ever been reversed by a recount of ballots. However, this one is the closest gubernatorial contest in Oklahoma history.

Department Store Sales Show Gain

CHICAGO (UPI) — Department store sales soared 17 per cent above a year ago in its district during the week ended May 19, the Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago reported Friday.

The Bank said an unseasonable heat wave boosted demand for summer clothing and other hot weather items. Total sales were the largest on record for any week other than during the Christmas season.

Nationally, department stores reported a 7 per cent increase from the same week of 1961.

Indianapolis led the seventh district with a 27 per cent gain. Chicago rose 14 per cent with State Street up 8 per cent and other outlets 18 per cent. Detroit jumped 22 per cent, downtown Indianapolis 15 per cent, Milwaukee 7 per cent and Grand Rapids, Mich., 1 per cent.

District sales for the first 20 weeks of 1962 averaged 7 per cent ahead of the comprable 1961 period, and stores across the nation were 6 per cent higher.

Bond Is Posted By Suspect On Murder Charge

FRANKLIN, La. (AP) — With her only comment a contention she is innocent, Mrs. Ressie Folse Toups Friday left the St. Mary Parish jail where she had been held on charges of murdering one husband and the attempted murder of another.

She was released on $10,000 bond and her case referred to the September term of the parish grand jury. The present grand jury spent three days investigating the case but reached no decision.

Attorney G. Wray Gill represented Mrs. Toups and filed a motion for a preliminary hearing.

The dark-haired former school bus driver was charged with the murder of Octave J. Folse Jr., her second husband, and the attempted murder of Laurie Ira Toups, a Berwick druggist whom she married in 1960.

Mrs. Toups was arrested last March after doctors at a New Orleans hospital found that Toups, then making his sixth visit to the hospital for undisclosed ailment, was found suffering from arsenic poisoning.

Authorities ordered the body of Folse exhumed and the Orleans Parish coroner's office said the St. Mary Parish school teacher's body contained arsenic.

Judge Rene H. Himel set the amount of bond—$5,000 on each charge.

Police Use Tear Gas On Legislature

LAGOS, Nigeria (AP)—Federal police hurled tear-gas bombs Friday to break up two stormy fist-fighting sessions of the Western Regional Legislature at Ibadan. One government member was carried from the gas filled chamber covered with blood.

The violence prompted Nigerian Prime Minister Sir Abubakar Tafawa Balewa to summon the National Parliament into extraordinary session. In a radio speech to the nation, Balewa said the explosive situation in western Nigeria, touched off by a request for a confidence vote in the new regional government, could not be permitted to continue.

The federal police chief said the injured government member, Trade and Industry Minister S. Y. Kess-Nmomoh, had been stabbed with a knife. Observers in the chamber said, however, that he was hit by a thrown object. He was discharged from a hospital after treatment.

The regional capital of Ibadan had been simmering on the brink of violence for over a week following the dismissal of the premier, Chief S. S. Akintola, after a split in the governing party.

The Friday meeting was the first following the government turnover and it erupted into pandemonium within seconds after the traditional opening prayers.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

KNOBBY FINGERS

Heberden's nodes are one of the most common forms of arthritis. They appear as small hard knobs over the tops of the finger joints nearest the nails. These pea sized nodes are tender and painful at first but distress subsides in time and the swellings remain thereafter as evidence of the disease.

The course of this type of osteoarthritis has been followed for years. It does not necessarily spread to various joints of the body but is confined to the fingers, in contrast to other forms of arthritis.

The rheumatoid variety, for example, also affects the hands but usually involves the knuckles and the second or middle joints. Swelling of the latter imparts a spindle shape to the fingers, in contrast to Heberden's nodes, which appear near the end of the digit.

The cause is not known except that swelling represents a thickening or spurring of the joint. The condition is hereditary but is partial to the female members of the family. The nodes usually appear during mid life, especially about the age of the menopause.

The baseball finger is a traumatic form of Heberden's nodes. There is immediate enlargement of the joint following an injury such as when the end of the finger is hit by a baseball or hammer or is caught in a slammed door. Spontaneous healing occurs but the telltale deformity persists.

Discomfort in Heberden's nodes is aggravated by motion and dampness and relieved by warmth and rest. There are no remedies except aspirin and heat to relieve distress. Women find that washing dishes in hot water brings on temporary relief. Paraffin baths also are helpful.

But, regardless of treatment, pain usually subsides within 6 months. Many persons are bothered for longer periods, especially when one finger is affected at a time so that there is a node on at least one digit over a period of years.

REPLY

See your physician for a thoro checkup to rule out an organic cause of your fatigue. If you are healthy, there may be psychological reasons for not wanting to do housework or you may be just plain lazy.

LOSS OF CONSCIOUSNESS

D.M. writess: What is the difference between a faint and a heart attack?

REPLY

Three months' recovery. Ordinary fainting is a temporary loss of consciousness, often of emotional origin. The individual rests 10 to 20 minutes and gets up and about, depending upon the cause. A heart attack is due to obstruction (thrombosis) of the coronary artery. The individual usually spends six weeks in bed and an equal period convalescing.

LAB WORK

T.N. writes: Can any doctor determine the amount of cholesterol in the blood?

The physician can draw blood but usually sends it to a laboratory for analysis. The majority learned how to do chemical tests when in medical school but do not have the time and the equipment to do their own laboratory work.

THIS WAS THE CIVIL WAR

By MERTON T. AKERS
United Press International

At the end of May 1862 — an usually rainy month in the peninsula of Virginia — Gen. Joseph E. Johnston, his army backed up to Richmond, the Confederate capital, saw a chance to deal a blow to the Union Army of the Potomac.

One corps of the Army of the Potomac was isolated. Now Johnston was in a position to slice off a big bite of the 100,000 man Federal force and chew it up before reinforcements could arrive.

Johnston was being pushed by his own government as well as by the Army of the Potomac. President Jefferson Davis kept prodding him to fight or at least reveal his over - all plan of defending Richmond. Johnston was telling Davis nothing, conditioned perhaps by earlier leaks of military information to Richmond newspapers which were read every day by Maj. Gen. George B. McClellan, commanding the Army of the Potomac.

The Confederate commander ordered his troops into action at dawn May 31.

The isolated Federal corps — the IVth — was commanded by Maj. Gen. Erasmus D. Keyes. It lay east of a road junction called Seven Pines, about six miles east of Richmond where Nine - Mile road and the Williamsburg Stage road, both running southeast from Richmond, crossed.

About a mile north of Seven Pines lay Fair Oaks, a village station on the Richmond and York River railroad. Two miles north of Fair Oaks the Chickahominy River, a sluggish stream normally from 30 to 60 feet wide, ran eastward. it was lined on both sides with bottom land which overflowed in every heavy rain.

Three corps of the Army of the Potomac lay north of the river. Several bridges, both permanent and pontoon, arched the stream.

Keyes' IVth corps and the IIIrd, commanded by Maj. Gen. Samuel F. Heintzelman, were south of the river, the IIIrd well east of Keyes.

That was the setting Johnston chose for the battle which would be called Seven Pines or Fair Oaks, the first of a month - long series of bloody fights for Richmond.

Johnston's battle plan called for a double envelopment, a complicated maneuver even for veteran troops and a trained staff, neither of which Johnston had.

One part of the Confederate army under Maj. Gen. Gustzvus Smith was ordered to keep the three Federal corps north of the Chickahominy from going to the aid of Keyes. The main part under Maj. Gen. James Longstreet was to attack Keyes along Nine-Mile road. Another part under Maj. Gen. D. H. Hill was to attack along the Williamsburg Stage road. Maj. Gen. Benjamin Huger with a division was to guard the Confederate right flank on the south.

It rained all night on May 30-31 and the slow - flowing Chickahominy ran over its banks, further isolating the Federal corps north of the river and making General Smith's part of the battle appear comparatively easy.

But Longstreet failed to move his troops along Nine - Mile Road as verbally ordered by Johnston. Instead he was on the Williamsburg road part of the time. All morning staff officers galloped through the mud and backwaters of the Chickahominy trying to straighten out the commands.

Although the battle was scheduled to start at dawn, noon came and went without action.

At 1 p.m. Hill attacked alone. His brigade ran into Keyes' forward division commanded by Brig. Gen. Silas Casey. The fighting was fierce, the casualties heavy as they battled in the boggy ground and in the flood waters sometimes waist deep. Casey was severely wounded in the fighting but won a major generalship. The Federals were pushed back to their second line, then to the third before Brig. Gen. Phil Kearney's division came up from the east and Maj. Gen. Edwin V. Sumner succeeded in moving some troops across the Chickahominy on shaky pontoon bridges.

Later in the afternoon when Smith drove against Keyes' right flank, it had been reinforced enough to repulse the attack.

All the Confederate attacks were delivered piecemeal despite Johnston's best effort to strike firces. But amateur staff work, slow communications between the Confederate forces and lack of marching skill by the green troops combined to bog down the Rebels in the Chickahominy mud and give the Federals time enough to fight delaying actions and form new battle lines.

At 7 p.m., Johnston trying to bring some order into the attacks, by riding over the field, was hit in the right shoulder by a musket ball and a moment later knocked off his horse by a shell fragment in the chest. He was gravely wounded. Smith took temporary command.

The fighting ceased at dark.

Smith ordered his troops to renew the battle the next day, June 1, a Sunday. But fresh Federals troops had crossed the Chickahominy during the night and two Confederate attacks were repulsed easily. Smith called off the fight about noon.

Of 41,797 troops in the battle the Federals lost 790 killed, 3,594 wounded, 647 missing. The Confederates, of 41,816 effective troops, lost 980 killed, 4,749 wounded and 405 missing.

President Davis and his military adviser, Gen. Robert E. Lee, were on the field at Seven Pines.

That Sunday night Davis and Lee rode slowly back to Richmond threading their horses through vehicles carrying wounded to the capital.

Somewhere on that ride, in words which history failed to record, Davis appointed Lee to command the Confederate Army in place of Johnston.

But at this point in his career, Lee was regarded as a failure. He had lost in West Virginia and had failed to stop the Union Army on the southeast coast.

The Richmond Examiner saluted him on his appointment with: "Evacuating Lee, who has never yet risked a single battle with the invader, is commanding general."

Lee paid little mind to the critics and set his men to work fortifying the lines.

Freedom Riders Pose Problem In Hyannis Port

HYANNIS, Mass. (AP) — The nearby Cape Cod town of Barnstable Friday faced the problem of housing 30 Negroes who came north with their transportation paid by citizens councils.

By June 15, the dormitory facilities in which the Negroes from Arkansas, Louisiana and Georgia are housed must be turned back to the Cape Cod Community College, preparing to open to students for its summer term.

Even if all the adults sent to Barnstable from Little Rock and Huttig, Ark., from Shreveport, La., and Macon, Ga., were able to find temporary summer jobs in this vacation resort, the problem of housing would remain unsolved.

A Massachusetts congressman, Hastings Keith, R, has been asked by a representative in the Massachusetts Legislature, to seek welfare aid of the kind in which Massachusetts Gov. John A. Volpe already has interested himself.

Volpe's plan is to ask the federal government to reduce welfare payments to Southern states and make equivalent compensation to Massachusetts for funds spent to support impoverished Southern Negroes.

Johnston's battle plan called for a double envelopment, a complicated maneuver even for veteran troops and a trained staff, neither of which Johnston had.

One part of the Confederate army under Maj. Gen. Gustzvus Smith was ordered to keep the three Federal corps north of the Chickahominy from going to the aid of Keyes. The main part under Maj. Gen. James Longstreet was to attack Keyes along Nine-Mile road. Another part under Maj. Gen. D. H. Hill was to attack along the Williamsburg Stage road. Maj. Gen. Benjamin Huger with a division was to guard the Confederate right flank on the south.

It rained all night on May 30-31 and the slow - flowing Chickahominy ran over its banks, further isolating the Federal corps north of the river and making General Smith's part of the battle appear comparatively easy.

But Longstreet failed to move his troops along Nine - Mile Road as verbally ordered by Johnston. Instead he was on the Williamsburg road part of the time. All morning staff officers galloped through the mud and backwaters of the Chickahominy trying to straighten out the commands.

Although the battle was scheduled to start at dawn, noon came and went without action.

At 1 p.m. Hill attacked alone. His brigade ran into Keyes' forward division commanded by Brig. Gen. Silas Casey. The fighting was fierce, the casualties heavy as they battled in the boggy ground and in the flood waters sometimes waist deep. Casey was severely wounded in the fighting but won a major generalship. The Federals were pushed back to their second line, then to the third before Brig. Gen. Phil Kearney's division came up from the east and Maj. Gen. Edwin V. Sumner succeeded in moving some troops across the Chickahominy on shaky pontoon bridges.

Later in the afternoon when Smith drove against Keyes' right flank, it had been reinforced enough to repulse the attack.

All the Confederate attacks were delivered piecemeal despite Johnston's best effort to strike firces. But amateur staff work, slow communications between the Confederate forces and lack of marching skill by the green troops combined to bog down the Rebels in the Chickahominy mud and give the Federals time enough to fight delaying actions and form new battle lines.

At 7 p.m., Johnston trying to bring some order into the attacks. by riding over the field, was hit in the right shoulder by a musket ball and a moment later knocked off his horse by a shell fragment in the chest. He was gravely wounded. Smith took temporary command.

The fighting ceased at dark.

Smith ordered his troops to renew the battle the next day, June 1, a Sunday. But fresh Federals troops had crossed the Chickahominy during the night and two Confederate attacks were repulsed easily. Smith called off the fight about noon.

Of 41,797 troops in the battle the Federals lost 790 killed, 3,594 wounded, 647 missing. The Confederates, of 41,816 effective troops, lost 980 killed, 4,749 wounded and 405 missing.

President Davis and his military adviser, Gen. Robert E. Lee, were on the field at Seven Pines.

That Sunday night Davis and Lee rode slowly back to Richmond threading their horses through vehicles carrying wounded to the capital.

Somewhere on that ride, in words which history failed to record, Davis appointed Lee to command the Confederate Army in place of Johnston.

But at this point in his career, Lee was regarded as a failure. He had lost in West Virginia and had failed to stop the Union Army on the southeast coast.

The Richmond Examiner saluted him on his appointment with:

"Evacuating Lee, who has never yet risked a single battle with the invader, is commanding general."

Lee paid little mind to the critics and set his men to work fortifying the lines.

The Celebrities: Don't believe any stories about Elizabeth Taylor's "next" film assignment. At the moment, the lady herself hasn't made up her mind about the next step in her career. There's nothing in the world that she wants right now except Richard Burton. And something must be cooking in that complicated Rome situation because the alert signals have been hoisted again — two mornings ago, Burton's agent, Hugh French, and Elizabeth's agent, Kurt Frings, flew to Italy in answer to "rush" summonses . . .

Vince Edwards, who arrived here by train with Sherry North, is now incommunicado, but he's been introducing her to his family, and close friends wouldn't be surprised if the star of TV's "Ben Casey" made Sherry his bride in the near future. But they predict he won't take out the marriage license in Manhattan because he's afraid the press would recognize him and print something about it. (Now isn't that silly? Really, Vince, marriage is absolutely legal —even in New York — so why Mickey Mouse around with it"

It wasn't the fingerprints that gave the lead to the police when two of New York's Finest were killed by gunmen the other day—it was the mob. The gangsters filled in the police not only with the names of the slayers but the identities of the accomplices who helped them get away. Their motive? They didn't want the mob to get a bad name, and they thought this particular shooting was in very poor taste.

George Preston Marshall, colorful owner of the Washington Redskins (and ex-husband of silent film star Corinne Griffith), flew up from Washington for a few days — principally to woo Norman Darwin, a beautiful TV model . . . There was marvelous musical mayhem at the Left Bank when Lionel Hampton dropped by unexpectedly with two of his new sidemen, trumpeter Hobart Dotson and tenor sax player Fred Jackson. They're both terrific discoveries, and of course Hamp rates high on anybody's list of Living Angels . . . One of the gimmicks the Republicans have is the flash that all the astronauts voted Republican in the last presidential election. (And you know ho much good it"l do them? None at all.)

Bobby Darin has been so irritable recently, and Sandra Dee has looked so downcast, chums fear their tribulations may become headlines. An example of Bobby's recent moodiness: the other night Peter Lawford and his wife, President Kennedy's sister Pat, visited the Copacabana with a party of friends and after Bobby's second show invited him to join their table. Bobby sent an emissary to tell the Lawfords that he doesn't sit at anyobody's table. Quite naturally the Lawfords were a bit miffed, as they'd only meant to congratulate him on his performance, and they are part of the White House family.

Hedy Lamarr and her most recent husband, Howard Lee (now wed to Gene Tierny) are apt to wind up in the same courtroom. Hedy wants more alimony . . . And Ruth Roman's lawyer has taken note of a magazine layout on her ex - husband, Mortimer Hall, and his ocean - going yacht, figuring Ruth ought to be getting more money for child support. The attorney says: "All we are asking is an increase about equal to what he pays his captain."

Vera Vera, the former Latin Quarter showgirl, and her bridegroom, Curtis Swift Jr., have recently had a baby, but things aren't going too smoothly in their fabulously expensive apartment on the East River. They're being polite about it all while his wealthy mother is visiting them, but friends think there'll be an explosion as soon as mama has left . . . And while we're on the subject of marital upsets, friends have been waiting for over six months for the wife of one of the nation's most important tycoons to "drop the other shoe." They know she's learned about the other woman, and they're aware of the quarrels, but so far she hasn't made a move toward divorce.

The big gasp in Las Vegas is Keely Smith's current romance—a columnist for an unusual publication. And the way they hold hands in public, they don't seem to care who knows about it . . . Meanwhile, back in New York, Louis Prima is seeing that his new vocalist, Gia Maione, has a proper breakfast — complete with cuddling — in a faraway corner of Reuben's after their work is over . . . Janet Leigh's doctor wants her to gain quite a few pounds. She's always had an enviable waistline, but recently she's lost too much weight . . . Quote from Sean Flynn, Errol's son:

"Actors are supposed to be interesting. Personally, I think they're the most egotistical bores in the world. I much prefer the company of writers." (Sounds as if Sean were an actor, doesn't it?)

Cuba isn't the only Communist country bartering in human misery. A former Romanian industrialist (now a New York millionaire) just got a family out of Romania by paying $2,500 a head. He told the FBI all about the deal. His comment: "The top exports behind the Iron Curtain are human beings" . . . Philip Dunne did such a splendid writing job on "Lisa," 20th Century - Fox has awarded him a tremendously challenging task—directing "The Agony and the Ecstasy" . . . Fans are just burgeoning with background on Doris Day. One points out that there was a Doris Day listed as a salesgirl in the 1937 play, "The Women."

Allen was a West Baton Rouge plantation owner who was wounded during the Civil War and came home to become governor of the state during the Confederacy. He later fled to Mexico when the confederacy toppled and died in exile there. He is buried on the old State Capitol grounds in Baton Rouge.

The statue will be presented by Lt. Gov. C. C. Aycock.

STEM HUNGRY TIDE

Red China Halts Refugee Exodus

HONG KONG (AP)—The mass flight of refugees across the Red Chinese border into teeming Hong Kong was abruptly choked off Friday, after three weeks. Red Chinese authorities apparently had taken positive action to stem the hungry tide that had overwhelmed British facilities in this crown colony and created a many-sided international problem.

British authorities announced that the flow of illegal immigrants across the colony's land frontier has markedly diminished and the situation is reverting to normal.

There was no immediate indication what Communist authorities on the other side of the border had done to halt an exodus which had poured 60,000 refugees into Hong Kong since May 1. But there was speculation that Communist guards were using force in the hills beyond the border, out of sight of British patrols.

Communist loudspeakers were silent after a full day of broadcasting exhortations to would-be refugees to return to their villages to help grow food.

Border sources said they heard no shooting and that all appeared to be orderly and quiet at the main crossing points which the refugees had been using.

Earlier this week, the British formally asked the Peiping government to take action to halt the mass flight which had embarrassed the London government. British authorities had strung barbed wire barriers along the border, evoking comparisons with the wall erected in Berlin by the Communists to keep refugees from fleeing to the West.

The British said Hong Kong, already overcrowded, just could not handle any more refugees. Fear of increased food shortages was cited by the Red Chinese refugees as a major reason for the exodus.

With the flow now dwindled to a tricle, the British announced they had withdrawn army units from patrol duty. They also said they closed the detention camp in which the refugees had been held until they could be shipped back across the border.

A cold, drizzling rain was believed to have aided the Communist guards in reimposing border controls. Since May 1, the weather had been miled to warm, with even the nights not too cold for thinly clad refugees waiting in the hills for a chance to slip across the border.

The British reference to the situation reverting to normal apparently meant border authorities expected refugees would continue to cross the border as they have done for years.

It was estimated that 15,000 to 18,000 crossed into Hong Kong during 1961. The number stepped up sharply to about 3,000 to 6,000 a month early this year, and then the flood struck early in May.

The influx of refugees into Portuguese Macao, 40 miles west of Hong Kong, also rose but nowhere near the Hong Kong proportions. Macao residents estimated May arrivals at close to 4,000.

In Taipei, Formosa, the Chinese Nationalist Parliament unanimously supported the government's decision to resettle all Chinese refugees who want to go to Formosa.

Reverse Freedom Riders Sent North

LITTLE ROCK, Ark (AP)—The Capital Citizens Council sent three more Negroes to Hyannis Port, Mass., Friday making a total of 28 it has sent to the Cape Cod summer resort.

Friday's reverse "Freedom Riders" were Esper Walker, 47; Jerome Smallwood 48, and Alfonce Montgomery, 22. All said they have not worked recently and want to go north in search of jobs.

Amis Guthridge, Citizens Council president, paid $51.26 for bus tickets for each of them. He gave each man $5 in cash.

"We've got enough money on hand to send three more and we have enough applications on file," he said.

Guthridge announced Sunday, after he sent two Negro women and 20 children on their way to Hyannis, that the council's Freedom Ride program would be interrupted because of lack of funds.

He indicated Friday the program would be continued now that it has resumed.

"I hope Ted Kennedy meets you in Hyannis," Guthridge told the three men. Edward Kennedy, younger brother of the President, greeted the first rider the council sent to Hyannis.

None of the three men who left Friday has a family.

Montgomery moved to Little Rock five years ago after quitting Morehouse Parish High School at Bastrop, La. He said he had done warehouse work but was unable to find regular employment.

All three men said no pressure had been put on them to leave Arkansas.

They are to arrive in Hyannis at 3:23 p.m. Sunday.

Missile Site Change Due By Air Force

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Air Force said Friday that some sites selected for underground deployment of the Minuteman intercontinental ballistic missile probably will be relocated to meet new safety requirements.

An announcement was issued after it was learned that more than 100 of the sites selected for the force of 800 missiles have been brought into question by an armed forces explosives safety board ruling.

The ruling held that the sites must be 1,200 feet from civilian dwellings or places of assembly.

The Air Force said in its announcement that "the Defense Department has decided that the minimum of 1,200 feet will be followed." But it added that Air Force Secretary Eugene M. Zuckert has been given authority to waive the requirement under certain conditions.

Officials emphasized that the danger would come from an industrial-type explosion of a missile's fuel, such as occurred in a Titan ICBM at Chico, Calif., Thursday.

They said the danger of a nuclear explosion involving a missile's warhead was so remote that it could be ignored.

No Minutemen have yet been deployed. But construction of the 85-foot-deep launching silos in which they will stand has started on some of the sites in question. Most of the sites involved were said to be near Whiteman Air Force Base, Knobnoster, Mo., where construction has not yet started.

Other Minutemen bases are near Rapid City, S.D., Cheyenne, Wyo., Great Falls, Mont., and Minot, N.D.

Until now, the Air Force has assumed that the launchers could be within 650 feet of such structures as farm houses or filling stations, although they must be at least 20 miles from towns with populations of as much as 25,000.

One estimate was that it might cost $25 million to make the adjustment.

STEM HUNGRY TIDE

Red China Halts Refugee Exodus

HONG KONG (AP)—The mass flight of refugees across the Red Chinese border into teeming Hong Kong was abruptly choked off Friday, after three weeks. Red Chinese authorities apparently had taken positive action to stem the hungry tide that had overwhelmed British facilities in this crown colony and created a many-sided international problem.

British authorities announced that the flow of illegal immigrants across the colony's land frontier has markedly diminished and the situation is reverting to normal.

There was no immediate indication what Communist authorities on the other side of the border had done to halt an exodus which had poured 60,000 refugees into Hong Kong since May 1. But there was speculation that Communist guards were using force in the hills beyond the border, out of sight of British patrols.

Communist loudspeakers were silent after a full day of broadcasting exhortations to would-be refugees to return to their villages to help grow food.

Border sources said they heard no shooting and that all appeared to be orderly and quiet at the main crossing points which the refugees had been using.

Earlier this week, the British formally asked the Peiping government to take action to halt the mass flight which had embarrassed the London government. British authorities had strung barbed wire barriers along the border, evoking comparisons with the wall erected in Berlin by the Communists to keep refugees from fleeing to the West.

The British said Hong Kong, already overcrowded, just could not handle any more refugees. Fear of increased food shortages was cited by the Red Chinese refugees as a major reason for the exodus.

With the flow now dwindled to a tricle, the British announced they had withdrawn army units from patrol duty. They also said they closed the detention camp in which the refugees had been held until they could be shipped back across the border.

A cold, drizzling rain was believed to have aided the Communist guards in reimposing border controls. Since May 1, the weather had been miled to warm, with even the nights not too cold for thinly clad refugees waiting in the hills for a chance to slip across the border.

The British reference to the situation reverting to normal apparently meant border authorities expected refugees would continue to cross the border as they have done for years.

It was estimated that 15,000 to 18,000 crossed into Hong Kong during 1961. The number stepped up sharply to about 3,000 to 6,000 a month early this year, and then the flood struck early in May.

The influx of refugees into Portuguese Macao, 40 miles west of Hong Kong, also rose but nowhere near the Hong Kong proportions. Macao residents estimated May arrivals at close to 4,000.

In Taipei, Formosa, the Chinese Nationalist Parliament unanimously supported the government's decision to resettle all Chinese refugees who want to go to Formosa.

IN 'FIX' PROBE

Lie Detector Test Results Are Given

WACO, Tex. (AP)—The Texas Department of Public Safety official who gave lie detector tests to 22 Southwest Conference officials said Friday night the results indicated one referee was involved in basketball game fixing and that two tests on another official were inconclusive.

H. A. Albert testified before the Texas House Investigating Committee that a lie detector test given to referee Bill Johnson of Lorena, Tex., indicated "he was untruthful when he denied participation in rigging and point shaving."

Albert also said that two tests given O'Dell Preston were inconclusive and that it was impossible from the tests to say whether he had been truthful in his answers or not.

Albert said Preston's first exam results could have been caused by the presence of a depressant in the blood stream or by exhaustion. The second test, he said, indicated "very erratic and distorted responses."

Preston and Johnson in previous testimony had both denied shaving points in basketball games.

"I've never rigged a game; I've never shaved points in a game," said Preston. "I'm not guilty of any wrong in any basketball game."

He said he had been accused of taking dope before his first lie detector test and that he never had gotten a report on the second one.

He was quizzed at length by David Witts of Dallas, counsel for the committee, on telephone calls received from Sig Dickson of Dallas, whom Witts asked Preston if he knew was a bookmaker. These calls were near games which Preston officiated last season. Preston denied any knowledge.

Johnson said he did not know what a point spread was and that he did not think an official could influence the result of a basketball game.

Johnson said the first he had heard about Southwest Conference basketball fiying was when Curtis contacted him last season and told him he was being taken off the Texas A&M-Rice game.

Curtis said, as he threw the bomb shell into the committee hearing that is looking into gambling in Texas, that Johnson and Preston never would be used in future games "so long as this situation continues."

Abb Curtis, testifying at the committee's gambling probe here, said he had felt since early in the year that O'Dell Preston and Bill Johnson "had been participating in shaving points."

Curtis said: "I certainly hate to do this. About the only thing you get out of this business is the satisfaction of being fair to the kids. But I definitely believe they have been participating in shaving points. I sure do. I have had that feeling for some time—since early in the year."

Earlier Friday, the committee cited Duck Mallard four times for contempt for refusal to answer questions about gambling in Texas.

Curtis said Preston and Johnson never would be used in future games "so long as this situation continues."

Curtis gave the details of an investigation by the Texas Department of Public Safety, the FBI and himself.

He said he could not determine from pictures of the games in question that there were any irregularities but that the results of the investigations that had been going on for several months had convinced him that the two "definitely had been shaving points."

Curtis declared he received his first reports that there was point fixing going on in conference basketball from an anonymous telephone call from Birmingham, Ala., in 1958. It said one of the officials was going to influence the outcome of the Southern Methodist-Texas Christian game. Johnson was the official named.

Curtis also said he got the athletic directors and coaches of the two schools together but they decided to keep quiet about the matter and see if Johnson affected the outcome. He added that the consensus was that nothing wrong could be detected.

Curtis also said he talked to Big Ten Conference officials and was told that gamblers were known to use such a plan to influence the outcome of games.

The next report, Curtis said, came from Homer Garrison, director of the Texas Department of Public Safety, who said he had heard the Rice-Texas A&M game last Feb. 7 was "in the bag" and that Preston and Johnson were "in on the deal."

Curtis said, however, that only Johnson worked the game.

Mallard, represented by State Sen. W. T. (Bill) Moore of Bryan, pleaded the Fifth Amendment 125 times. He refused to tell the committee where he lived, whether or not he was a Texas resident and other questions such as:

"How do you feel?"

Logan Single In 13th Gives Bucs 4-3 Win

HOUSTON (AP) — Johnny Logan's pinch-hit single with two out in the 13th inning drove in Bob Skinner with the winning run Friday night in Pittsburghs 4-3 triumph over Houston.

Skinner triggered the winning rally with his second triple of the evening, lashing a drive off Bobby Tiefenauer, the Colts' third pitcher.

Logan delivered his game-winning single batting for Elroy Face, who gained the victory with four innings of shut out relief pitching. Tom Sturdivant finished up.

The Pirates, shut out on the two-hit pitching of Bob Bruce for six innings, got to him for a run in the seventh and tied it with two in the eighth on a walk and singles by Dick Schofield, Dick Groat and Dick Stuart.

Essegian's Home Run Edges Nats

WASHINGTON (AP)—Chuck Essegian's 12th home run in the eighth inning gave Cleveland a 2-1 victory over the Washington Senators Friday night and pulled the Indians into a first place tie in the American League with New

Pete Ramos got his first win with the help of a quick relief job by Gary Bell in the ninth inning. Ramos left with a 2-1 count on Jim Piersall, the leadoff batter. Bell retired the side on seven pitches.

The Indians broke a scoreless tie in the sixth on Essegian's leadoff double and a single by Johnny Romano.

Essegian's blast barely carried over the fence in front of the Senators' bullpen to make it 2-0.

Danny O'Connell scored Washington's only run with his second homer in the eighth. It was the first run scored by the Senators this season for Claude Osteen, who lost for the fifth time in five starts. Osteen has pitched 26½ innings.

Osteen gave up eight hits in eight innings but was aided by three double plays.

Ramos allowed only four hits in the eight innings he pitched.

Ramos walked only one and the only inning in which Washington advanced a baserunner to second before O'Connell's homer was the second when Gene Woodling was safe on an error preceding Johnson's hit.

Pierce Gets 7th Victory; Giants Defeat Phillies

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Southpaw Billy Pierce staggered to his seventh victory without a loss and Willie Mays and Orlando Cepeda each hit home runs No. 14 Friday night to spark league-leading San Francisco past Philadelphia 10-7.

Pierce gave up 11 hits — four more than the Giants got — and needed help from Stu Miller in the ninth after John Callison smashed a three-run homer, his fourth hit of the night.

Opposing starter Jack Hamilton limited the Giants to three safeties in his 4 1-3 innings, but two were the homers and Hamilton, now 3-4, put four other runs aboard with his wildness.

He walked Pierce and Harvey Kuenn to open the third inning and threw wildly to third base on Chuck Hiller's bunt, Pierce scoring.

Then Mays smacked his home run 360 feet deep in left field.

Cepeda chased Hamilton in the fifth with a 390-foot four-bagger that followed a walk to Hiller.

The Candlestick Park crowd of 11,538 saw Pierce escape one jam by striking out Roy Sievers on three pitches with the bases full in the fifth frame.

Philadelphia's first run scored in the first when Callison tripled off Mays' glove and came home on a sacrifice fly. Ton Gonzalez homered with one aboard in the eighth to wrap up a three-run uprising, which made it 10-4.

10 Northeast Athletes On NAIA Track List

Ten individual athletes and five relay teams from Northeast Louisiana State are listed in National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics track statistics released this week.

One Northeast thinclad — Don Styron — is first in two events while another, distance runner Don (Buddy) Eiland, has bettered the NAIA mile record.

Eiland's mile time of 4:08.4 betters the NAIA standard by a second and is second among all NAIA milers. He also ranks fourth in the 880 with 1:52.2.

Three Indian relay teams have bettered NAIA records. The 440 - yard quartet of Charles McDonald, Owen Owen and Don and Dave Styron has clocked a 41.1 time, two tenths of a second under the record, the 880 foursome of the Styrons, Charles McDonald and Jay Goldsmith has bettered the record of 1:27.6 with a 1:25.9 time and the mile relay team of the Styrons, Randall Walker and John Baker has run the distance in 3:11.9 in regular season competition to better the mark of 3:14.3.

Only performances recorded in the NAIA championship track meet qualify as association records.

Northeast's mile relay time ranks second among NAIA schools, the 440 relay time is fourth and the 880 clocking is third. Northeast is also second in the sprint medley with 3:23.1 and second in the distance medley with 10:17.3.

AARON BOYS LEAD WAY

Braves Take 11-8 Win From Cards

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Hank Aaron drove in five runs with his seventh and eighth home runs and double Friday night to spark the Milwaukee Braves' 18-hit attack in their 11-8 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals.

The other Aaron, Tommy, clubbed three doubles and a single.

Roy McMillan and Joe Adcock also belted homers for the Braves. Ken Boyer and Carl Sawatski hit four-baggers for the Cardinals, who lost their third in a row.

There were 14 extra-base hits in the game, nine by the Braves.

Lew Burdette, fourth of five Milwaukee pitchers, was credited with his first victory in five decisions.

With the Braves trailing 5-4 in the seventh, Hank Aaron blasted a home run with two on to put his club in front for keeps. The big blow came off reliever Ray Washburn, who dropped his first decision after three victories.

The starting pitchers were Curt Simmons for the Cardinals and Jack Curtis for the Braves.

The Braves pounded Lindy McDaniel for four runs in the eighth to build their margin to 11-6.

Wagner's Single Puts Los Angeles Past Athletics

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Leon Wagner, the leading run producer among the Los Angeles Angels, bounced a single into right field in the eighth inning Friday night to drive Albie Pearson home and give the Angels a 5-4 victory over the Kansas City Athletics.

The Athletics had rallied for a run in the seventh to gain a 4-4 tie against Jack Spring. But after the Angels' southpaw was staked to his eighth inning lead he retired six men in order to wrap up his third straight victory. He has not lost.

Each club collected 12 hits and there were a number of brilliant defensive plays in the tense struggle. Bob Rodgers led the Los Angeles attack with three singles and a double. Norm Siebern and Jerry Lumpe each had three hits for the Athletics and Manny Jimenez, the league's leading hitter, contributed a homer and a double in four trips.

The Angels grabbed a 2-0 lead in the third, with Lee Thomas and Tom Burgess each driving in a run with a single. The A's tied the score in the last half of the inning as Siebern singled in a run and Jimenez doubled him home.

Detroit Homers Nip Yanks, 5-4

NEW YORK (AP) — Dick McAuliffe's three-run homer, capping a four-run first inning, and Chico Fernandez' bases-empty home run in the seventh gave the Detroit Tigers a 5-4 victory over the New York Yankees Friday night.

The defeat dropped the Yankees back into a tie for first place in the American League with Cleveland, which moved even by beating Washington 2-1.

Fernandez' homer, leading off the seventh against Bill Stafford (3-3), caused a heated dispute when it bounced back onto the field from the lower left field stands. Yankee outfielder Joe Pepitone, who made a leaping try, contended he knocked it back in play. The umpires ruled otherwise.

In the Tigers' first, Jake Wood reached base on Phil Linz' error, Billy Bruton singled and Norm Cash walked before Rocky Colavito got the first run across with a sacrifice fly. McAuliffe then homered.

The Yanks came back with three in the third on five singles—by Stafford, Bobby Richardson, Tom Tresh, Elston Howard and Hector Lopez. They scored again in the seventh when Fernandez made his third error of the game, allowing Roger Maris to get on. He eventually scored as Lopez hit into a force play.

Don Mossi (4-4) went the distance for the victory, surviving four Detroit errors and an 11-hit Yankee attack. The Tigers wound up with only five hits.

BOSTON (AP)—Baltimore first baseman Jim Gentile cracked his 13th home run, a two-run drive and drove in two runs with a single in a 9-5 victory over Boston Friday night.

Gentile followed a Brooks Robinson single with the blow which traveled nearly 500 feet into the center field bleachers in the sixth inning.

Robinson highlighted a three-run third when he tripled to drive across one tally and continued home on an error.

IN 'FIX' PROBE

Lie Detector Test Results Are Given

WACO, Tex. (AP)—The Texas Department of Public Safety official who gave lie detector tests to 22 Southwest Conference officials said Friday night the results indicated one referee was involved in basketball game fixing and that two tests on another official were inconclusive.

H. A. Albert testified before the Texas House Investigating Committee that a lie detector test given to referee Bill Johnson of Lorena, Tex., indicated "he was untruthful when he denied participation in rigging and point shaving."

Albert also said that two tests given O'Dell Preston were inconclusive and that it was impossible from the tests to say whether he had been truthful in his answers or not.

Albert said Preston's first exam results could have been caused by the presence of a depressant in the blood stream or by exhaustion. The second test, he said, indicated "very erratic and distorted responses."

Preston and Johnson in previous testimony had both denied shaving points in basketball games.

"I've never rigged a game; I've never shaved points in a game," said Preston. "I'm not guilty of any wrong in any basketball game."

Johnson said he had been accused of taking dope before his first lie detector test and that he never had gotten a report on the second one.

He was quizzed at length by David Witts of Dallas, counsel for the committee, on telephone calls received from Sig Dickson of Dallas, whom Witts asked Preston if he knew was a bookmaker. These calls were near games which Preston officiated last season. Preston denied any knowledge.

Johnson said he did not know what a point spread was and that he did not think an official could influence the result of a basketball game.

Johnson said the first he had heard about Southwest Conference basketball fixing was when Curtis contacted him last season and told him he was being taken off the Texas A&M-Rice game.

Curtis said that he threw the bomb shell into the committee hearing that is looking into gambling in Texas, that Johnson and Preston never would be used in future games "so long as this situation continues."

Curtis, testifying at the committee's gambling probe here, said he had felt since early in the year that O'Dell Preston and Bill Johnson "had been participating in shaving points."

Curtis said: "I certainly hate to do this. About the only thing you get out of this business is the satisfaction of being fair to the kids. But I definitely believe they have been participating in shaving points. I sure do. I have had that feeling for some time—since early in the year."

Earlier Friday, the committee cited Duck Mallard four times for contempt for refusal to answer questions about gambling in Texas.

Curtis said Preston and Johnson never would be used in future games "so long as this situation continues."

Curtis gave the details of an investigation by the Texas Department of Public Safety, the FBI and himself.

He said he could not determine from pictures of the games in question that there were any irregularities but that the results of the investigations that had been going on for several months had convinced him that the two "definitely had been shaving points."

Curtis declared he received his first reports that there was point fixing going on in conference basketball from an anonymous telephone call from Birmingham, Ala., in 1958. It said one of the officials was going to influence the outcome of the Southern Methodist-Texas Christian game. Johnson was the official named.

Curtis also said he got the athletic directors and coaches of the two schools together but they decided to keep quiet about the matter and see if Johnson affected the outcome. He added that the consensus was that nothing wrong could be detected.

Curtis also said he talked to Big Ten Conference officials and was told that gamblers were known to use such a plan to influence the outcome of games.

The next report, Curtis said, came from Homer Garrison, director of the Texas Department of Public Safety, who said he had heard the Rice-Texas A&M game last Feb. 7 was "in the bag" and that Preston and Johnson were "in on the deal."

Curtis said, however, that only Johnson worked the game.

Mallard, represented by State Sen. W. T. (Bill) Moore of Bryan, pleaded the Fifth Amendment 125 times. He refused to tell the committee where he lived, whether or not he was a Texas resident and other questions such as:

"How do you feel?"

Logan Single In 13th Gives Bucs 4-3 Win

HOUSTON (AP) — Johnny Logan's pinch-hit single with two out in the 13th inning drove in Bob Skinner with the winning run Friday night in Pittsburgh's 4-3 triumph over Houston.

Skinner triggered the winning rally with his second triple of the evening, lashing a drive off Bobby Tiefenauer, the Colts' third pitcher.

Logan delivered his game-winning single batting for Elroy Face, who gained the victory with four innings of shut out relief pitching. Tom Sturdivant finished up.

The Pirates, shut out on the two-hit pitching of Bob Bruce for six innings, got to him for a run in the seventh and tied it with two in the eighth on a walk and singles by Dick Schofield, Dick Groat and Dick Stuart.

Essegian's Home Run Edges Nats

WASHINGTON (AP)—Chuck Essegian's 12th home run in the eighth inning gave Cleveland a 2-1 victory over the Washington Senators Friday night and pulled the Indians into a first place tie in the American League with New York.

Pete Ramos got his first win with the help of a quick relief job by Gary Bell in the ninth inning. Ramos left with a 2-1 count on Jim Piersall, the leadoff batter. Bell retired the side on seven pitches.

The Indians broke a scoreless tie in the sixth on Essegian's leadoff double and a single by Johnny Romano.

Essegian's blast barely carried over the fence in front of the Senators' bullpen to make it 2-0.

Danny O'Connell scored Washington's only run with his second homer in the eighth. It was the first run scored by the Senators this season for Claude Osteen, who lost for the fifth time in five starts. Osteen has pitched 26½ innings.

Osteen gave up eight hits in eight innings but was aided by three double plays.

Ramos allowed only four hits in the eight innings he pitched.

Ramos walked only one and the only inning in which Washington advanced a baserunner to second before O'Connell's homer was the second when Gene Woodling was safe on an error preceding Johnson's hit.

Pierce Gets 7th Victory; Giants Defeat Phillies

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Southpaw Billy Pierce staggered to his seventh victory without a loss and Willie Mays and Orlando Cepeda each hit home runs No. 14 Friday night to spark league-leading San Francisco past Philadelphia 10-7.

Pierce gave up 11 hits — four more than the Giants got — and needed help from Stu Miller in the ninth after John Callison smashed a three-run homer, his fourth hit of the night.

Opposing starter Jack Hamilton limited the Giants to three safeties in his 4 1-3 innings, but two were the homers and Hamilton, now 3-4, put four other runs aboard with his wildness.

He walked Pierce and Harvey Kuenn to open the third inning and threw wildly to third base on Chuck Hiller's bunt, Pierce scoring.

Then Mays smacked his home run 360 feet deep in left field.

Cepeda chased Hamilton in the fifth with a 390-foot four-bagger that followed a walk to Hiller.

The Candlestick Park crowd of 11,538 saw Pierce escape one jam by striking out Roy Sievers on three pitches with the bases full in the fifth frame.

Philadelphia's first run scored in the first when Callison tripled off Mays' glove and came home on a sacrifice fly. Ton Gonzalez homered with one aboard in the eighth to wrap up a three-run uprising, which made it 10-4.

Braves Take 11-8 Win From Cards

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Hank Aaron drove in five runs with his seventh and eighth home runs and double Friday night to spark the Milwaukee Braves' 18-hit attack in their 11-8 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals.

The other Aaron, Tommy, clubbed three doubles and a single.

Roy McMillan and Joe Adcock also belted homers for the Braves. Ken Boyer and Carl Sawatski hit four-baggers for the Cardinals, who lost their third in a row.

There were 14 extra-base hits in the game, nine by the Braves.

Lew Burdette, fourth of five Milwaukee pitchers, was credited with his first victory in five decisions.

With the Braves trailing 5-4 in the seventh, Hank Aaron blasted a home run with two on to put his club in front for keeps. The big blow came off reliever Ray Washburn, who dropped his first decision after three victories.

The starting pitchers were Curt Simmons for the Cardinals and Jack Curtis for the Braves.

The Braves pounded Lindy McDaniel for four runs in the eighth to build their margin to 11-6.

Wagner's Single Puts Los Angeles Past Athletics

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Leon Wagner, the leading run producer among the Los Angeles Angels, bounced a single into right field in the eighth inning Friday night to drive Albie Pearson home and give the Angels a 5-4 victory over the Kansas City Athletics.

The Athletics had rallied for a run in the seventh to gain a 4-4 tie against Jack Spring. But after the Angels' southpaw was staked to his eighth inning lead he retired six men in order to wrap up his third straight victory. He has not lost.

Each club collected 12 hits and there were a number of brilliant defensive plays in the tense struggle. Bob Rodgers led the Los Angeles attack with three singles and a double. Norm Siebern and Jerry Lumpe each had three hits for the Athletics and Manny Jimenez, the league's leading hitter, contributed a homer and a double in four trips.

The Angels grabbed a 2-0 lead in the third, with Lee Thomas and Tom Burgess each driving in a run with a single. The A's tied the score in the last half of the inning as Siebern singled in a run and Jimenez doubled him home.

Detroit Homers Nip Yanks, 5-4

NEW YORK (AP) — Dick McAuliffe's three-run homer, capping a four-run first inning, and Chico Fernandez' bases-empty home run in the seventh gave the Detroit Tigers a 5-4 victory over the New York Yankees Friday night.

The defeat dropped the Yankees back into a tie for first place in the American League with Cleveland, which moved even by beating Washington 2-1.

Fernandez' homer, leading off the seventh against Bill Stafford (3-3), caused a heated dispute when it bounced back onto the field from the lower left field stands. Yankee outfielder Joe Pepitone, who made a leaping try, contended he knocked it back in play. The umpires ruled otherwise.

In the Tigers' first, Jake Wood reached base on Phil Linz' error, Billy Bruton singled and Norm Cash walked before Rocky Colavito got the first run across with a sacrifice fly. McAuliffe then homered.

The Yanks came back with three in the third on five singles—by Stafford, Bobby Richardson, Tom Tresh, Elston Howard and Hector Lopez. They scored again in the seventh when Fernandez made his third error of the game, allowing Roger Maris to get on. He eventually scored as Lopez hit into a force play.

Don Mossi (4-4) went the distance for the victory, surviving four Detroit errors and an 11-hit Yankee attack. The Tigers wound up with only five hits.

Villanova Erases Yale's Threat On Championship

VILLANOVA, Pa. (AP) — Two meet records were broken, one was tied and powerful Villanova came through with 10 qualifiers to erase an early threat by Yale Friday in the IC4A Track and Field Championships.

Gary Gubner, New York University's 255-pound sophomore, got off a toss of 62 feet, 1¾ inches to smash the shotput record of 57-9¼ set by Jim Fuchs of Yale back in 1950.

Gubner made it so emphatic that he broke the record in every one of his four qualifying throws. Second-place Billy Joe of Villanova, the 1961 champion, also broke the mark and in the process almost became a member of the 60-foot club. His flip was 59-11¾.

Morgan State hustled to a 3 minutes, 11.6 seconds mark in the mile relay, erasing the 3:12 effort of Villanova two years ago. John Bethea, Bob Bagley, Hubert Brown and Lawson Smart carried the stick for Morgan State.

Frank Budd of Villanova, holder of the world record of 9.2, tied the meet record for the 100-yard dash, zipping to a 9.5 clocking against a 1.8 meter (about 4 miles per hour) wind. He also led the qualifiers in the 220-yard dash with 20.6.

"I wasn't trying to beat my record in the 100," said Budd. "But I am going after the 220 record (20 flat, which he tied two weeks ago) tomorrow if the wind is not blowing against me too badly."

Budd, a senior who is running his last meet on his home field, will have to contend with teammate Paul Drayton, who also qualified in both the 100 (for the final) and the 220 (for the semifinal).

The Wildcats had two bad breaks when Bob Raemore failed to qualify in the 440 and Jon Dante, defending champion in the 880, didn't make it. But Coach Jumbo Jim Elliott had such depth, they hardly were missed. Both had been recovering from leg injuries.

Yale had nine qualifiers, Morgan State eight and Fordham and New York University six each.

"I'm happy that our boys did so well," said Yale Coach Bob Tiegengack. "But we don't have a chance of beating Villanova. We'll make a respectable showing, though, and against Villanova that's an accomplishment."

Yale's biggest surprise was Harold Thomas, an unheralded junior, who led the broad jump qualifiers with a 23 feet, 4¾ inches, his best ever. Thomas also qualified in the hop, step and jump.

Jay Luck, a jack of all hurdles for Yale, qualified in both the 440 and 120 timber events. He is the defending champion in the 440.

Other double qualifiers included Gubner, who, before he stepped into the shotput ring, led the qualifiers for the discus with a 168-10½ toss, and Sherman Lewis, Michigan State halfack, who made it in the broad jump and the 220-yard dash. He is the indoor IC4A broad jump king and will take a bead on Thomas in the final Saturday.

Winston Cooper of St. John's, the national No. 1 collegiate hop, step and jump artist, re-injured his foot on his first jump and had to retire. He was helped off the field by a couple of teammates.

"I'm afraid that finishes him for the NCAA championships," said his coach, Bill Ward. "I don't think it will mend fast enough for him to start training for another month."

Another casualty was Jim Wedderburn of NYU, who pulled up in the first 150 yards of the 440. Whatever slim hopes NYU had of winning vanished with Wedderurn's pull.

Other leading qualifiers included Ed Bailey of Harvard in the hammer throw (188-5), Doug Kerr of Villanova in the javelin (224-10½), Samir Vicent of Boston College in the hop, step and jump (48-8¾), Luck in the 440 hurdles (53.6), Peter Weiss of Fordham in the 440 (47.0), John Reilley of Georgeton in the 880 (1:50.2) and Bethea in the 120 hurdles (14.5).

Mary Faulk Blasts Into 5-Stroke Lead

By MIKE ENGLEMAN

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Smiling Mary Lena Faulk, blasting the long ball she laid no claim to have, pulled five strokes ahead of the wind-blown pack at the halfway point of the $10,000 Civitan Open Friday.

The veteran Ladies PGA golfer had the same number of birdies she had Thursday when she posted a one-under par 70 but two three-putt greens gave her a one-over par 72 and a leading 142.

"I'm not a long ball hitter," she said, but her score card gave her birdies on the three par 5 holes of Glen Lakes Country Club's course.

Tied for second spot with 5-over-par 147s were Mickey Wright, the tour's leading money winner this year, and Betsy Rawls, who was on top with Miss Faulk Thursday.

The high wind kept up its brash treatment of the lady golfers and took a large toll.

Veteran Patty Berg and Louise Suggs, who has won this tournament the last three years, could manage only 75s, to give them both 148 after the second round. Joining the pair at 148 were Marilyn Smith, who also shot a 75, and Shirley Englehorn who posted a 76.

Miss Rawls was definitely off the game she shot Thursday. She logged a 4-over par 40 on the front nine and 2-over-par 37 on the backside.

Jo Ann Prentice, who shot a 77 Thursday, trimmed five strokes from her score to join Miss Faulk and Miss Wright with a low of 72 for the day.

"I don't know how long this is going to last," Miss Faulk said after sinking a 3-footer for a birdie on the final hole, "but it sure is fun while it's going on."

And on the 6,500-yard course she looked as if she were having a great time. On par 5 No. 8, she dropped a 20-footer for a birdie. On par 5 No. 12, she chipped in within a half foot, then sunk it for another bird. And on par 5, No. 5, her 4-footer was good for still another birdie.

Miss Faulk had five bogies. She missed the green from her approach shot for three of the bogies and three-putted for the other two.

Scores of leaders in the Civitan Open after two rounds:

Mary Lena Faulk	70-72—142
Mickey Wright	75-72—147

'Worst Umpires In Baseball,' Says Hutchinson

HOUSTON (AP)—Fred Hutchinson had a message for Warren Giles, National League president, Thursday night after the Cincinnati manager was ejected from the game with the Houston Colts.

"Tell your dad he has the worst umpires in baseball," Hutchinson told Bill Giles, publicity director for the Colts.

Bill Giles, son of the league president, had telephoned the Cincinnati clubhouse from the press box to get Hutchinson's expansion of the dispute with Mel Steiner, the plate umpire.

The dispute began when Pete Whisenant, Cincinnati coach, protested Steiner's calling eight straight balls that walked the first two Colts to face Joey Jay, the Redleg pitcher.

Steiner ejected Whisenant but the coach refused to leave. This prolonged the 18-minute dispute and led to both Whisenant and Hutchinson being ejected.

The remainder of the game was played under protest but Cincinnati won 5-0, behind Jay's six-hit performance.

Jaipur To Start In Jersey Derby Memorial Day

CAMDEN, N.J. (AP)—George D. Widener's Jaipur, a disappointment in last Saturday's Preakness after winning the Gotham and Withers at Aqueduct, will start Memorial Day in the $100,000-added Jersey Derby, Garden State Park was informed Friday.

Jaipur had not been expected to go in the 1⅛-mile race for 3-year-olds but trainer Bert Mulholland informed Garden State his colt would be in the starting lineup. His decision was made after Jaipur breezed 7 furlongs over a sloppy track at Belmont Park in 1:27 Friday morning. He'll be ridden by Larry Adams.

About a dozen horses are expected to start, including Roman Line, second in the Kentucky Derby and third in the Preakness; Crimson Satan, Sunrise County and Vimy Ridge.

Nasal Operation

LONDON (AP)—Stirling Moss, famed British race driver injured in a crash last month, soon will have a nasal operation to improve his breathing, hospital officials said Friday.

CLIFFORD ANN CREED, of Alexandria, La., is shown sinking the seven-foot putt for a birdie on the 18th hole Friday that carried her into the finals of the Southern Women's Amateur golf tournament in Richmond, Va. The birdie gave Miss Creed a 1-up victory over two-time winner, Mrs. Judy Eller Street of Chattanooga, Tenn., Earlier Miss Marge Burns of Greensboro, N.C., had gained the other finals berth. Ann Creed Advances To Ladies Golf Finals

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — Unshakable Clifford Ann Creed came from behind on the last two holes in a brilliant battle of former champions Friday and defeated Mrs. Judy Eller Street, 1 up, to advance with Marge Burns of Greensboro, N.C., to the finals of the Southern Women's Amateur Golf Tournament.

Miss Burns had ousted 1956 champion Mary Ann Downey of Baltimore, 2 and 1, in Friday's other semifinal match. She and Miss Creed, the 1957 Southern champion, meet over 36 holes Saturday for the 1962 title.

Miss Creed, 1 down after 16 holes, evened her battle with Mrs. Street on the 17th while a par when the Chattanooga golfer missed the green to the right and needed a bogey 4.

Then, on the 478-yard 18th, the Alexandria, La., Titleholders champion calmly rolled in a curling 7-foot for a birdie 4 that sent her into the finals.

It was the greatest match of the tournament to date, with neither contestant ever holding more than a one hole advantage. Mrs. Street was 1 up after nine, making the turn in 2-under-par 34 to Miss Creed's 35. They ended the match with Miss Creed all even with par and Mrs. Street one over.

Miss Burns held a 1 up lead over Miss Downey after nine holes, but Miss Downey pulled even on the 11th with a par.

Miss Burns took what proved to be a permanent advantage with a par 3 at the short 14th hole, where Miss Downey missed the green. The slender Greensboro golfer, five times North Carolina women's champion and twice a losing finalist in this tournament, closed out the match at the 143-yard 17th.

Here, Miss Downey missed the green with a tee shot that came to rest near a fence, was short getting out of trouble, and couldn't get down in fewer than five strokes while Miss Burns carded a par 3.

Neither Miss Burns nor Miss Downey played the caliber of golf displayed by Miss Creed and Mrs. Street, who won the tournament in 1959 and 1960.

For the 17 holes they played, Miss Burns was seven over par and Miss Downey a whopping 12 strokes over regulation.

California Relay Pole Vault Mark May Be Broken

MODESTO, Calif. (AP) — California Relays records still list:

Pole vault—Cornelius Warmerdam, 15 feet 7¾ inches, May 23, 1942.

That mark stood as the world record for 15 years and continues to stand as the meet record as the Relays head into their 21st renewal Saturday night.

This could be the time the name of Dutch Warmerdam leaves the record books here. Now coach of the Fresno State College track team, he won't be surprised.

John Uelses and Dave Tork, the only men who have cleared 16 feet, are in the field of 12 for the vault event that starts at a towering 14 feet, 6 inches.

Warmerdam's great vault got the first California Relays off to the high flying start that has made the event one of the top track attractions in California.

"I can see no reason why Uelses and Tork can't go higher than they have," Dutch said recently, adding that technological improvements such as the fiber glass pole have helped in recent years.

Discus Tossing Ring Delays 86th IC4A Field Meet

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The 86th annual IC4A outdoor track and field meet was delayed Friday because the discus throwing ring was an inch and a quarter too wide.

The meet ground to a halt while officials measured the ring and found it was 8 feet, 3¾ inches wide instead of 8-2½. An official of the host Villanova University immediately ordered a new ring painted—to official size.

"Don't worry," said the man assigned to the job, "we use quick drying paint."

'500' FESTIVAL GOLF

Campbell, Ragan Set Record Pace

By JERRY LISKA

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—A pair of 26-year-old pros, Joe Campbell and Dave Ragan, shattered the meet's 36-hole record Friday in sharing the halfway lead with 11-under-par 131's in the "500" Festival Golf Tournament.

Ragan, who has won only one tourney in his five pro seasons, overhauled Campbell, the first round co-leader, as he coaxed a 6-under-par 65 from the rain-soaked Speedway course.

Campbell, former Purdue golf and basketball star, who matched 63s Thursday with Bob Rosburg, saw his putter cool for a still respectable 68.

The old 36-hole Speedway mark of 132 was set by Jerry Barber in 1960.

A stroke behind Ragan and Campbell, both former collegians, was Rosburg, who suffered from a heavy downpour which the later starting co-leaders missed.

Caught at the eighth hole by the cloudburst, Rosburg lost four strokes to par on the eighth, ninth and 10th holes, and needed a string of four successive birdies to close out a 6 round.

Two strokes off the pace were Billy Casper and George Bayer, both scoring 66s for 133. Bayer scored an eagle deuce with a 75-foot wedge shot on the 10th.

Friday's play trimmed the field of 142 pros to the top 90 scorers. After Saturday's third round the field will be cut to 60.

Bill Collins, who matched Ragan for the day's low round at 65, and Dave Hill, who registered a 66, were matched at 134.

Deadlocked at 135 were Jerry Steelsmith, Rex Baxter, Don Fairfield and Bob Goalby.

Doug Ford, pre-meet favorite, seeking his third straight title in the $50,000 Speedway event, took a 70 and still lagged far back with 141. Only a stroke better at 140 was highly regarded Gary Player, who perked with a 68.

Par continued to take a beating, despite the day's rainfall, with almost 50 players under standard figures for the 36-hole route.

One of the major casualties, failing to make the cutoff at 146, was Ken Venturi, whose 72 gave him 148.

The low amateur was Ron Royer, former Indiana University star from Crawfordsville, Ind., who had 74-69—143.

Ragan, former University of Florida player, whose only pro victory was the 1959 Eastern Open, started just after the storm ended and bagged six birdies and 12 pars in his fine 34-31—65 round.

He used 28 putts, sinking long knocks of 15, 18 and 25 feet.

Campbell, cooled off considerably from his opening 63 round, due mainly to a pair of three-putt greens which gave him bogey 5s on the eighth and 13th holes. In all, he needed 32 putts, compared with 25 Thursday.

Mary Faulk Blasts Into 5-Stroke Lead

By MIKE ENGLEMAN

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Smiling Mary Lena Faulk, blasting the long ball she laid no claim to have, pulled five strokes ahead of the wind-blown pack at the halfway point of the $10,000 Civitan Open Friday.

The veteran Ladies PGA golfer had the same number of birdies she had Thursday when she posted a one-under par 70 but two three-putt greens gave her a one-over par 72 and a leading 142.

"I'm not a long ball hitter," she said, but her score card gave her birdies on the three par 5 holes of Glen Lakes Country Club's course.

Tied for second spot with 5-over-par 147s were Mickey Wright, the tour's leading money winner this year, and Betsy Rawls, who was on top with Miss Faulk Thursday.

The high wind kept up its brash treatment of the lady golfers and took a large toll.

Veteran Patty Berg and Louise Suggs, who has won this tournament the last three years, could manage only 75s, to give them both 148 after the second round. Joining the pair at 148 were Marilyn Smith, who also shot a 75, and Shirley Englehorn who posted a 76.

Miss Rawls was definitely off the game she shot Thursday. She logged a 4-over par 40 on the front nine and 2-over-par 37 on the backside.

Jo Ann Prentice, who shot a 77 Thursday, trimmed five strokes from her score to join Miss Faulk and Miss Wright with a low of 72 for the day.

"I don't know how long this is going to last," Miss Faulk said after sinking a 3-footer for a birdie on the final hole, "but it sure is fun while it's going on."

And on the 6,500-yard course she looked as if she were having a great time. On par 5 No. 8, she dropped a 20-footer for a birdie. On par 5 No. 12, she chipped in within a half foot, then sunk it for another bird. And on par 5, No. 5, her 4-footer was good for still another birdie.

Miss Faulk had five bogies. She missed the green from her approach shot for three of the bogies and three-putted for the other two.

'Worst Umpires In Baseball,' Says Hutchinson

HOUSTON (AP)—Fred Hutchinson had a message for Warren Giles, National League president, Thursday night after the Cincinnati manager was ejected from the game with the Houston Colts.

"Tell your dad he has the worst umpires in baseball," Hutchinson told Bill Giles, publicity director for the Colts.

Bill Giles, son of the league president, had telephoned the Cincinnati clubhouse from the press box to get Hutchinson's expansion of the dispute with Mel Steiner, the plate umpire.

The dispute began when Pete Whisenant, Cincinnati coach, protested Steiner's calling eight straight balls that walked the first two Colts to face Joey Jay, the Redleg pitcher.

Steiner ejected Whisenant but the coach refused to leave. This prolonged the 18-minute dispute and led to both Whisenant and Hutchinson being ejected.

The remainder of the game was played under protest but Cincinnati won 5-0, behind Jay's six-hit performance.

Jaipur To Start In Jersey Derby Memorial Day

CAMDEN, N.J. (AP)—George D. Widener's Jaipur, a disappointment in last Saturday's Preakness after winning the Gotham and Withers at Aqueduct, will start Memorial Day in the $100,000-added Jersey Derby, Garden State Park was informed Friday.

Jaipur had not been expected to go in the 1⅛-mile race for 3-year-olds but trainer Bert Mulholland informed Garden State his colt would be in the starting line-up. His decision was made after Jaipur breezed 7 furlongs over a sloppy track at Belmont Park in 1:27 Friday morning. He'll be ridden by Larry Adams.

About a dozen horses are expected to start, including Roman Line, second in the Kentucky Derby and third in the Preakness; Crimson Satan, Sunrise County and Vimy Ridge.

CLIFFORD ANN CREED, of Alexandria, La., is shown sinking the seven-foot putt for a birdie on the 18th hole Friday that carried her into the finals of the Southern Women's Amateur golf tournament in Richmond, Va. The birdie gave Miss Creed a 1-up victory over two-time winner, Mrs. Judy Eller Street of Chattanooga, Tenn., Earlier Miss Marge Burns of Greensboro, N.C., had gained the other finals berth. Ann Creed Advances To Ladies Golf Finals

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — Unshakable Clifford Ann Creed came from behind on the last two holes in a brilliant battle of former champions Friday and defeated Mrs. Judy Eller Street, 1 up, to advance with Marge Burns of Greensboro, N.C., to the finals of the Southern Women's Amateur Golf Tournament.

Miss Burns had ousted 1956 champion Mary Ann Downey of Baltimore, 2 and 1, in Friday's other semifinal match. She and Miss Creed, the 1957 Southern champion, meet over 36 holes Saturday for the 1962 title.

Miss Creed, 1 down after 16 holes, evened her battle with Mrs. Street on the 17th while a par when the Chattanooga golfer missed the green to the right and needed a bogey 4.

Then, on the 478-yard 18th, the Alexandria, La., Titleholders champion calmly rolled in a curling 7-foot for a birdie 4 that sent her into the finals.

It was the greatest match of the tournament to date, with neither contestant ever holding more than a one hole advantage. Mrs. Street was 1 up after nine, making the turn in 2-under-par 34 to Miss Creed's 35. They ended the match with Miss Creed all even with par and Mrs. Street one over.

Miss Burns held a 1 up lead over Miss Downey after nine holes, but Miss Downey pulled even on the 11th with a par.

Miss Burns took what proved to be a permanent advantage with a par 3 at the short 14th hole, where Miss Downey missed the green. The slender Greensboro golfer, five times North Carolina women's champion and twice a losing finalist in this tournament, closed out the match at the 143-yard 17th.

Here, Miss Downey missed the green with a tee shot that came to rest near a fence, was short getting out of trouble, and couldn't get down in fewer than five strokes while Miss Burns carded a par 3.

Neither Miss Burns nor Miss Downey played the caliber of golf displayed by Miss Creed and Mrs. Street, who won the tournament in 1959 and 1960.

For the 17 holes they played, Miss Burns was seven over par and Miss Downey a whopping 12 strokes over regulation.

California Relay Pole Vault Mark May Be Broken

MODESTO, Calif. (AP) — California Relays records still list:

Pole vault—Cornelius Warmerdam, 15 feet 7¾ inches, May 23, 1942.

That mark stood as the world record for 15 years and continues to stand as the meet record as the Relays head into their 21st renewal Saturday night.

This could be the time the name of Dutch Warmerdam leaves the record books here. Now coach of the Fresno State College track team, he won't be surprised.

John Uelses and Dave Tork, the only men who have cleared 16 feet, are in the field of 12 for the vault event that starts at a towering 14 feet, 6 inches.

Warmerdam's great vault got the first California Relays off to the high flying start that has made the event one of the top track attractions in California.

"I can see no reason why Uelses and Tork can't go higher than they have," Dutch said recently, adding that technological improvements such as the fiber glass pole have helped in recent years.

Discus Tossing Ring Delays 86th IC4A Field Meet

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The 86th annual IC4A outdoor track and field meet was delayed Friday because the discus throwing ring was an inch and a quarter too wide.

The meet ground to a halt while officials measured the ring and found it was 8 feet, 3¾ inches wide instead of 8-2½. An official of the host Villanova University immediately ordered a new ring painted—to official size.

"Don't worry," said the man assigned to the job, "we use quick drying paint."

'500' FESTIVAL GOLF

Campbell, Ragan Set Record Pace

By JERRY LISKA

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—A pair of 26-year-old pros, Joe Campbell and Dave Ragan, shattered the meet's 36-hole record Friday in sharing the halfway lead with 11-under-par 131's in the "500" Festival Golf Tournament.

Ragan, who has won only one tourney in his five pro seasons, overhauled Campbell, the first round co-leader, as he coaxed a 6-under-par 65 from the rain-soaked Speedway course.

Campbell, former Purdue golf and basketball star, who matched 63s Thursday with Bob Rosburg, saw his putter cool for a still respectable 68.

The old 36-hole Speedway mark of 132 was set by Jerry Barber in 1960.

A stroke behind Ragan and Campbell, both former collegians, was Rosburg, who suffered from a heavy downpour which the later starting co-leaders missed.

Caught at the eighth hole by the cloudburst, Rosburg lost four strokes to par on the eighth, ninth and 10th holes, and needed a string of four successive birdies to close out a 6 round.

Two strokes off the pace were Billy Casper and George Bayer, both scoring 66s for 133. Bayer scored an eagle deuce with a 75-foot wedge shot on the 10th.

Friday's play trimmed the field of 142 pros to the top 90 scorers. After Saturday's third round the field will be cut to 60.

Bill Collins, who matched Ragan for the day's low round at 65, and Dave Hill, who registered a 66, were matched at 134.

Deadlocked at 135 were Jerry Steelsmith, Rex Baxter, Don Fairfield and Bob Goalby.

Doug Ford, pre-meet favorite, seeking his third straight title in the $50,000 Speedway event, took a 70 and still lagged far back with 141. Only a stroke better at 140 was highly regarded Gary Player, who perked with a 68.

Par continued to take a beating, despite the day's rainfall, with almost 50 players under standard figures for the 36-hole route.

One of the major casualties, failing to make the cutoff at 146, was Ken Venturi, whose 72 gave him 148.

The low amateur was Ron Royer, former Indiana University star from Crawfordsville, Ind., who had 74-69—143.

Ragan, former University of Florida player, whose only pro victory was the 1959 Eastern Open, started just after the storm ended and bagged six birdies and 12 pars in his fine 34-31—65 round.

He used 28 putts, sinking long knocks of 15, 18 and 25 feet.

Campbell, cooled off considerably from his opening 63 round, due mainly to a pair of three-putt greens which gave him bogey 5s on the eighth and 13th holes. In all, he needed 32 putts, compared with 25 Thursday.

SUGGESTS AL LOPEZ

Catcher's Bruises Serve As Good Test On Hitters

CHICAGO (AP)—A good check on a team's hitters is the number of black and blue marks on the batting practice catcher.

That's the test suggested by Al Lopez, manager of the Chicago White Sox and a good catcher in his playing days. Lopez speaks from experience.

He used to count his own bruises, when he was a youngster in Florida hanging around the training camps.

"In those days," he reminisced, "the big league clubs brought only the men on their rosters to spring training, just the regulars, not 60 or 70 players the way they do today.

"So they would pick up kids like me to catch batting practice. We'd work for nothing, and we'd sit back of that plate for hours at a time.

"The good hitters never gave us any trouble. They got the good wood on the ball no matter where it was pitched. You could sit back there like in a rocking chair and they'd hammer the ball out. You didn't have to work very hard.

"But the bum hitters were a different story. They fouled that ball right back at me. They hit me all over, the knees, the thighs, the ankles, the arms. I was a mess at the end of the day.

"And some of those guys had pretty good temporary reputations. They fooled a lot of people for a little while but they didn't fool the kids catching batting practice. We knew they weren't real hitters. We had the bruises to prove it.

"It still works. Think back to how many times you ever saw Ted Williams foul one off the catcher. Not very often."

The smiling Lopez said he had no intention of running a personal check on his White Sox hitters at his relatively advanced age. But he suggested that fans who like to arrive at the ball park early might apply the test.

Lopez, born and reared in Tampa, never has been to Spain. "My parents come from a small town over there, where they tell me I am very famous," he said. "They are supposed to have my picture up in the bars there. I don't know for sure but that's what they tell me.

"However, a sports writer I know stopped off in Spain on his way home from the Olympics once and visited the town. He told me he asked all around and no one there had ever heard of the 'Americano baseball player.' I'll have to go over some day and find out myself."

100-MILE-AN-HOUR CLUB

21 Of 500's Drivers Are In Exclusive Club

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—Twenty-one of the 33 starters in the 46th 500-mile auto race Wednesday are fraternity brothers—members of the exclusive Champion 100-Mile-an-Hour Club.

You qualify by going all the way in the Memorial Day classic.

The "100-mile-an-hour" part of the name was a limiting factor when the society was founded in 1934 but anybody who finishes in the modern 500s has to do well over 130—maybe over 140 this year.

The club took in six new members at its annual meeting Friday night.

Chuck Stevenson of Garden Grove, Calif., the 1952 national champion, made it for the first time in the 1961 race after six starts. Eddie Sachs of Coppersburg, Pa., got in after five starts and Shorty Templeman of Seattle after four starts.

The other three raced into the club on their first appearance—Bobby Marshman, Pottstown, Pa., who finished seventh; Jack Brabham of Australia, ninth, and Norm Hall, Los Angeles, tenth.

Hall was badly injured in a qualification run crash May 13. Brabham, who races out of England, sent regrets that his Grand Prix schedule wouldn't let him make the trip.

Brabham became the only living foreign member of the club (there are 66 altogether) except Luigi Villoresi of Italy, who finished seventh in 1946.

The society members starting Wednesday are Johnny Boyd, Don Branson, Bob Christie, Jimmy Daywalt, A. J. Foyt Jr., Paul Goldsmith, Gene Hartley, Eddie Johnson, Marshman, Dick and Jim Rathmann, Lloyd Ruby, Paul Russo, Troy Ruttman, Sachs, Chuck Stevenson, Templeman, Bud Tingelstad, Jack Turner, Bob Veith and Rodger Ward.

Parnelli Jones, who won the pole position for Wednesday's race with the first 150-mile-an-hour qualifying run, didn't make the club in his first start last year. As a result of mechanical trouble and a cut forehead, he had two laps to go when the race ended. Jim Hurtubise, who set the old qualifying run two years ago, hasn't finished yet, either.

Other starters outside the club are Len Sutton, Roger McCluskey, Don Davis, Bobby Grim, Elmer George, Ebb Rose and rookies Jim McElreath, Dan Gurney, Chuck Hulse, Chuck Rodee and Allen Crowe.

Cincinnati Nips Chicago 2-1 In Tight Five-Hitter

CINCINNATI (AP)—Moe Drabowsky and Bill Henry collaborated on a tight five-hitter and Frank Robinson came up with a two-run double Friday night for Cincinnati's 2-1 victory over Chicago.

Henry came on in the ninth inning after Drabowsky hit the Cubs' Ernie Banks with a pitch, following Billy Williams' double. Banks was carried off the field on a stretcher, but his condition was not believed to be serious.

Henry took over, fanning George Altman and getting Ron Santo on an easy out.

Robinson, dropped to seventh in the batting order because of poor hitting broke up a potent pitching duel in the fourth with a two-run double.

Gordie Coleman had walked, but was forced by Wally Post. Johnny Edwards rapped a single to right setting up Robinson's timely hit.

Smith, Fox Hit Three-Baggers To Edge Twins

CHICAGO (AP) — A pair of triples by Al Smith and another by Nellie Fox, accounted for three Chicago runs in a 5-4 White Sox victory over the Minnesota Twins Friday night.

The third-place Twins, absorbing their third straight defeat, collected 10 hits off Joe Horlen, who went the route for the first time since May 2 to boost his record at 4-2. Four of the hits were doubles, two by Lennie Green, who also had a single in five trips.

Penalty On Jockey Reduced By Board

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Maryland Racing Commission, with an assist from rival Jockey Johnny Rotz, declined Friday to extend the suspension of Jockey Manuel Ycaza for unfair riding tactics during last Saturday's $188,300 Preakness.

Instead, the commission reduced the suspension imposed by Pimlico stewards from 10 racing days to 10 calendar days. A fine of $200 was let stand for making a frivolous claim of foul.

The reduction in Ycaza's suspension means he will be eligible to ride in the $100,000-added Metropolitan Handicap at New York's Aqueduct Track Memorial Day.

The suspension was effective May 20 and runs through May 29.

Ycaza was on Ridan in the Preakness. After losing by a nose to Greek Money, ridden by Rotz, in a thrilling stretch duel, Ycaza lodged a claim of foul against Greek Money.

His claim held up official announcement of the winner for a tense 10 minutes while stewards inspected the movies of the race. The stewards then not only disallowed Ycaza's claim but suspended him for 10 racing days for unfair riding, fined him the $200 for making the claim.

SUGGESTS AL LOPEZ

Catcher's Bruises Serve As Good Test On Hitters

CHICAGO (AP)—A good check on a team's hitters is the number of black and blue marks on the batting practice catcher.

That's the test suggested by Al Lopez, manager of the Chicago White Sox and a good catcher in his playing days. Lopez speaks from experience.

He used to count his own bruises, when he was a youngster in Florida hanging around the training camps.

"In those days," he reminisced, "the big league clubs brought only the men on their rosters to spring training, just the regulars, not 60 or 70 players the way they do today.

"So they would pick up kids like me to catch batting practice. We'd work for nothing, and we'd sit back of that plate for hours at a time.

"The good hitters never gave us any trouble. They got the good wood on the ball no matter where it was pitched. You could sit back there like in a rocking chair and they'd hammer the ball out. You didn't have to work very hard.

"But the bum hitters were a different story. They fouled that ball right back at me. They hit me all over, the knees, the thighs, the ankles, the arms. I was a mess at the end of the day.

"And some of those guys had pretty good temporary reputations. They fooled a lot of people for a little while but they didn't fool the kids catching batting practice. We knew they weren't real hitters. We had the bruises to prove it.

"It still works. Think back to how many times you ever saw Ted Williams foul one off the catcher. Not very often."

The smiling Lopez said he had no intention of running a personal check on his White Sox hitters at his relatively advanced age. But he suggested that fans who like to arrive at the ball park early might apply the test.

Lopez, born and reared in Tampa, never has been to Spain. "My parents come from a small town over there, where they tell me I am very famous," he said. "They are supposed to have my picture up in the bars there. I don't know for sure but that's what they tell me.

"However, a sports writer I know stopped off in Spain on his way home from the Olympics once and visited the town. He told me he asked all around and no one there had ever heard of the 'Americano baseball player.' I'll have to go over some day and find out myself."

100-MILE-AN-HOUR CLUB

21 Of 500's Drivers Are In Exclusive Club

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—Twenty-one of the 33 starters in the 46th 500-mile auto race Wednesday are fraternity brothers—members of the exclusive Champion 100-Mile-an-Hour Club.

You qualify by going all the way in the Memorial Day classic.

The "100-mile-an-hour" part of the name was a limiting factor when the society was founded in 1934 but anybody who finishes in the modern 500s has to do well over 130—maybe over 140 this year.

The club took in six new members at its annual meeting Friday night.

Chuck Stevenson of Garden Grove, Calif., the 1952 national champion, made it for the first time in the 1961 race after six starts. Eddie Sachs of Coppersburg, Pa., got in after five starts and Shorty Templeman of Seattle after four starts.

The other three raced into the club on their first appearance—Bobby Marshman, Pottstown, Pa., who finished seventh; Jack Brabham of Australia, ninth, and Norm Hall, Los Angeles, tenth.

Hall was badly injured in a qualification run crash May 13. Brabham, who races out of England, sent regrets that his Grand Prix schedule wouldn't let him make the trip.

Brabham became the only living foreign member of the club (there are 66 altogether) except Luigi Villoresi of Italy, who finished seventh in 1946.

The society members starting Wednesday are Johnny Boyd, Don Branson, Bob Christie, Jimmy Daywalt, A. J. Foyt Jr., Paul Goldsmith, Gene Hartley, Eddie Johnson, Marshman, Dick and Jim Rathmann, Lloyd Ruby, Paul Russo, Troy Ruttman, Sachs, Chuck Stevenson, Templeman, Bud Tingelstad, Jack Turner, Bob Veith and Rodger Ward.

Parnelli Jones, who won the pole position for Wednesday's race with the first 150-mile-an-hour qualifying run, didn't make the club in his first start last year. As a result of mechanical trouble and a cut forehead, he had two laps to go when the race ended. Jim Hurtubise, who set the old qualifying run two years ago, hasn't finished yet, either.

Other starters outside the club are Len Sutton, Roger McCluskey, Don Davis, Bobby Grim, Elmer George, Ebb Rose and rookies Jim McElreath, Dan Gurney, Chuck Hulse, Chuck Rodee and Allen Crowe.

Cincinnati Nips Chicago 2-1 In Tight Five-Hitter

CINCINNATI (AP)—Moe Drabowsky and Bill Henry collaborated on a tight five-hitter and Frank Robinson came up with a two-run double Friday night for Cincinnati's 2-1 victory over Chicago.

Henry came on in the ninth inning after Drabowsky hit the Cubs' Ernie Banks with a pitch, following Billy Williams' double. Banks was carried off the field on a stretcher, but his condition was not believed to be serious.

Henry took over, fanning George Altman and getting Ron Santo on an easy out.

Robinson, dropped to seventh in the batting order because of poor hitting broke up a potent pitching duel in the fourth with a two-run double.

Gordie Coleman had walked, but was forced by Wally Post. Johnny Edwards rapped a single to right setting up Robinson's timely hit.

Evangelist Graham Hopeful Chicago Crusade Will Have National Impact

By LOUIS CASSELS
United Press International

Evangelist Billy Graham is hopeful that his "Great Chicago Crusade," which opens next Wednesday, will have a national impact comparable to the preaching mission he conducted in New York's Madison Square Garden in 1957.

"We have given more intensive and extensive preparation to this effort in Chicago than to any other crusade we have ever conducted," Graham told a reporter this week.

"I believe it will give us an opportunity to speak to Americans once again on a national scale."

The Chicago crusade will continue through June 17 with week night and Sunday afternoon meetings in the world's biggest indoor arena, McCormick Place. To help fill its 35,000 seats, protestant churches throughout the Midwest will send delegations by special bus, train and plane.

Millions of Americans in other parts of the country will be able to "attend" some of the crusade meetings by television. Arrangements already have been made for at least five hour-long television broadcasts to be carried by stations from coast to coast.

Planning for the crusade began months ago. Some 12,000 ministers and laymen from the Chicago area have attended training courses to serve as individual counselors for those who come forward at Graham's invitation to make "decisions for Christ."

"There are indications," Graham said, "that we may have the greatest response we have ever had."

Roman Catholic sources in Rome have disclosed that talks are underway between the Vatican and the World Council of Churches on the joint preparation of a global investory of Christian missionary work.

The cooperative undertaking could be of substantial practical value to all churches, by providing up-to-date information on unmet needs for hospitals, schools and other missionary facilities in underdeveloped countries.

Its greatest significance, however, may lie in the fact that it is another big step toward cordial working relationships between the Vatican and the World Council, which represents 170 major protestant and orthodox denominations.

Leaders of the conservative branch of Judaism will meet in Jerusalem next week (May 9-31) for an international convention of the World Council of Synagogues. The council has affiliates in 26 countries, including about 750 synagogues in the United States.

Its president, Charles Rosengarten of Waterbury, Conn., said the convention will discuss ways to restore the synagoguge to its traditional place as the focus of Jewish life, and to improve the transmission of Jewish moral values to youth.

A survey by the National Lutheran Church of Norway indicates that church attendance among Norwegians has increased about 15 per cent during the past five years. Bishop Johannes Smemo, head of the church, attributed the rise to "an increased interest in life's deepest questions."

The Catholic Cardinal who supervises religious communities of men and women arrived in the United States this week for his first visit in 10 years. He is Arcadio Cardinal Larraona, 74, prefect of the Vatican's Sacred Congregation of Rites. Cardinal Larraona planned to visit New York, Washington, Chicago, Los Angeles, and Dubuque, Iowa.

He is noted for his efforts to modernize the dress and other customs of monastic groups, to enable them to serve effectively in a world that is far different from anything envisaged by the founders of orders which date back to the middle ages.

"Do not concern yourself so much with what your founder did in times past," Cardinal Larraona tells monks and nuns. "Consider rather what he would do today."

On the worship calendars of many protestant churches, Sunday (May 27) is "Rural Life Sunday" or "Rogtaion Sunday." The annual observance is designed to invoke God's blessing on the productivity of the earth, and on the farmers who till it.

To give the occasion greater relevance for urban as well as rural churches, the National Council of Churches has suggested that this year's services also invoke blessings upon the 6 million or more Americans who are engaged in processing, packaging, transportation and sale of farm-grown foods.

Abraham Ribicoff, secretary of health, education and welfare, appealed to local churches and other religious organizations this week to take the lead in getting their communities to provide homes for Cuban refugees who are pouring into the Miami, Fla., area at a rate of about 1,800 a week.

Ribicoff said Miami "cannot possibly absorb" so many people, and "the only solution is to spread them throughout the United States" through resettlement. He said the government will pay resettlement costs and guarantee that the refugees won't become public charges on the community.

Some communities already have begun to do their part, he said, but the resettlement rate is still only 750 persons a week "and we must do much better."

Kennedy Plans For Brazil Trip

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy expects to begin his planned trip to Brazil July 30 and probably will spend three days in that country, White House Press Secretary Pierre Salinger announced Friday.

Salinger said an advance party of Kennedy aides would fly to Brazil in early July to firm up details of the visit. As things now stand, he said, Kennedy probably will stop at Brazilia, Sao Paulo, Rio and possibly Northeast Brazil.

GOOD COOK RATES

A good cook doesn't wait until her range expires from old age before replacing it. One of the most important and often - used appliances, a range must have accurate, automatic controls if nutritious, tasty meals are to be prepared with minimum effort and maximum success.

Modern electric ranges, designed with many useful innovations such as instant heat and accurate controls, out - cook their predecessors in every respect.

HINTS FROM Heloise

DEAR HELOISE:

Since others are giving advice on "starting" ballpoint pens again . . . I will give you a remedy that works when often others fail.

Moisten a piece of toilet tissue with lighter fluid and rub the point ONLY over this moistened area of tissue. This will remove the physical, chemical agents which have "bogged down" the little ball.

C. D. DAUSON

DEAR HELOISE:

I just discovered a neat trick for cracking walnuts that will keep the shells from flying all over the room, and I just must share it with you.

Spread a paper on a table. Then use a board on which to crack the nuts.

Place the nut just inside the opening of an old pastic bag — such as vegetables or buns come in. Crack each nut while it is INSIDE the bag, then push it to the bottom of the bag.

When you have cracked eight or ten nuts . . . pour them out on the paper and just pick out the meats.

Push shells to one side and proceed as before. There will be no shells to sweep up and no mess in your kitchen!

My love to the wonderful gal who discovered nylon net could make such wonderful dish and pan scratcher! It's wonderful.

Keep the ideas coming.

HAZELLE Mc KeENNA

DEAR GALS:

I didn't have a walnut. (Couldn't go buy some. Budget doesn't call for 'em this month!)

But . . . I used the method Hazelle suggested for pecans Phenomenal!

I used a hammer to crack the nut shell with. I also found that a regular nut cracker will do the same thing.

But the most amazing thing about the procedure is that you can can shake the bag the cracked nuts are in . . . before emptying it on the paper . . . and most of the shells will separate from the meat. And just like she says . . . for the first time, I cracked nuts and had no shells all over the chair and floor. Bless you, gal, for tipping us off.

HELOISE

DEAR HELOISE:

To pick up slivers of broken glass without cutting yourself, just wet a newspaper thoroughly with water and rub the papers over the entire area. This works quickly and gets all the little slivers of glass that you can't see.

SADIE GIALTINE

DEAR HELOISE:

When cooking or baking something that requires a number of ingredients, I line up the ingredients in a row on the cabinet, and remove the covers or open the container on each item.

Each time I use an ingredient, I close the container or replace the cover. This way, I know I did not leave anything out . . . which often happend before.

BETTY KERNER

DEAR HELOISE:

I used to use butter and oleo wrappers to grease cake pans and cookie sheets and often wondered why my cookies and cakes stuck to the pans or came out in pieces.

One day, I had to use a vegetable shortening to grease pans and my cakes came out of the pan perfectly. The oleo wrappers are fine to grease candy pans.

After washing my set of seldom - used - dishes, I put them in plastic bags and secure them with rubber bands. Saves dishwashing later when ready for use again.

To renew a blackboard, pour vinegar on a sponge and wipe.

YOUR PROBLEMS

By Ann Landers

DEAR ANN LANDERS: In this day and age when divorced people are so busy back-biting and competing for the affection of their children I'd like to say a word about one divorced woman who did it the other way. My mother.

Dad left her to marry another woman. We were very young at the time and didn't know what the word divorce meant. All we knew was that Daddy didn't live at home anymore. We never heard one word against him. "He is a fine person," mother would tell us. "You must always love and respect him."

Through our growing - up years Mother bought little gifts and cards for us to send to Dad. She dressed us in our very best, put ribbons in our hair and checked our fingernails before Dad came to get us for the evening. When he was ill she arranged for us to visit him.

When I married I walked down the aisle on my father's arm. Mother was gracious and charming to his other family. They had the good judgment to stay well in the background.

This is the way one set of "divorced children" grew up — without hostility, without conflict, without anxiety. And all because our mother was a lady. — CONTENT.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I'm a 20 - year - old girl who quit school at 15 to go live with a nice family. Although I help with the housework and care for the young children, I've never considered myself a cleaning girl or nursemaid. I feel more like a member of the family.

Last night I invited my boy friend over after the folks had left for the evening. This was against the rules but I was lonesome.

The people came home at 1 a.m. and Barry and I were asleep. He was on the floor in front of the TV and I was on the sofa. We are both heavy sleepers and the folks had to bang on the door a long time to get us up because I had bolted the latch from the inside.

They were very cross with me and I deserved the tongue - lashing I got. Now I feel uncomfortable around them and have considered quitting and taking a job elsehwere. Yet I hate to leave because I'm very fond of these people and this has been my home for five years. — 3:00 A.M.

Dear 3:00 A.M.: The fact that you were not sent packing is evidence that these people are genuinely interested in you.

Stay where you are and improve your behavior. In time you'll overcome your feelings of discomfort. Running away would solve nothing. You'd merely take your guilt with you.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Does the only sister of the groom have a right to be an attendant at the wedding? My son was married recently and the bride's whole family was in the wedding party. Her only sister was too young to be a bridesmaid, so she was an overgrown flower girl.

My son's brother was his best man, but his sister and her husband were ignored. Several people have asked my why and I have no answer.

There seem to be no hard feelings in the family. My son and his bride have already visited my daughter and her husband and they get along fine. May I have your comment, please? — ROANOKE

Dear Roanoke: I have no comment and if you're smart you'll have no comment either.

It would have been nice had the groom's only sister been asked to be the matron of honor since married women should not be asked to be bridesmaids.

She was not asked, however, and the wedding is over, so I suggest you forget it. Digging up a buried bone of this kind only makes you sound like a trouble-maker.

To learn how to keep your boy friend in line without losing him, send for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "Necking and Petting — And How Far To Go," enclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a long, self - addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self - addressed, envelope.

HINTS FROM Heloise

DEAR HELOISE:

Since others are giving advice on "starting" ballpoint pens again . . . I will give you a remedy that works when often others fail.

Moisten a piece of toilet tissue with lighter fluid and rub the point ONLY over this moistened area of tissue. This will remove the physical, chemical agents which have "bogged down" the little ball.

C. D. DAUSON

DEAR HELOISE:

I just discovered a neat trick for cracking walnuts that will keep the shells from flying all over the room, and I just must share it with you.

Spread a paper on a table. Then use a board on which to crack the nuts.

Place the nut just inside the opening of an old pastic bag — such as vegetables or buns come in. Crack each nut while it is INSIDE the bag, then push it to the bottom of the bag.

When you have cracked eight or ten nuts . . . pour them out on the paper and just pick out the meats.

Push shells to one side and proceed as before. There will be no shells to sweep up and no mess in your kitchen!

My love to the wonderful gal who discovered nylon net could make such wonderful dish and pan scratcher! It's wonderful.

Keep the ideas coming.

HAZELLE Mc KeENNA

DEAR GALS:

I didn't have a walnut. (Couldn't go buy some. Budget doesn't call for 'em this month!)

But . . . I used the method Hazelle suggested for pecans Phenomenal!

I used a hammer to crack the nut shell with. I also found that a regular nut cracker will do the same thing.

But the most amazing thing about the procedure is that you can can shake the bag the cracked nuts are in . . . before emptying it on the paper . . . and most of the shells will separate from the meat. And just like she says . . . for the first time, I cracked nuts and had no shells all over the chair and floor. Bless you, gal, for tipping us off.

HELOISE

DEAR HELOISE:

To pick up slivers of broken glass without cutting yourself, just wet a newspaper thoroughly with water and rub the papers over the entire area. This works quickly and gets all the little slivers of glass that you can't see.

SADIE GIALTINE

DEAR HELOISE:

When cooking or baking something that requires a number of ingredients, I line up the ingredients in a row on the cabinet, and remove the covers or open the container on each item.

Each time I use an ingredient, I close the container or replace the cover. This way, I know I did not leave anything out . . . which often happend before.

BETTY KERNER

DEAR HELOISE:

I used to use butter and oleo wrappers to grease cake pans and cookie sheets and often wondered why my cookies and cakes stuck to the pans or came out in pieces.

One day, I had to use a v e g e t a b l e shortening to grease pans and my cakes came out of the pan perfectly. The oleo wrappers are fine to grease candy pans.

After washing my set of seldom - used - dishes, I put them in plastic bags and secure them with rubber bands. Saves dishwashing later when ready for use again.

To renew a blackboard, pour vinegar on a sponge and wipe.

Living Costs Hit Record In April

WASHINGTON (AP) — A surge of American families toward two-automobile ownership helped shove the nation's living costs to another record high in April.

The government announced Friday its consumers price index had risen two-tenths of one per cent to hit a new high for a third straight month.

Officials said the rise was led by a boost of nearly 4.5 per cent in prices of used cars and this apparently was due to a tight market as more and more families either bought a second, used car or kept the old one when buying a new one.

The government index climbed to 105.2 per cent of the 1957-59 average, meaning it now costs over $5 more to buy what $100 would bring in that period.

The 1962 living cost increase so far has been seven-tenths of one per cent, equaling the total rise for all 1961. However, Deputy Labor Statistics Commissioner Robert J. Myers said he isn't worried over any inflationary uptrend.

Myers said he expects prices may show another increase in May but that expected lower seasonal costs for food and other items, including gasoline, later this summer probably will produce some living cost declines.

"I don't think we have any serious implications here," Myers said. "It seems to me we have a rather modest little jump in the midst of a long-term period of price stability."

The recent living cost increases are sufficient, however, to mean that about a million workers will get pay raises of one or two cents an hour through applying the April index figures to terms in labor contracts. The pay raises will cost about $200 million a year.

Those getting the one-cent hourly raise include about 850,000 employes of General Motors, Chrysler, Ford and other auto, auto parts and aerospace manufacturers. The latter include St. Louis workers of McDonnell Aircraft who built the space vehicles for the U.S. man-in-orbit shots.

The workers getting the two-cent hourly raise include aerospace workers employed by General Dynamics at Fort Worth and Lockheed at Marietta, Ga., and employes of the Caterpillar, John Deere and Allis-Chalmers farm equipment manufacturers.

Items contributing to the April price rise included fresh fruits and vegetables, gasoline, movie admissions and medical care services. Prices were lower for pultry, eggs, milk, fuel oil and house-furnishings.

The transportation price category rose 1.2 per cent in April due to the jump in used car prices, a 3 per cent increase in gasoline prices, and higher public transit charges in such cities as Los Angeles, Canton, Ohio, and Madison, Wis.

The Labor Department reported that after-tax earnings averaged $85.53 weekly for the factory worker heading a family of four. This is a new high for April, nearly matching the record of $85.70 set last December. The April increase is attributed to longer work time along with somewhat higher pay rates.

NO ONE STOPS HIM

Aged Woman Slain By Algiers Killer

ALGIERS (AP)—The old Moslem woman leaned to pick up scraps of food from a garbage pail.

A young European in a yellow shirt pulled out a pistol.

He fired one shot into her head.

The woman fell. Blood began to trickle across the sidewalk.

The killer put the pistol back into his pocket and walked away. No one stopped him.

This was Algiers, Rue Charras, at 11:14 a.m.

Some said: "Call the police."

Someone else said. "No, call an ambulance."

"She doesn't need an ambulance. Call the morgue," said another European.

Within three minutes the blood reached the gutter.

At 11:20 a.m. an ambulance siren screamed. City ambulance No. 25 pulled up and two helmeted firemen stepped out.

"She is dead," one of them said. "This is for the morgue not for us." The ambulance drove off.

From the windows of office buildings, hundreds of Europeans stared. There were girls in pretty summer dresses and men in colored summer shirts.

Housewives carrying baskets of supplies stepped over the puddle.

"Disgusting," one said.

Five more minutes elapsed before a police van arrived.

"One shell," a policeman announced.

Another covered the woman's battered head with her white shawl.

"Must requisition another place in the morgue. Not much room there these days," he said.

The policemen drove off.

The body lay where it fell, under the sizzling North African sun.

Living Costs Hit Record In April

WASHINGTON (AP) — A surge of American families toward two-automobile ownership helped shove the nation's living costs to another record high in April.

The government announced Friday its consumers price index had risen two-tenths of one per cent to hit a new high for a third straight month.

Officials said the rise was led by a boost of nearly 4.5 per cent in prices of used cars and this apparently was due to a tight market as more and more families either bought a second, used car or kept the old one when buying a new one.

The government index climbed to 105.2 per cent of the 1957-59 average, meaning it now costs over $5 more to buy what $100 would bring in that period.

The 1962 living cost increase so far has been seven-tenths of one per cent, equaling the total rise for all 1961. However, Deputy Labor Statistics Commissioner Robert J. Myers said he isn't worried over any inflationary uptrend.

Myers said he expects prices may show another increase in May but that expected lower seasonal costs for food and other items, including gasoline, later this summer probably will produce some living cost declines.

"I don't think we have any serious implications here," Myers said. "It seems to me we have a rather modest little jump in the midst of a long-term period of price stability."

The recent living cost increases are sufficient, however, to mean that about a million workers will get pay raises of one or two cents an hour through applying the April index figures to terms in labor contracts. The pay raises will cost about $200 million a year.

Those getting the one-cent hourly raise include about 850,000 employes of General Motors, Chrysler, Ford and other auto, auto parts and aerospace manufacturers. The latter include St. Louis workers of McDonnell Aircraft who built the space vehicles for the U.S. man-in-orbit shots.

The workers getting the two-cent hourly raise include aerospace workers employed by General Dynamics at Fort Worth and Lockheed at Marietta, Ga., and employes of the Caterpillar, John Deere and Allis-Chalmers farm equipment manufacturers.

Items contributing to the April price rise included fresh fruits and vegetables, gasoline, movie admissions and medical care services. Prices were lower for pultry, eggs, milk, fuel oil and housefurnishings.

The transportation price category rose 1.2 per cent in April due to the jump in used car prices, a 3 per cent increase in gasoline prices, and higher public transit charges in such cities as Los Angeles, Canton, Ohio, and Madison, Wis.

The Labor Department reported that after-tax earnings averaged $85.53 weekly for the factory worker heading a family of four. This is a new high for April, nearly matching the record of $85.70 set last December. The April increase is attributed to longer work time along with somewhat higher pay rates.

NEUTRALIST RETURNS

Laos Coalition Attempt Slated

BIENTIANE, Laos (AP)—Neutralist Prince Souvanna Phouma, who was in Paris during the truce-breaking Red offensive that strengthened the military position of the Pathet Lao rebels, returned to Laos on Friday for another attempt to form a coalition government.

The United States, the Soviet Union and other members of the 14-nation Geneva conference on Laos support Souvanna to head the proposed coalition.

U.S. efforts have included withholding from Laos of $3 million in monthly economic aid, and a campaign for Gen. Phoumi Nosavan, the royal government's strong man deputy premier, to get out.

Premier Khrushchev pledged continued Soviet efforts to establish the coalition. He declared in a Moscow speech Friday his government has pursued "and will stick to the positions it expressed at the Geneva conference on Laos and in my talks with President Kennedy on the future of Laos."

The premier-designate of a projected regime of neutralists, rightists and leftists that would succeed the pro-Western government of Premier Prince Boun Oum, Souvanna had been out of the country for 50 days—mostly visiting with his family in France.

Souvanna flew from Rangoon, Burma, in a Soviet-supplied plane to his headquarters at Khang Khay, in the rebel-held Plaine des Jarres. Bad weather and engine trouble had contributed to a three-day delay in Rangoon.

Reports received by the three-nation control commission from Khang Khay said Souvanna's half-brother, pro-Communist Prince Souphanouvovng of the Pathet Lao was at the airport to meet him.

Diplomats considered presence of Souphanouvong an encouraging sign for a quick resumption of negotiations on a unity government. These were broke off by Boun Oum last December in a dispute over the allocation of the ministries of the interior and defense—which control police, the royal armed forces and elections. Boun Oum and his followers did not want them to fall into Communist hands.

Souphanouvong also had been away for two months. He visited Hanoi, capital of Communist North Viet Nam which is backing the rebellion, and spent some time in the eastern Laotian town of Sam Neua, where he was reported nursing car trouble.

The government faction, smarting under U.S. pressure to step down and from the loss of the northern stronghold of Nam Tha to pro-Communist battalions May 6, has already expressed readiness to negotiate.

DEAR ABBY

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I were invited to spend an evening at the home of a couple who recently moved to our neighborhood. It wasn't for dinner, just an evening to get better acquainted. When we arrived, this woman immediately flopped down into one of those contour chairs with her feet higher than her head. She stayed that way throughout our entire visit, saying how "relaxed" she was. I didn't enjoy trying to carry on a conversation with a woman who was practically standing on her head all evening. It annoyed me so much I told my husband I didn't care to see these people again. He says I am too critical. In your opinion, do you think this woman was a good hostess?

CRITICAL

DEAR CRITICAL: Unless your hostess was "relaxing" under doctor's orders, she should have entertained you in an upright position. I would say she was too prone to be hospitable.

DEAR ABBY: We are a group of secretaries who wish to form a club. We plan to set aside one night a month to honor our bosses. We will have a cocktail hour, dinner and a program. The program will contain serious talk about our goals and aims. The object is to achieve a better understanding with our bosses as to what is expected of us, and him. Each member (married or single) invites her boss (married or single). Some of the girls question the proprierty of this plan. We welcome your opinion.

THREE SECRETARIES

DEAR SECRETARIES: — I cannot speak for all bosses, or their secretaries. But every respected "boss" that I know is neither drinking companion, dinner partner nor wailing wall to his secretary. A first - class secretary need only to get to work on time, put in an honest day's work and go home. Socializing with the boss, even collectively on 'Bosses' Night," could become Bosses' Nightmare.

DEAR ABBY: I have a mother who thinks more of her furniture than she does her grandchildren. After all, Abby, they are only babies and do not know the value of things, so you can't blame them for putting their feet on the furniture or wanting to play with her milk glass bric-a-brac. Don't you think she should save me the trouble of having to watch them every minute they are at home and just put up all good things until they are old enough to understand?

AGGRAVATED

DEAR AGGRAVATED: Children should be taught at home to keep their feet off the furniture and their hands off the bric-a-brac. Since you obviously didn't, you'll have to discipline them in your mother's home.

DEAR ABBY: I sent you three of my problems and you didn't answer any of them. Why do you claim you answer every letter when you don't?

OFF OF YOU

DEAR OFF: It isn't possible to answer every letter IN MY COLUMN. Next time, send a stamped, self - addressed envelope and you'll get a personal reply.

How's the world treating you? For a personal, unpublished reply, send a self - addressed, stamped envelope to ABBY, care of this paper.

Nathan C. Roberts, 50, of 319 Washington St., West Monroe, has been turned over to Winn Parish authorities by deputies of the Ouachita Parish sheriff's department. Arrested on a warrant for issuing worthless checks, Roberts' bond was set at $500.

Each member (married or single) invites her boss (married or single). Some of the girls question the proprierty of this plan. We welcome your opinion.

THREE SECRETARIES

DEAR SECRETARIES: — I cannot speak for all bosses, or their secretaries. But every respected "boss" that I know is neither drinking companion, dinner partner nor wailing wall to his secretary. A first - class secretary need only to get to work on time, put in an honest day's work and go home. Socializing with the boss, even collectively on 'Bosses' Night," could become Bosses' Nightmare.

DEAR ABBY: I have a mother who thinks more of her furniture than she does her grandchildren. After all, Abby, they are only babies and do not know the value of things, so you can't blame them for putting their feet on the furniture or wanting to play with her milk glass bric-a-brac. Don't you think she should save me the trouble of having to watch them every minute they are at home and just put up all good things until they are old enough to understand?

AGGRAVATED

DEAR AGGRAVATED: Children should be taught at home to keep their feet off the furniture and their hands off the bric-a-brac. Since you obviously didn't, you'll have to discipline them in your mother's home.

DEAR ABBY: I sent you three of my problems and you didn't answer any of them. Why do you claim you answer every letter when you don't?

OFF OF YOU

DEAR OFF: It isn't possible to answer every letter IN MY COLUMN. Next time, send a stamped, self - addressed envelope and you'll get a personal reply.

How's the world treating you? For a personal, unpublished reply, send a self - addressed, stamped envelope to ABBY, care of this paper.

LIVESTOCK

CHICAGO (AP) — The butcher hog market finished at its lowest level of the week Friday with the tol 50 cents under the high of last Monday.

Trade was only moderately active for the supply of 5,500 head although shipper accounts alone took 3,300 and prices were steady to 25 cents lower. The week's run of 34,000 head was up 1,500 from last week.

The mixed No. 1 and 2 grades in the 190-220 lb range cleared at $16.50-16.75 and the 180-230 lb mixed 1-3 grades at $16-16.50. Weights up to 300, all mixed grades, were $14-16. Sows were $13.25 and down.

Offerings of slaughter steers, heifers, vealers and bulls were too meager for a price test of any class.

No spring or wooled slaughter lambs were on sale.

COTTON

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK (AP) — Cotton futures prices closed 45 cents a bale lower to 25 cents higher Friday.

Most of the activity was credited to commission house interests. Nearby months declined on liquidation. Deferred months showed mild rallying tendencies at the start but eased slightly toward the close as selling increased.

Switching operations by traders from near to later months accounted for some activity.

The Census Bureau reported domestic cotton consumption during April amounted to 867,240 running bales. This was close to trade forecasts.

Stock Prices Sink Lower; Trade Heavy

NEW YORK (UPI) — A tidal wave of selling enveloped an already sinking stock market Friday sending it sharply lower in the heaviest trading in over a year.

With the last transaction appearing on the tape 35 minutes after the closing gong, volume totaled 6,380,000 shares — 1,130,000 more than the previous session and the most since the 7,076,000 of April 1, 1961.

Dow - Jones industrial average plummeted 10.68 to 611.88, the lowest level since the 610.25 of Jan. 3, 1961. This average has dropped 38.82 in the last five days of trading. Standard & Poor's 500 stock index tumbled 1.15, and approximate loss of $8.2 billion in already depleted market values.

A broad total of 1,334 issues changed hands of which 1,004 declined and 170 advanced. Of these, 695 hit new 1962 lows and 8 hit new highs.

The selloff came in the wake of four successive days of declines and continued to stump most Wall Street experts. Many observers called the selling purely "emotional" and noted that it came in the face of bright business and economic news, a new space success and a presidential pep-talk for investors.

Only 3 of th 65 stocks used in compiling the three Dow-Jones indexes showed plus signs. Among the pivotals, American Telephone, International Nickel, Sears Roebuck, Standard Oil of California, and Woolworth lost 2 points or more while General Electric, General Foods, International Harvester, Owens-Illinois Glass and Standard Oil of California dropped at least 1.

The D - J rails were off 2.74 chiefly reflecting a loss of 3⅛ in Kansas City Southern, trading ex-dividend, and a drop of at least 1 in Norfolk & Western and Southern Railway.

American Telephone topped the most active list, off 2½ on a turnover of 1,300 shares. This was followed by U. S. Steel off 1⅞, Korvette off ⅜, and Avnet off ¾.

Steels were lower with Lukens off 2. Motors managed to hold steady but chemicals moved lower with Monsanto off 1⅛ and Du-Pont down ⅜.

Prices on the American Exchange were sharply lower on a turnover of 2,090,000 shares compared with 1,370,000 in the previous session. Midwestern Finance topped the AMEX most active list, unchanged on a turnover of 70,600. Also featured were Aerojet General off 1⅞, Creole Petroleum 1⅛, Cubic Corp 1⅜ and Reliance Insurance 2⅛.

Soviet Ships Spy On U.S. Atomic Tests

WASHINGTON (AP)—A trio of Soviet snooper ships, rigged with elaborate recording equipment, is on station at the very edge of the U.S. nuclear test area in the Pacific, the Defense Department reported Friday.

Able to glean technological intelligence on almost every type of nuclear test, including extremely high-altitude blasts, the three ships are about 10 to 15 miles from the western perimeter of the zone around Christmas Island. The United States has warned all shipping and aircraft to stay out of the zone because of danger.

The Soviet ships presumably are within their legal rights, and would be even if they chose to move into the zone. Indeed, the announcement by a Pentagon spokesman said they had traveled through another zone, to the northwest around Johnston Island, in reaching their present position.

The ships have been warned by a U.S. destroyer to stay clear of the prescribed danger area, but ignored the warning. The spokesman said that in 1958, the Soviet Union complained that one of her research ships had suffered fallout from U.S. tests but that this time the Soviets did not seem concerned about maneuvering close to the danger zone.

The description of the ships and their capabilities as given by the Pentagon left no uncertainty about their mission.

They are obviously on a very large-scale military intelligence collection mission, the spokesman said.

The lead ship is reported to be the 3,600-ton research ship Shokal'skiy. Among other things, this ship can launch rockets to obtain data of high atmospheric nuclear explosions—like those expected to be included later in the current U.S. test series

From its present close-up position, the Pentagon said, the Shokal'skiy also can obtain samplings from which to make chemical analysis indicating bomb design, yield and other effects. Electromagnetic equipment can provide the time and approximate location of explosions.

The two smaller ships in the spy fleet are converted trawlers, with large arrays of electronic equipment. Their job is to supplement information obtained by the big research vessel.

Keeping the ships under constant surveillance is about all the U.S. patrolling force can do.

Any diplomatic protest against their presence would carry little weight, since the area is a part of the high seas for which no nation can claim sovereignty or control in peacetime.

Area Plans Group Set

One hundred leaders representing all segments of life in Ouachita Parish met Friday night at the KNOE-TV studio at the request of James A. Noe of Monroe, owner of the television station.

A steering committee was named to plan long range projects for the cities of West Monroe, Monroe and Sterlington as well as the parish at-large which will provide for the progress and growth of the community over the next 10 or more years.

Noe was named temporary chairman of the committee, composed of representatives of business, labor, news media, agriculture, clergy, education, chambers of commerce, professions and legislative representatives as well as the police jury president, the mayors and school board presidents.

Smaller citizens committees will be named by the steering committee, representing Monroe, West Monroe, Sterlington and the parish at-large. They will survey the individual subdivisions' long range needs and make recommendations.

Legal advisors for the steering committee will be the city attorneys of Monroe and West Monroe.

Three Burglary Suspects Post Mobile Bonds

MOBILE, Ala. (AP) — Three men arrested earlier this week on suspicion of a planned safe burglary were released Friday under bonds of $1,500 each.

The three men, Henry (Dutch) Ernst, 54, Henry Alonzo, 31, and Jesse James Strum, 41, were released on $500 bonds, then rearrested when New Orleans police filed fugitive warrants. They were released under $1,000 bonds each on the fugitive charges.

New Orleans police filed the warrants after a raid on Alonzo's home disclosed explosives and burglary tools. Warrants were issued in New Orleans on all three men for possession of stolen property.

They said Alonzo's wife was charged with the possession of explosives and burglary tools.

The three were picked up by Mobile police Wednesday after New Orleans authorities said an informer tipped them the three were going to Mobile for a safe-cracking job.

State Teacher, Negroes Held For Grand Jury

MONROE, La. (AP) — A Louisiana school teacher and two New Orleans Negroes Friday were ordered held for grand jury action under charges they attempted to steal about $30,000 worth of television sets.

The school teacher, Joseph Gordon Thompson, 32, of Baton Rouge, pleaded innocent at a hearing Friday. The Negroes, Melvin Tabb, 26, and Charles Gable, 20, pleaded guilty. All were ordered held under $10,000 bonds.

However, bond for Thompson was reduced to $5,000 two hours later at a habeas corpus petition hearing in circuit court.

Thompson said he and the two Negroes were admitted to the supply company's warehouse Sunday night by employes of the company. He said he was carrying out instructions of a New Orleans man to pick up a truck load of television sets ordered from the company

'Pigeon Drop' Case Is Probed

Monroe police Friday were investigating a "pigeon drop" in which a local Negro woman allegedly was bilked out of $500.

The complainant, Earline Harrington, 809 S. 14th St., told officers she was approached in a downtown clothing store by another Negro woman asking for directions to a lawyer's office.

Going on together to find a lawyer, they were met by a third Negro woman who told them she had found $10,000 in a phone booth. The Harrington woman said she told her she would split the money with her for $500.

After drawing $500 out of the bank, the Harrington woman was told by the two unknown Negroes to wait for them at a nearby bus station, which she did from about 5:30 until 7:45 p.m.

When they didn't return, she notified police

Negroes Throw Rocks At Police

Ever feel like throwing rocks at a police car? A couple of Monroe Negro boys did Friday and they did it too

Picked up in the 2200 block of DeSiard Street for throwing rocks at a patrol car were 18 year old Luther James Burrell, 1312 Washington St. and Troy Bealin, 20, 1306 Washington St.

Bealin was free Friday night after posting bond of $290, charged with disturbing the peace and aggravated assault, while Burrell was booked for disturbing the peace

Appeal Filed On Integration Ruling By Ellis

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — An attorney for the Negro whose suit led to the first federal order to desegregate New Orleans public schools asked the 5th U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals Friday to overrule the latest federal order which tossed out an expanded desegregation order.

A. P. Tureaud of New Orleans, Louisiana counsel for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, filed the appeal for Earl Benjamin Bush and others.

Tureaud said the appeal asked the court to reverse the ruling of U. S. Dist. Judge Frank B. Ellis who last Wednesday threw out the April 9 order of former U. S. Dist. Judge J. Skelly Wright to desegregate the first six grades of New Orleans public schools.

Judge Wright in 1960 issued the original order to desegregate the first grades of public schools, and one higher grade each year thereafter.

In Wednesday's decision, Judge Ellis modified Wright's April ruling to permit all children in New Orleans entering the first grade this fall to attend the "formerly all-white or formerly all-Negro school nearest his home, at his option."

DEATH CEILING SET

CHICAGO (AP) — The butcher hog market finished at its lowest level of the week Friday with the tol 50 cents under the high of last Monday.

Trade was only moderately active for the supply of 5,500 head although shipper accounts alone took 3,300 and prices were steady to 25 cents lower. The week's run of 34,000 head was up 1,500 from last week.

The mixed No. 1 and 2 grades in the 190-220 lb range cleared at $16.50-16.75 and the 180-230 lb mixed 1-3 grades at $16-16.50. Weights up to 300, all mixed grades, were $14-16. Sows were $13.25 and down.

No spring or wooled slaughter lambs were on sale.

COTTON

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK (AP) — Cotton futures prices closed 45 cents a bale lower to 25 cents higher Friday.

Most of the activity was credited to commission house interests. Nearby months declined on liquidation. Deferred months showed mild rallying tendencies at the start but eased slightly toward the close as selling increased.

Switching operations by traders from near to later months accounted for some activity.

Stock Prices Sink Lower; Trade Heavy

NEW YORK (UPI) — A tidal wave of selling enveloped an already sinking stock market Friday sending it sharply lower in the heaviest trading in over a year.

With the last transaction appearing on the tape 35 minutes after the closing gong, volume totaled 6,380,000 shares — 1,130,000 more than the previous session and the most since the 7,076,000 of April 1, 1961.

Dow - Jones industrial average plummeted 10.68 to 611.88, the lowest level since the 610.25 of Jan. 3, 1961. This average has dropped 38.82 in the last five days of trading. Standard & Poor's 500 stock index tumbled 1.15, and approximate loss of $8.2 billion in already depleted market values.

A broad total of 1,334 issues changed hands of which 1,004 declined and 170 advanced. Of these, 695 hit new 1962 lows and 8 hit new highs.

The selloff came in the wake of four successive days of declines and continued to stump most Wall Street experts. Many observers called the seeling purely "emotional" and noted that it came in the face of bright business and economic news, a new space success and a presidential pep-talk for investors.

Only 3 of th 65 stocks used in compiling the three Dow-Jones indexes showed plus signs. Among the pivotals, American Telephone, International Nickel, Sears Roebuck, Standard Oil of California, and Woolworth lost 2 points or more while General Electric, General Foods, International Harvester, Owens-Illinois Glass and Standard Oil of California dropped at least 1.

The D - J rails were off 2.74 chiefly reflecting a loss of 3¼ in Kansas City Southern, trading ex-dividend, and a drop of at least 1 in Norfolk & Western and Southern Railway.

American Telephhone topped the most active list, off 2½ on a turnover of 1,300 shares. This was followed by U. S. Steel off 1⅞, Genral Telephone off ⅝, Korvette off ⅜, and Avnet off ¾.

Steels were lower with Lukens off 2. Motors managed to hold steady but chemicals moved lower with Monsanto off 1⅛ and Du-Pont down ⅞.

Prices on the American Exchange were sharply lower on a turnover of 2,090,000 shares compared with 1,370,000 in the previous session. Midwestern Finance topped the AMEX most active list, unchanged on a turnover of 70,600. Also featured were Aerojet General off 1⅞, Creole Petroleum 1⅛, Cubic Corp. 1⅝ and Reliance Insurance 2½.

Soviet Ships Spy On U.S. Atomic Tests

WASHINGTON (AP)—A trio of Soviet snooper ships, rigged with elaborate recording equipment, is on station at the very edge of the U.S. nuclear test area in the Pacific, the Defense Department reported Friday.

Able to glean technological intelligence on almost every type of nuclear test, including extremely high-altitude blasts, the three ships are about 10 to 15 miles from the western perimeter of the zone around Christmas Island. The United States has warned all shipping and aircraft to stay out of the zone because of danger.

The Soviet ships presumably are within their legal rights, and would be even if they chose to move into the zone. Indeed, the announcement by a Pentagon spokesman said they had traveled through another zone, to the northwest around Johnston Island, in reaching their present position.

The ships have been warned by a U.S. destroyer to stay clear of the prescribed danger area, but ignored the warning. The spokesman said that in 1958, the Soviet Union complained that one of her research ships had suffered fallout from U.S. tests but that this time the Soviets did not seem concerned about maneuvering close to the danger zone.

The description of the ships and their capabilities as given by the Pentagon left no uncertainty about their mission.

They are obviously on a very large-scale military intelligence collection mission, the spokesman said.

The lead ship is reported to be the 3,600-ton research ship Shokal'skiy. Among other things, this ship can launch rockets to obtain data of high atmospheric nuclear explosions—like those expected to be included later in the current U.S. test series.

From its present close-up position, the Pentagon said, the Shokal'skiy also can obtain samplings from which to make chemical analysis indicating bomb design, yield and other effects. Electromagnetic equipment can provide the time and approximate location of explosions.

The two smaller ships in the spy fleet are converted trawlers, with large arrays of electronic equipment. Their job is to supplement information obtained by the big research vessel.

Keeping the ships under constant surveillance is about all that the U.S. patrolling force can do.

Any diplomatic protest against their presence would carry little weight, since the area is a part of the high seas for which no nation can claim sovereignty or control in peacetime.

Area Plans Group Set

One hundred leaders representing all segments of life in Ouachita Parish met Friday night at the KNOE-TV studio at the request of James A. Noe of Monroe and owner of the television station.

A steering committee was named to plan long range projects for the cities of West Monroe, Monroe and Sterlington as well as the parish at-large which will provide for the progress and growth of the community over the next 10 or more years.

Noe was named temporary chairman of the committee, composed of representatives of business, labor, news media, agriculture, clergy, education, chambers of commerce, professions and legislative representatives as well as the police jury president, the mayors and school board presidents.

Smaller citizens committees will be named by the steering committee, representing Monroe, West Monroe, Sterlington and the parish at-large. They will survey the individual subdivisions' long range needs and make recommendations.

Legal advisors for the steering committee will be the city attorneys of Monroe and West Monroe.

Three Burglary Suspects Post Mobile Bonds

MOBILE, Ala. (AP) — Three men arrested earlier this week on suspicion of a planned safe burglary were released Friday under bonds of $1,500 each.

The three men, Henry (Dutch) Ernst, 54, Henry Alonzo, 31, and Jesse James Strum, 41, were released on $500 bonds, then rearrested when New Orleans police filed fugitive warrants. They were released under $1,000 bonds each on the fugitive charges.

New Orleans police filed the warrants after a raid on Alonzo's home disclosed explosives and burglary tools. Warrants were issued in New Orleans on all three men for possession of stolen property.

They said Alonzo's wife was charged with the possession of explosives and burglary tools.

The three were picked up by Mobile police Wednesday after New Orleans authorities said an informer tipped them the three were going to Mobile for a safecracking job.

State Teacher, Negroes Held For Grand Jury

MOBILE, La. (AP) — A Louisiana school teacher and two New Orleans Negroes Friday were ordered held for grand jury action under charges they attempted to steal about $30,000 worth of television sets.

The school teacher, Joseph Gordon Thompson, 32, of Bat o n Rouge, pleaded innocent at a hearing Friday. The Negroes, Melvin Tabb, 26, and Charles Gable, 20, pleaded guilty. All were ordered held under $10,000 bonds.

However, bond for Thompson was reduced to $5,000 two hours later at a habeas corpus petition hearing in circuit court.

Thompson said he and the two Negroes were admitted to the supply company's warehouse Sunday night by employes of the company. He said he was carrying out instructions of a New Orleans man to pick up a truck load of television sets ordered from the company.

'Pigeon Drop' Case Is Probed

Monroe police Friday were investigating a "pigeon drop" in which a local Negro woman allegedly was bilked out of $500.

The complainant, Earline Harrington, 809 S. 14th St., told officers she was approached in a downtown clothing store by another Negro woman asking for directions to a lawyer's office.

Going on together to find a lawyer, they were met by a third Negro woman who told them she had found $10,000 in a phone booth. The Harrington woman said she told her she would split the money with her for $500.

After drawing $500 out of the bank, the Harrington woman was told by the two unknown Negroes to wait for them at a nearby bus station, which she did from about 5:30 until 7:45 p.m.

When they didn't return, she notified police.

Negroes Throw Rocks At Police

Ever feel like throwing rocks at a police car? A couple of Monroe Negro boys did Friday—and they did it too.

Picked up in the 2200 block of DeSiard Street for throwing rocks at a police car were 18 year old Luther James Burrell, 1312 Washington St., and Troy Bealin, 20, 1306 Washington St.

Bealin was free Friday night after posting bond of $290, charged with disturbing the peace and aggravated assault, while Burrell was booked for disturbing the peace.

PEANUTS

LAGOS, Nigeria (UPI) — Nigeria and Senegal, the world's two largest producers of peanuts, signed a common marketing agreement Thursday. Nigerian Federal Commerce Minister Zanna Bukar Dipcharima said the agreement will give them control of the world market.

Appeal Filed On Integration Ruling By Ellis

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — An attorney for the Negro whose suit led to the first federal order to desegregate New Orleans public schools asked the 5th U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals Friday to overrule the latest federal order which tossed out an expanded desegregation order.

A. P. Tureaud of New Orleans, Louisiana counsel for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, filed the appeal for Earl Benjamin Bush and others.

Tureaud said the appeal asked the court to reverse the ruling of U. S. Dist. Judge Frank B. Ellis who last Wednesday threw out the April 9 order of former U. S. Dist. Judge J. Skelly Wright to desegregate the first six grades of New Orleans public schools.

Judge Wright in 1960 issued the original order to desegregate the first grades of public schools, and one higher grade each year thereafter.

In Wednesday's decision, Judge Ellis modified Wright's April ruling to permit all children in New Orleans entering the first grade this fall to attend the "formerly all-white or formerly all-Negro school nearest his home, at his option."

DEATH CEILING SET

CAB Threatens Southern Airline

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Civil Aeronautics Board threatened Southern Airways Friday with possible loss of its operating license unless it resumes efforts to settle a two-year-old strike dispute with the Air Line Pilots Association.

The decision was described as the first of its kind. The airline, which serves 60 cities in the South from its headquarters in Atlanta, has continued to operate with non-union pilots.

The pilots association has accused the company of trying to break the union, and government officials were known to feel that if Southern succeeded in ousting the union, it might open up a whole series of labor troubles on the feeder airlines.

The CAB ruled, 3 to 2, that the airline was guilty of unfair and illegal bargaining tactics in refusing to accede to the union's demand that substitute pilots be dismissed to make way for the strikers to return to their old jobs.

The company also has insisted on the right to discipline the strikers.

The CAB said these were the two issues on which the company and union have been deadlocked.

BATTLE INDONESIANS

Dutch Reinforce Guinea Troops

HOLLANDIA, New Guinea (AP) —A Dutch transport brought 800 fresh troops to this island Friday to support units now fighting Indonesian paratroopers in the struggle for possession of West New Guinea.

The transport Zuiderkruis put some of the reinforcements ashore here and will take the remainder to other areas where invasion threatens. The transport transited the Panama Canal. Soldiers aboard said they had to change to civilian clothes during that passage.

Reports from Kaimana, on the westernmost part of the island, said Dutch troops and planes had opened an attack to clean up 40 Indonesian paratroopers dropped May 12. The Indonesians were reported nearly encircled in the jungles north of Kaimana.

Nearly all Dutch women and children have been evacuated from the town of Fakfak, in the same general area, and about 90 Papuan schoolgirls were sent to their home villages. Eighteen Dutch women remained in Fakfak—those without children and Roman Catholic sisters at a mission there. The Dutch say about 400 Indonesian paratroopers are operating in the area.

Efforts to settle the struggle for Netherlands New Guinea—which Indonesia claims and wants—by diplomacy seemed to have run up against a blank wall.
